UNION OFFICER CITES HARDSHIP IF GAS STRIKERS LOSE SENIORITY

Witness at Hearing on State's Plea for Injunction Says Higher Pay and Pensions Are Involved.

Loss of seniority privileges, as provided in the King-Thompson act for violations of the law by utility strikers, would work an economic hardship on many of the striking Laclede Gas Co. employes, Joseph Appelbaum, a union official, testified today.

He was a witness in the second day of a hearing on the state's request for an injunction to end the 11-day-old strike of Laclede employes in the court of Circuit Judge Ivan Lee Holt Jr.

Many advantages come to workers with seniority, Appelbaum said. As examples, he said that persons with greater seniority get higher-paying positions, longer vacations and larger pension checks when they retire.

Morris J. Levin, attorney for the AFL-CIO Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers' Union, questioned Appelbaum, international vice president of the union, in connection with laying the groundwork for a contention that the King-Thompson act is unconstitutional.

Daniel C. Rogers, chairman of the State Board of Mediation, was expected to be a witness at the hearing. A tape recording of statements he made last Thursday in a telecast over the Post-Dispatch television station KSD-TV was subpenaed by the union. In that broadcast, Rogers said after the state seized the company, the employes would not be working for the state, but still for the company.

Rogers has been nominally in charge of the company since the state seized the utility a week ago under terms of the King-Thompson Act.

Company Executive Testifies.

First witness today was Charles L. Dogiovanni, customer relations manager for the company, who said the company had received 2500 to 3000 calls reporting gas stoppages and about 1500 reporting leaks.

On cross examination, he testified that no record was kept of possible duplication of calls. He said he was unaware that company dispatchers still at work in the Forest Park division were sending union strike emergency crews to answer some of the complaints and to investigate reported leaks and stoppages.

Allen H. Burgess, vice president in charge of operations, was recalled to the stand and testified that on June 28, two days before the strike, the company made arrangements with city and county police to guard telemetric control centers. Telemetric control centers record changes in gas pressure in the mains and pipes, signaling leaks and breaks. Some of the county police are being paid for their guard duty by Laclede, he said.

Water in Two Mains.

St. Louis Police Lt. Thomas Moran, head of the bomb and arson squad, told the court he had investigated two incidents of water being put in gas mains. Burgess testified yesterday that some water in low pressure mains is normal after a heavy rain.

Moran said the water injections occurred in a rooming house at 2137 Eugenia street and headquarters of an athletic club at 5024 Patterson avenue.

Other incidents of the strike investigated by police, Moran testified, were damage to meters at four company properties, stench bombing of the Forest Park office and numerous complaints of gas odors.

On cross examination, he said, police were unable to connect the incidents with members of the union. Emergency crews furnished by the union, he said, had either shut off gas or made repairs at danger points.

The courtroom was packed with spectators today. Many union members were in attendance.

In late developments yesterday, the union submitted an amended proposal on wages, fringe benefits and the controversial "riser" connection issue. The latter has been the main stumbling block in union-company negotiations.

Union's Proposal.

Appelbaum said the union's proposal provided for the appointment of two attorneys, one for the union and one for the company, to attempt to settle the "riser" connection issue. If they were unsuccessful, the point would be submitted to regular grievance procedures, provided for in the contract which expired last June 30, which includes arbitration.

This, in effect, he said, is what the company has been demanding in negotiations—binding arbitration on the riser issue. The union had been demanding that a fact-finding panel consider the matter.

The company's statement, is-

RUSSIANS ACCEPT WEST'S LIMIT ON ARMED FORCES

U.S., Soviet Union, Red China Would Cut Down to 2,500,000 Each as First Step in Disarmament.

By ALVIN H. GOLDSTEIN
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

UNITED NATIONS, July 12—Andrei A. Gromyko told the United Nations Disarmament Commission today Russia would accept the 2,500,000-man limit proposed by Western powers for the armed forces of the United States, Red China and the Soviet Union as a first step toward the 1,000,000 to 1,500,000 limit suggested by Russia.

Gromyko, deputy Soviet foreign minister, said Russia was eager to deal with all facets of universal disarmament at the same time by outlawing nuclear weapons and reaching agreement on a program for reduction of conventional armaments and military forces but in the interest of progress would join the West in a limited or "partial" disarmament effort.

The Soviet spokesman charged that the subject of universal disarmament had been made a diplomatic football by the West during the inconclusive 10-year U.N. debate. He repeated accusations that Britain and the United States had retreated from positions they held before Russia subscribed to them.

The way out of the impasse "is in the immediate carrying out of concrete measures leading to the reduction of armed forces and armaments and the prohibition of atomic weapons," Gromyko added. He then reviewed Soviet propositions, which he maintained incorporated western proposals in many instances and disclosed a spirit of compromise by the Kremlin.

Gromyko insisted that the Soviet Union favored establishing effective international control to enforce arms reduction agreements. He again dismissed President Eisenhower's "open sky" plan for aerial inspection as having no relation to disarmament, reminding the commission of the Soviet scheme for inspection at key points to

U.S. GRAND JURY WILL TAKE TAX SCANDAL INQUIRY INTO OWN HANDS

Panel Being Recalled at Its Request—Feels Justice Dept. Has Failed to Pursue Investigation.

The Federal grand jury investigating tax scandals in the Truman Administration, which believes United States Justice Department officials have failed to pursue the inquiry vigorously, is being recalled to work next Wednesday at its own request, the Post-Dispatch was told today.

United States District Judge George H. Moore ordered the jury back to work, after members of the panel decided the jury should take matters in its own hands, to wind up pending investigations before its term expires July 23.

It was reported that 20 to 25 cases are still pending before the grand jury, and the jurors believe there is sufficient evidence to warrant indictments in many of them.

'Dilatory Tactics.'

This is the third time the grand jurors have expressed bitter resentment over the "dilatory tactics" of Justice Department officials in the handling of the investigation.

The jury had been in session 118 days during its 18-month inquiry, until it was forced to recess last April 4 at the suggestion of Attorney General Herbert Brownell Jr., so its work would not influence the trial of T. Lamar Caudle and Matthew J. Connelly, Truman Administration officials.

Caudle and Connelly were found guilty of conspiracy to defraud the Government June 14, but nothing has been done so far to enable the grand jury to resume its work.

The jurors have expressed to Judge Moore their dissatisfaction with the lack of vigorous presentation of pending cases by Brownell, Warren Olney III, head of the Justice Department's criminal division, and Wyllys Newcomb, special United States Attorney who has handled the presentation of evidence to the jury.

Resting at Home.

Newcomb also prosecuted Caudle, former head of the tax division of the justice department, and Connelly, former appointments secretary to President Truman. Since their conviction, Newcomb has been resting at his home in New York.

Earlier this month Judge Moore and members of the grand jury sent letters to Attorney General Brownell complaining about the delay in resuming the suspended inquiry. Brownell replied that he would determine whether there was enough evidence to present in the pending case. Later, Newcomb notified the jurors that they would be called back July 19, four days before their term ends.

Since then, it was learned, Brownell and Olney have advised Judge Moore that they would go along with Newcomb's judgment on what should be done with the incompleted investigations.

The jurors were again disturbed by the lack of action, and recently requested that they be summoned back before the date set by Newcomb. Judge Moore agreed, but next Wednesday was the earliest date that could be set because of a requirement for a week's notice to the jurors.

DULLES WARNS AID CUTS MAY MEAN 'DISASTER' TO FREE WORLD

Secretary, Adm. Radford Ask Senate Group to Vote Full 4 Billion Authorized by Both Houses.

WASHINGTON, July 12 (AP)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles said today that if House cuts in foreign aid appropriations are allowed to stand it might create "disaster" for the free world.

Dulles and Adm. Arthur W. Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, appealed to the Senate Appropriations Committee to recommend that the Senate vote the full $4,014,000,000 provided for in the recently-enacted foreign aid authorization bill.

The House yesterday cut the money bill to $3,665,920,000 as against the $4,900,000,000 President Eisenhower recently requested for foreign military and economic aid.

Radford told the committee that the House cuts were so severe it would "require months" to draw up a new military assistance program, "involve serious jeopardy to our security position and might well lead to a further weakening of the defense efforts of our allies."

Both testified at a closed session, but a summary of their testimony was released by the committee.

284 to 120 Vote.

The House voted 284 to 120 for $3,665,920,000 for foreign aid in the fiscal year started July 1.

The bill included $3,425,120,000 in new funds plus $240,800,000 in reappropriations of previously voted money that otherwise would revert to the United States Treasury. Last year's appropriation was $2,765,875,000.

The four-billion-dollar authorization bill, setting ceilings for the program but providing no cash, would allow nearly $600,000,000 in new money to be put back in the appropriation bill.

The Senate committee plans to complete action on the big money measure tomorrow. Senator Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, the Democratic leader, said he hopes to bring the bill before the Senate early next week.

Dulles told a press conference yesterday the House cuts could have a serious effect on Western collective alliances. Vice President Nixon, returning to Washington from a round-the-world trip, said drastic foreign aid cuts "could be disastrous."

House G.O.P. leaders in yesterday's debate called for a $550,000,000 restoration of military aid funds to the bill, but offered no amendment to do this. Their strategy, concurred in by Democratic leaders favoring a bigger amount, was to avoid risk of open defeat on the House floor and to count on the Senate to make an increase.

So despite a debate heavily charged with politics, the House passed the bill with the exact total recommended by its Appropriations Committee — and with no votes on whether to boost or lower the amounts.

Party Line-Ups.

On passage, 160 Democrats and 124 Republicans voted for the bill. Against it were 70 Republicans and 50 Democrats.

An Administration-opposed move by Representative Alvin Bentley (Rep.), Michigan, to cut off aid to Yugoslavia was defeated, 117 to 65, with most of Bentley's support coming from Republicans.

In the debate Representative Henderson Lanham (Dem.), Georgia, criticized what he called the "Madison Avenue" advertising tactics of the Administration, saying the Administration originally trimmed foreign aid appropriations in order to make a show of a balanced budget.

"Now that they think they have a balanced budget," Lanham said, "they come in and ask for a huge increase, and they cannot sell it to the American people. A part-time President cannot sell it to the American people."

Democratic members applauded his attack on the Administration.

Democrats Laugh.

Representative John J. Rooney (Dem.), New York, got a laugh from the Democratic side of the House when he read an Associated Press dispatch from London describing Jacob Malik, the Soviet ambassador there, as an "Ike for President" booster.

The story quoted Malik as saying Europeans know and trust Mr. Eisenhower, and "we can do business with President Eisenhower."

"Shame on you!" cried Representative Charles Halleck of Indiana, the deputy Republican floor leader.

Halleck said the American people would resent any insinuation that the President is soft on Communism.

While the House was finishing work on the measure, the Senate passed a bill providing for a $300,000 investigation of the whole foreign aid program.

EISENHOWER TO ATTEND CONVENTION; NIXON SURE OF NO. 2 SPOT, HALL SAYS

Reporting on Conference

—Associated Press Wirephoto.

LEONARD W. HALL, Republican national chairman, getting some whispered comment from presidential press secretary JAMES HAGERTY while reporting on his conference with President Eisenhower at press conference at Gettysburg, Pa., today.

HALLECK PICKED TO NOMINATE PRESIDENT AT SAN FRANCISCO

Chief Executive to Join 'Vigorous, Hard-Hitting Campaign,' G.O.P. Chief Says — Five or Six Talks.

GETTYSBURG, Pa., July 12 (UP) — President Eisenhower will go to San Francisco in August to accept the Republican nomination as head of an Eisenhower and Nixon ticket, Republican National Chairman Leonard W. Hall announced today after talking with Mr. Eisenhower for an hour.

Hall said at a press conference that Vice President Richard M. Nixon "absolutely" would have the No. 2 spot on the 1956 ticket.

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty announced later that Nixon, accompanied by Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, would confer with Mr. Eisenhower tomorrow. Hagerty said he assumed that Nixon was coming here to report on his recent 11-day around-the-world trip, but he did not rule out politics at tomorrow's meeting.

Hagerty also said Mr. Eisenhower would return to the White House early next week, probably Monday or Tuesday.

Hall said Mr. Eisenhower would go to the national convention after he is nominated, probably on Wednesday, Aug. 22.

Representative Charles A. Halleck of Indiana will make the speech nominating Mr. Eisenhower for a second term, he announced.

To Rely on TV, Radio.

The President will rely mainly on radio and television, making five or six major TV speeches, Hall said. He will leave the whistle-stopping to Nixon, but will do some traveling, "perhaps by plane—it may be anywhere," Hall said. Mr. Eisenhower will fly to San Francisco to accept the nomination.

Asked to predict the outcome of the election, Hall said it would be "very, very good and better than in 1952."

Asked which Democratic candidate would be the "hardest to beat," Hall replied sharply: "Oh, I don't care which one."

So far as the South is concerned, Hall said Republican organizations are growing in Mississippi, South Carolina and other states. The Republican party, he said, "should not be a sectional party."

As he sees it, Hall said, the only "possible enemy of Republicans might be complacency." Then he quickly added that there wouldn't be any of that.

Predicts Congress Control.

Hall predicted that the Republican party would pick up more congressional seats and more electoral votes from the South. He said the party would win control of Congress.

He said he did not anticipate "any trouble" on the farm issue.

The congressional picture looks "good" in both houses for the Republicans, he said. He particularly singled out the Senate candidacies of former Secretary of Interior Douglas McKay in Oregon, Gov. Arthur Langlie in Washington state and former Ambassador to India John Sherman Cooper in Kentucky.

Hall said the over-all Republican budget for the campaign is $7,000,000.

He said candidates "must meet people," but he said he has found out, too, when a person goes on television "he certainly can meet more people that way than by any other method."

"We are going to use all the new media," he said. "We are going to put on a vigorous campaign with the media available today."

Hall's remarks about Nixon were made under questioning.

"I am anticipating what I have been anticipating all along—that Mr. Nixon will be the candidate for Vice President," he said.

He said "yes" when asked if Nixon's role had been discussed at his meeting with Mr. Eisenhower.

Avoids Direct Answer.

A reporter asked whether the President "reaffirmed" his support of Nixon.

Hall avoided a direct answer, saying "perhaps in the near future I may have an announcement on that."

When reporters pressed him, Hall recalled that the President had said he was "pleased" with Nixon.

But then Hall said—"I think it's Eisenhower and Nixon — that's right!"

NIGHT SPEEDING ARRESTS RISE WITH PATROL INCREASE

Drivers arrested for speeding at night in St. Louis since June 29, when the Police Department's night motorcycle patrol was increased from four men to 10, total 247, roughly twice the normal number for the period, Maj. William Cibulka, traffic division head, announced today.

Arrests each night for speeding formerly averaged 10 or 12, compared with a high for one night since June 29 or 29 and a low of 18. Within the last 13 days, 28 summonses have been issued for such offenses as failing to observe stop signs, while miscellaneous arrests, including those for careless driving, total 28.

The night motorcycle patrol, on duty from 11:45 p.m. to 7:45 a.m., was increased in number to permit a closer watch on drunken driving, drag racing and speeding. Highest speed reported since the increase in the force was 80 miles an hour, a rate a 14-year-old traveled last night in a stolen machine which sideswiped three parked cars.

FIRST BARTENDERS RETIRE IN UNION PENSION PROGRAM

The New York Herald Tribune-Post-Dispatch Special Dispatch.

NEW YORK, July 12—Twenty-five dignified gentlemen, each more than 65 years in age, were guests of honor yesterday at a luncheon as they retired with pensions as "experts in an ancient and honorable craft." They were the first members of the trade to receive them.

Members of Local 15, of the Bartenders Union, they will receive weekly checks from a fund to which tavern and restaurant owners in Manhattan have agreed to pay in $5 for each employee of their establishments.

Almost to a man, the veterans of the bar were of the opinion that drinking of alcoholic beverages is here to stay and the amount of drinking among men is not greater than it was in the "good old days."

They remembered when five cents bought a 16-ounce glass of beer and for 10 cents a patron could pour his own whisky into a four-ounce glass. However, they agreed that those days are gone forever.

LAMP POST STIRS CHAIN REACTION IN BRITISH SCULPTOR

STOKE-ON-TRENT, England, July 12 (UP)—Police were sympathetic yesterday with a man who chained himself to a "beautiful" lamp post.

Arnold Machin, a sculptor and pottery designer, locked himself to one of the old iron gas lamps yesterday as workmen arrived to dismantle it. The town council wants to replace the gas lamps with concrete electric light stanchions.

Police listened sympathetically to Machin and finally convinced him that he had made his point. Machin sent for his wife who had the key to his chains.

Authorities decided if he liked the lamp post that much he could buy it.

"It's such a beautiful thing," Machin said happily.

STATE TO BEGIN BUYING LAND FOR BELT HIGHWAY

Roads Program Includes Funds for Rights-of-Way of New City By-Pass.

By BOYD F. CARROLL
Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, July 12—The State Highway Commission soon will begin acquisition of right-of-way for a new belt highway to carry through-traffic around St. Louis, it announced today.

A $121,000,000 highway program for the fiscal year which began July 1 allocates $34,405,000 to the Kirkwood district, which includes St. Louis, St. Louis county and 11 other counties.

As a start on the belt highway, which will be a high-speed expressway, the Highway Commission authorized acquisition of right-of-way for two stretches —9.6 miles from Riverview drive to Route 140, and 5.1 miles from Route 140 to an intersection with the projected Mark Twain Expressway.

Other projects proposed in the St. Louis area for the coming year:

Completion of the new Missouri river bridge at St. Charles.

Construction of 4.7 miles of highway from the Missouri river bridge to Lindbergh boulevard.

Building of a viaduct substructure on the Mark Twain Expressway from Third and Locust streets to Fourth and O'Fallon streets.

Acquisition of right-of-way and construction of 2.7 miles of Daniel Boone Expressway between Hanley road and the Express Highway.

Acquisition of right-of-way on one mile of the Mark Twain route from the city limits to Bircher and Davidson, and 1.2 miles of right-of-way from Seventh street and Cass avenue to Eleventh and Branch.

Acquisition of 8.8 miles of right-of-way to extend the projected Ozark Expressway route from Sylvan Beach to Times Beach.

The Highway Commission had made a preliminary estimate of $80,000,000 for its road-building program with state and federal

120 BELIEVED DROWNED IN PAKISTAN BOAT UPSET

Storm Dashes Vessel Against River Island—Only About 30 Rescued.

KARACHI, July 12 (AP)—About 120 persons are believed to have been drowned in the capsizing of a boat on the Chenab river, 70 miles northwest of Lahore, Pakistan.

Reports reaching Karachi said a heavy storm overtook the boat as it left the river bank yesterday. It was washed against an island in the river and overturned.

Of about 150 persons aboard, only 30 were rescued, the reports said.

'Old Julius' Gets New Marching Orders and Battle Is On Again

An opening salvo in a new battle over "Old Julius," the Civil War statue that has stood at parade rest for uncounted years in East St. Louis City Hall Park, was fired today as the time for the moustachioed figure's removal to another site drew closer.

The reason a substitute bivouac area must be found is that the present City Hall will be vacated in January in favor of a building at 7 Collinsville avenue. The old structure will be razed, and a municipal parking lot constructed on the park and old building site.

That will give "Old Julius" his marching orders, but to where? East St. Louis city fathers are understood to favor moving the statue to Jones Park on Argonne drive. But Jack Theiss, national executive committeeman of the AMVETS, said today that would not do at all.

"We don't want 'Old Julius' relegated to obscurity," Theiss, who has stood shoulder-to-shoulder with the Union infantryman in previous skirmishes, announced. He said he would press for putting the statue in a park where four national highways enter the city.

EISENHOWER NOT REGAINING WEIGHT AFTER OPERATION

GETTYSBURG, Pa., July 12 (UP)—President Eisenhower is not gaining back his lost weight but his doctors "are not particularly concerned," an aid said today.

White House press secretary James C. Hagerty told reporters the President's weight remains at 163 pounds. That is about seven pounds under what he weighed before his June 9 ileitis operation.

"The doctors," Hagerty said, "are not particularly concerned that he's staying at his weight—that he's not gaining."

SOME MONACANS FEEL LET DOWN BY NEW PRINCESS

MONTE CARLO, July 12 (AP)—Some Monacans complain their country is too much under American influence since Prince Rainier married Grace Kelly. Others moan that Americans are practically ignoring the country.

Princess Grace has appeared in public, with advance announcement, only twice since the wedding—when she returned from the honeymoon, and to go to a special mass July 4.

The fact that the royal couple chose the Fourth of July for their first official outing rankled Monacans just a little.

When the Prince pardoned an American convicted of a plot to use loaded dice at the Monte Carlo Casino tongues wagged.

Official figures show 1058 American tourists in May and 1118 in June. These figures are quite a letdown for the business people who dreamed of Monaco as a main point of interest in Europe. True, American arrivals were only 625 and 575 in the same months of 1955—but the American visitors this year haven't been big spenders. Only 5 per cent are visiting the casino.

EXPERT WARNS ATOM TESTS CAN PRODUCE RACE OF IDIOTS

MANILA, July 12 (AP)—An Indian cancer specialist warned yesterday that United States atomic tests in the Pacific and by other powers elsewhere "might produce a race of idiots and monsters in the near future."

Dr. N. B. Roy, radio-therapy professor at the Medical College of the University of Calcutta, said in an interview the explosions "likely were to endanger the lives of people living now and those of coming generations."

Roy arrived Tuesday night from Hong Kong en route to Mexico City where he is to attend two international conferences on radio-therapy.

BOARD OK'S SALE OF COLUMBIA BOTTOMS SITE

4400-Acre Tract in County No Longer Needed for Airport Purposes.

The Board of Estimate and Apportionment today expressed approval of the proposed sale of the 4400-acre Columbia Bottoms airport site on the grounds it was no longer needed by the city for airport purposes.

City Comptroller Milton Carpenter was authorized to have the tract appraised for sale. The city bought the property, which is at the northeast tip of St. Louis county at the confluence of the Missouri and Mississippi rivers, for about $1,250,000 in 1948.

In deciding to sell the tract, the board noted that the Municipal Airport Commission had previously said it had no further interest in devolping the site for airport purposes. The board today asked the commission to give the board a formal letter to that effect.

The board's action followed receipt of a letter from the Bi-State Development Agency, signed by Leif J. Sverdrup, chairman, which said the agency wanted to purchase the Columbia Bottoms tract for development of water, rail, truck and air terminals.

Sverdrup said the Chamber of Commerce of Metropolitan St. Louis had requested that the agency interest itself in the bottomland area. He said the commissioners of the agency, which was set up by Legislatures of Missouri and Illinois for projects of mutual interest, had agreed to join in the project if the city approved.

The Board of Estimate and Apportionment also decided today to ask the City Counselor to report whether the city can annex the Columbia Bottoms area and about 600 to 1100 acres of intervening land north of the city limits.

Sverdrup's letter proposed that after the Bi-State Development Agency had developed its proposed terminal facilities in the tract, the remainder of the land would be leased for industrial purposes.

The city cannot single out a specific purchaser for the Columbia Bottoms property but must sell to the highest bidder.

NARROW ESCAPE FOR INFANT

DETROIT, July 12 (UP)—Mrs. Alva Perry decided to give her nine-month-old son, Mitchell, a bath yesterday and mix a cake at the same time.

She placed Mitchell in the tub and plugged her electric mixer into a bathroom outlet. The machine slipped out of her hands and fell into the tub. The child was knocked unconscious by electric shock. He revived before police got to the Perry home.

Says Friends Handle President's Investing, Don't Tell Him Details

WASHINGTON, July 12 (AP)—Representative Frank T. Bow (Rep.), Ohio, said today friends handle President Eisenhower's personal investments without telling him what securities they are buying and selling.

He said Mr. Eisenhower wants it that way so there isn't "even the possibility of a subconscious bias in favor of any organization in which he had an interest."

Writing in a regular letter to constituents, Bow did not give the source of his information.

He said that among "a few trusted friends" handling Mr. Eisenhower's investments is Col. Robert L. Schulz, his military aide, and continued:

"Thus today, aside from the farm at Gettysburg, the President has no personal knowledge of stock ownership. He receives regular reports as to total gains or losses, but no details of the transactions."

CONFEREES VOTE COMPROMISE ON BILL TO INCREASE SERVICE BENEFITS

Agreement Adds Social Security Coverage to Higher Payments for Survivors of Military Personnel.

WASHINGTON, July 12 (AP) — Senate-House conferees agreed yesterday on compromise legislation to increase payments to dependents of service men who die on active duty.

The military survivors benefit bill, as it is known, was urgently requested by President Eisenhower. He said it was needed to make the military more attractive as a career.

In addition to increasing Veterans' Administration payments to dependents of deceased service men, the bill puts all military personnel under the social security system on a permanent, contributory basis. This will mean social security survivor and retirement benefits for service families.

The measure increases VA death compensation from the present $70 a month in peacetime for service widows to a sliding scale of $122 to $266 based on the earnings of the husband in the military service.

Eliminates Inequity.

It also eliminates an inequity under which dependents of a reservist killed on active duty now receive much more than do dependents of a man in the regular military service killed under similar circumstances.

Another provision eliminates the indemnity enacted a few years ago as the equivalent of a free $10,000 life insurance policy. Sponsors said this was offset by the increase in the death compensation rates.

In other congressional action:

The Senate passed with amendments a House-approved bill that would permit the Postmaster General to hold up mail addressed to persons suspected of fraud of transmission of pornographic items.

The mail could be held for 20 days, after which it would be released unless a court order was obtained to continue the impoundment.

An amendment by Senator A. S. Mike Monroney (Dem.), Oklahoma, exempted newspapers, magazines or copyrighted books or periodicals. He said this would prevent any federal official from acting as a press censor for political purposes.

Auto Sales Bill.

A bill designed to eliminate "unfair trade practices" in the marketing of automobiles was approved by a Senate commerce subcommittee.

Monroney, the subcommittee chairman, said the bill would declare certain actions by manufacturers and dealers to be "unfair trade practices" and put them under the "scrutiny" of the Federal Trade Commission. Among such unfair trade practices would be coercion of dealers by manufacturers and the "bootlegging" of excess cars by dealers unless the dealers first offered them back to the manufacturer. A provision which required manufacturers to repurchase excess stock from dealers was eliminated.

President Eisenhower signed a bill aimed at alleged sharp practices in selling insurance to young men about to be inducted into the armed services.

The law restricts the program for government guarantee of private insurance premiums to policies that have been in effect at least six months before the insured enters military service. Formerly policies only a month old could be guaranteed.

Practice Revealed.

The House armed services investigations subcommittee recently reported that an insurance salesman had obtained lists of prospective draftees and sold policies to a number of them, collecting the monthly premium and then placing the policy under government guarantee.

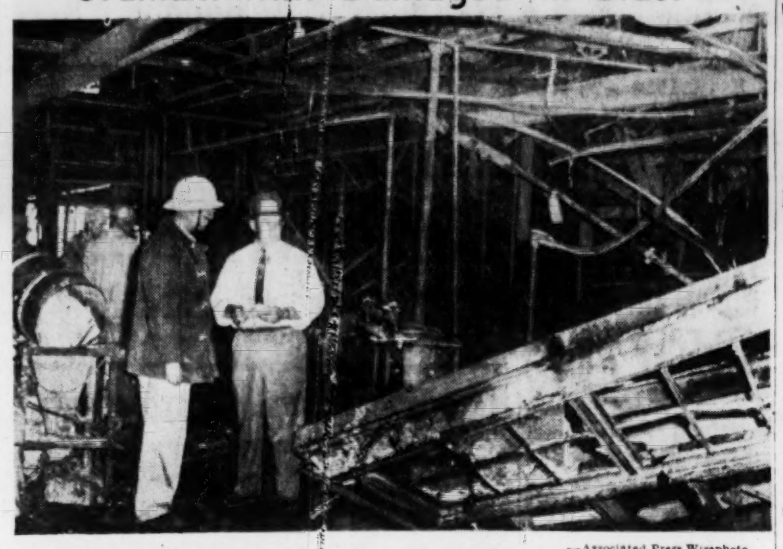

Other measures signed by the President included:

A bill making it a federal offense, with a maximum penalty of five years imprisonment and a $1000 fine, to use radio, television or telephone in communications across the nation's borders to perpetrate a fraud. Existing law had limited prosecutions to those guilty only in connection with interstate, not foreign communications.

A bill giving Army engineers greater discretion in undertaking small flood control projects. It permits the engineers to undertake without specific congressional authorization or appropriation flood control projects costing up to $400,000 each. It limits such spending to $10,000,000 in any one year. The present limits are $150,000 and $3,000,000.

Uranium Mill Damaged in Blast

DEPUTY SHERIFF PETER HAYWARD (right) checking details with Salt Lake City fireman following blast in Vitro Uranium Corp. building yesterday. Three men were injured when a 15,000-gallon tank of sulphuric acid exploded, causing damage estimated at about $20,000. The company produces uranium oxide and officials emphasized that uranium in the plant is not in a fissionable state.

RED CROSS LEAGUE APPEALS FOR AID TO QUAKE VICTIMS

GENEVA, Switzerland, July 12 (AP)—The League of Red Cross Societies made an appeal for emergency and long term assistance today for 12,000 Greeks left homeless by earthquakes on the island of Thera.

The Red Cross announced that $10,000 of emergency relief already was under way by air and sea.

The Italian and Netherlands Red Cross societies have already announced contributions in relief supplies. The League arranged for release of stocks from its emergency depot at Marseille and for other shipments from Britain.

INDIA REDS MOVE TO FORM UNITED OPPOSITION TO NEHRU

NEW DELHI, July 12 (AP)—India's Communist party announced last night it was setting up a special 11-man committee charged with negotiating agreement with "patriotic democratic parties" to form a united front.

The aim would be to defeat Prime Minister Nehru's governing Congress party in the next national elections. The Communist party line in India has been to attack Nehru's domestic policies and to support his foreign policy. India takes what it calls a neutralist position in international affairs.

4.9 PCT. INCREASE APPROVED IN COMPENSATION RATES

JEFFERSON CITY, July 2 (UP)—C. Lawrence Leggett, superintendent of insurance, yesterday approved a 4.9 per cent increase in workmen's compensation insurance rates.

Leggett said the action was taken following a public hearing on the matter last month.

The superintendent said the higher rates were allowed because of more liberal compensation benefits voted by the Legislature. The new law permits compensation payments up to 20 weeks in a healing period for injuries covered.

INDIAN COMMUNIST PARTY TOES NEW MOSCOW LINE

NEW DELHI, July 12 (AP)—India's Communist party toed the new Moscow line today. The party's Politburo passed a resolution at the end of a 12-day secret session which praised the Moscow leadership and underlined the need to "wage determined struggles against the cult of personality" — or Stalinism.

The resolution said the party planned to develop Indian Communism on the "basis of national traditions" under the broad principles of Marxism-Leninism. It did not elaborate.

TEEN-AGE JOBHOLDERS RISE

WASHINGTON, July 12 (AP)—Employment of teen-agers 14 through 17 in April and May this year reached postwar highs for these months, the Department of Labor reported today.

The department urged communities throughout the nation to pay attention to the health and physical fitness of teen-agers taking their first jobs. The department also urged employers everywhere to obtain employment or age certificates for all their young workers under 18 and for those 18 and 19 in hazardous jobs.

AIR FORCE DENIES FLYING PLANES OVER RED AREAS

WASHINGTON, July 12 (AP)—The United States Air Force both here and in Germany has denied Soviet charges that its planes flew over Russian territory three times this month.

Soviet Ambassador Georgi Zarubin protested formally to the State Department Tuesday that United States planes from West Germany had flown over territory of both Russia and its satellite neighbors on July 4, 5 and 9.

The State Department has not yet replied officially, but the Air Force's European headquarters said yesterday "no aircraft assigned to the command of the United States Air Force in Europe violated Soviet or satellite territory."

A similar statement came from Air Force headquarters here, which said that "no United States Air Force planes have been flying over Soviet territory as Moscow charged."

BONN DISREGARDS THREATS AGAINST U.S. OFFICERS

BONN, July 12 (AP) — The West German government took a hands-off attitude today toward a newly disclosed campaign of written threats against American officers in Germany.

The Army's European headquarters announced yesterday that generals, colonels and some officers of lower rank are being flooded with letters urging them to leave Germany or face the wrath of an organization calling itself the "Fighting Association for an Independent Germany."

The Bonn interior ministry said it had no knowledge of this association. One ministry official said, "This could be the work of pranksters or it could be a well-organized Communist campaign."

DETROIT MAN IS ELECTED OUTER GUARD OF SHRINERS

DETROIT, July 12 (AP)—Charles E. Merrill of Detroit was elected outer guard of the Shriners yesterday and placed in line to rise to imperial potentate.

Gerald D. Crary of Deadwood, S.D., was installed as imperial potentate of the 800,000-member Ancient Arabic Order of the Nobles of the Mystic Shrine. He succeeded Walter C. Guy of Little Rock, Ark.

Nine other Shrine officers moved up a notch, according to tradition, leaving the lowest office, that of outer guard, vacant. Merrill's election places him in line to become imperial potentate 10 years hence.

KANSAS CITY TO ALLOW WADING IN CITY HALL POOLS

KANSAS CITY, July 12 (AP)—City authorities unofficially gave a green light yesterday for children to continue to wade in the eight ornamental pools in front of the City Hall.

Health department officials recently expressed alarm over possible pollution of the water which does not contain chlorine. However, tests proved otherwise.

The small pools have been hot weather havens for children who live near the downtown area and have no other wading facilities.

NON-RED OUTPUT INCREASES

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., July 12 (AP)—The United Nations reported yesterday the non-Communist world's industrial production in the first quarter of this year was 14 per cent higher than the 1953 level. That was two index points below the last quarter of 1955, but seven points above the first quarter of 1955.

SHAH ENDS TOUR IN OPEN DISCORD WITH RUSSIANS

Iranian King Stands by Baghdad Pact, Joint Communique Signing Cancelled.

MOSCOW, July 12 (AP) — The Shah of Iran left Moscow today, his talks with Soviet Government leaders ending in polite but open disagreement.

A joint Soviet-Iranian communique which had been scheduled for signing Tuesday was postponed and later canceled. Iran's continued adherence to the Western-sponsored Baghdad Pact apparently was the stumbling block.

Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlevi and Queen Soraya took off from Moscow's central airport en route to Tehran after a 17-day tour of the Soviet Union.

Khrushchev Not at Airport.

In a brief farewell address, the 36-year-old ruler of the Soviet Union's southern neighbor thanked the Soviet Government for the courtesy it had extended him and expressed hope the two nations would live in peace and friendship.

Most of the Kremlin's leaders, except Communist party boss Nikita S. Khrushchev, were at the flag-decorated airport to bid the royal couple farewell.

Soviet President Klementi Y. Voroshilov and his wife shook hands stiffly with the Iranian rulers, so did Premier Bulganin, Foreign Minister Dmitri Shepilov, former Premier Georgi Malenkov and First Deputy Premier Mikhail Pervukhin.

Voroshilov openly challenged Iran's membership in the Baghdad Alliance at a Kremlin banquet Tuesday night. The Shah forcefully rejected the criticism.

Dictated by Needs of State.

Toasting his royal guests, the Soviet president said, "We wish that the territory of Iran will never be used to threaten our southern borders. That is why we openly declare we are against any aggressive groupings which on the one hand are a danger to peace of the world generally, and on the other constitute a continuation of colonial policy for countries of the Middle East."

The Shah replied Iran's government "has never joined any aggressive bloc against the Soviet Union and never will." He said his country has always opposed colonialism and "if the Iranian government has undertaken measures for defense, they have been dictated by the needs of state on the basis of past experience and the general international situation."

The Iranian monarch was the first of the string of foreign dignitaries visiting the Soviet Union in recent months who did not sign even an innocuous joint statement with the Soviet Government. Iranian sources said because he is the chief of state and not of the government, it would not have been proper for the Shah to join in such an agreement.

Southern Democrats Prepare New Manifesto on Civil Rights

House Opponents of Proposed Legislation Denounce Administration Bill as Unconstitutional.

WASHINGTON, July 12 (UP)—Southern Democrats in Congress today circulated a new "manifesto"—this one denouncing the Administration's civil rights measure as unconstitutional and calling for its defeat.

The Southerners, in a separate action, agreed to use all available parliamentary maneuvers to delay House action on the civil rights bill when it comes up for debate next week.

This raised the prospect that the House will be tied up all week on the bill, although it is certain to pass on final vote because it has the backing of Northern Democrats and Republicans.

To counter the Southern move, proponents of the bill were trying to arrange to keep a quorum of 218 members on the floor during debate, something which is seldom seen in the House over any long period. This would deprive the Southerners of one of their readiest, and most time-consuming, weapons—the quorum call.

The manifesto was being passed around for the signatures of Southern House members. Southern Senators apparently were not being asked to sign it.

Those circulating the document refused to make its contents public immediately. But one House member said it pledges all-out opposition—parliamentary and legal—to the civil rights bill.

In an earlier manifesto, Southerners in both House and Senate protested against the Supreme Court's ruling against school segregation and vowed to use all lawful means to keep it from being carried out.

One member who was approached about signing the new statement and who declined said it was represented to him as a device to get press coverage for Southern arguments advanced against the civil rights bill at recent Rules Committee hearings.

Sponsors of the move contended their arguments, especially those presented by Representative Edwin E. Willis (Dem.), Louisiana, got little nwes coverage at that time despite the fact they were, in the opinion of the Southerners, new and especially cogent.

Another member who refused to sign it said privately that the "only specific recommendation" it makes is to call for defeat of the bill and to urge the Southerners in the Senate to filibuster the bill to death, if the measure passes the House.

"The Senate doesn't need any encouragement from the House to conduct a fillibuster," said this member.

Backers and opponents of the civil rights legislation generally agree that it will never get through the Senate.

The legislation would create a new civil rights division in the Justice Department and an assistant attorney general to head it, sets up a presidential commission on civil rights and throws up new protections around the right to vote, irrespective of race, and generally tightens existing civil rights laws.

CHILE LEADER DENIES CHARGE

SANTIAGO, July 12 (AP)—President Carlos Ibanez last night ridiculed a congressman's charges that he had planned a coup d'etat in May 1955 to put Chile under a dictatorship.

Florencio Galleguillos, chairman of a special Chamber of Deputies committee investigating allegations of infiltration of Chile by sympathizers of deposed Argentine Dictator Juan Peron, told the House Tuesday night that Ibanez ought to be impeached and ousted.

SENATE WORKS EXTRA HOURS TO CLEAN UP LEGISLATION

WASHINGTON, July 12 (AP)—Majority leader Johnson (Dem.), Texas, put the Senate on an adjournment schedule today with a program to "start early and stay late and meet Saturdays."

Johnson, who has refused to predict when Congress will end this session, had reminded Senators last night that the Democratic national convention opens Aug. 13.

He began the Senate session today at 9:30 a.m., an hour and a half early, and announced that the Senate would meet late each evening in order to clean up the final mass of legislation.

Johnson denied he had set July 14 or any other "target date" for adjournment and said several important bills still must be acted upon.

EASE PENTAGON PAPERS SECRECY, GARDNER URGES

Half of Documents Should No Longer Be Classified, Former Air Official Says.

WASHINGTON, July 12 (UP)—Former Assistant Air Force Secretary Trevor Gardner testified today that secrecy labels should be stripped from "at least" half the documents at the Pentagon.

"The only real security is in progress," Gardner told a House Government Operations subcommittee, "not in keeping facts hidden in pieces of paper."

Gardner related the case of an internationally-known scientist whom the armed services have refused to clear for access to secret papers.

"Unfortunately this man has such an inventive ability," Gardner testified, "he keeps coming up with secret and top secret ideas."

He said the Pentagon classifies the results of the man's work "and he no longer has access to them."

"We can't seem to classify his head, he keeps coming up with secret ideas," Gardner told the subcommittee.

"In this case he is quite conscientious and tries to observe our procedures, although they may seem ridiculous to him as to others."

Gardner said that the scientist, whom he did not name, was in "jeopardy" because of a possible violation of the security laws.

Meanwhile, the Navy has agreed to stop stamping documents "private-official" but it is going to use another classification that will keep the papers secret.

Secretary of the Navy Thomas acknowledged yesterday that an unautohrized secrecy label has been used to keep some Navy documents from the public.

He indicated the material still would be kept secret—only the label changed.

Thomas's views were made known in a letter to Chairman John E. Moss (Dem.), California, of the subcommittee.

Thomas said a Navy check-up showed the secrecy designation "private-official" has "been used to a limited extent within the Navy Department on correspondence dealing with personnel matters." Whether such material would be made public depends on the facts in each case, he added.

Thomas said there is no statutory authority to label documents "private-official," so he is ordering that this type of paper be marked "for official use only."

STEEL INDUSTRY GROUP CONFERS IN ADVANCE OF NEW USW TALKS

12 Big Firms Represented — No Indication of Fresh Proposals at First Parley Since Strike Began.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., July 12 (AP)—The steel industry's coordinating committee met today in private session a few hours before union and management negotiators tried anew to end the 12-day-old nation-wide steel strike.

The committee represents 12 of the nation's largest basic steel producing companies, all closed by the strike.

Industry sources said the meeting was devoted largely to a report by John A. Stephens, United States Steel Corp. vice president and top industry negotiator.

Stephens met with the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service in Washington yesterday. It was after that meeting that the negotiation session was scheduled for today in Pittsburgh.

Stephens heads a four-man industry committee for the negotiations. United Steelworkers President David J. McDonald and other international officers represent the union.

Union and management negotiators have not met face to face since the strike began at midnight June 30. There was no indication that either side is ready to revise positions held at the beginning of the strike.

Government mediators, who prodded both sides to get together at the bargaining table, came here from Washington to sit in on the sessions.

Meanwhile, unemployment continued to mount in allied industries. In addition to the 650,000 striking U.S.W. members, 72,770 workers in other industries have been furloughed. Hardest hit are railroads and the coal industry.

Neither union nor industry gave any indication they would come up with counter offers at today's session, which was arranged by Joseph F. Finnegan, director of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service.

Although announcing that both sides are "agreeable and co-operative," Finnegan described the situation as "still serious." The strike has cut steel production 90 per cent.

The industry proposed a 52-month contract which it said would boost pay 17½ cents an hour for the first year. McDonald says the offer actually amounts to 14 cents an hour. He has not said how much the union seeks nor has he indicated how long the union wants the new contract to run. Steelworkers were averaging $2.46 an hour before the walkout began.

Bethlehem Steel Co. sent its counsel, John Morse, to the negotiating session, while Republic Steel was represented by Vice President Thomas Patton. They were the principal negotiators in sessions which were held here and in New York before the walkout began.

MUSIAL, GARAGNANI, RUGGERI TO RUN JUBILEE RESTAURANT

Stan Musial, Julius (Biggie) Garagnani and Henry Ruggeri, owners of well-known St. Louis restaurants bearing their names, will operate the Jubilee Beer Garden-Restaurant at the Mid-Americta Jubilee riverfront exposition throughout September, it was announced today.

Food prepared in French Creole and German-American styles will be served at the establishment, designed by Erwin Carl Schmidt, St. Louis architect. Beer from four St. Louis area breweries will be served.

On a bandstand like those popular at the time of the 1904 St. Louis World's Fair, an instrumental group will play polkas and other old favorites, for both dancing and listening. Tables will accommodate 500 persons and the bar another 200.

Illinois Governor in Blast at Auditor

GOV. WILLIAM STRATTON of Illinois in press conference at Springfield yesterday where he charged State Auditor Orville E. Hodge has lost the confidence of the public and the Republican party.

GEORGE P. COUTRAKON State's Attorney of Sangamon county.

HODGE INQUIRY BY JURY MOVED UP ONE WEEK

Investigation to Start Monday—Stratton Indicates He Wants Auditor Ousted.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., July 12 (AP)—State's Attorney George P. Coutrakon today pushed up his scheduled grand jury investigation of alleged irregularities in the office of State Auditor Orville E. Hodge of Granite City.

Moving to speed up the inquiry, Coutrakon arranged to bring three key witnesses before the grand jury next Monday, instead of waiting until July 2 3as planned.

Coutrakon prepared for a sweeping investigation of the office as Gov. William G. Stratton indicated he is seeking to oust the auditor.

"In my estimation," Stratton told a press conference Wesnesday, "it is obvious that public and party confidence in the officer (Hodge) and his official operations no longer exists."

Hodge has indicated he does not intend to resign.

Coutrakon said he is asking for state aid in strengthening his staff for the investigation.

Under subpena to appear Monday are Edward Hintz, president of the Southmoor Bank & Trust Co., Chicago; Lloyd Lane of Peoria, supervisor of payroll accounting in the auditor's office, and Tom Shanahan of Springfield, custodian of auditor's records in a warehouse in eastern Springfield.

Other Records Sought.

Hintz was subpenaed also to appear July 23 to produce records concerning 34 firms and individuals, in connection with the Hodge case, including the Wood River Printing & Publishing Co.

Meanwhile Sheriff Arthur A. Gross of Sangamon county said his deputies cannot locate Hodge to serve a subpena in connection with the investigation.

Stratton ordered Hodge yesterday to double the $50,000 personal bond required for his office. Under law, failure to post within 20 days an additional bond demanded by a governor would permit Stratton to appoint a new auditor. The governor may demand additional bond, under the state law, whenever he considers it necessary.

(The United States Fidelity and Guaranty Co., which put up Hodge's present $50,000 bond, told the United Press it would conduct its customary inquiry if Hodge asks it to double his bond.)

Stratton told reporters if Hodge fails to raise the additional $50,000 bond, he plans to declare the office vacant and appoint a new auditor under discretionary power. Stratton, who is running for re-election, declined to say if anyone was under consideration.

Hodge cannot be taken off the November ballot unless he agrees to withdraw.

Democrats Sit Tight.

(Democrats are sitting tight while the investigations are carried out. But State Democratic Chairman James Ronan told the United Press the charges against Hodge are "a very good campaign issue.")

Administration spokesmen said they did not believe Hodge would be able to obtain the added bond while his accounts are under investigation. Bonds must be approved by the governor and two state Supreme Court justices.

Stratton reportedly has asked Hodge to withdraw as Republican candidate for re-election to the $16,000 a year post.

Names mentioned in statehouse speculation as possible replacements for Hodge included Morton H. Hollingsworth, Robert E. Merriam and Warren Wright.

Hollingsworth, of Joliet, is state finance director and chairman of the State Central Committee. The committee probably would play an important part in the choice of a successor to Hodge.

Merriam, a former Chicago alderman, waged a vigorous but unsuccessful campaign for mayor under the Republican banner last year.

Wright is state treasurer and not eligible to succeed himself. His prospects are dimmed because he sought to replace Gov. Stratton at the head of the G.O.P. ticket in the primary. However, he has reportedly made peace with Stratton.

Others names being mentioned included House Speaker Warren Wood of Plainfield and Austin Wyman of Glencoe, chairman of the Illinois Toll Road Commission.

Alleged irregularities in Hodge's office involve 52 state warrants (checks) totaling about $500,000. Chicago newspapers have published reports that several persons named as payees on the warrants said they never received them or any money from them after they were cashed.

All St. Louis Congressmen Back Plan for 2 U.S. Buildings Here

GSA Proposes $13,760,000 Office Structure, Records Storage Center to Cost $6,740,000.

By JAMES DEAKIN
A Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, July 12—The three Congressmen from St. Louis and Missouri's two Senators gave united support today to a proposal to erect two new federal buildings in St. Louis at a total cost of $20,500,000.

Under the proposal, a government office building costing approximately $13,760,000 would be built in the downtown area, and a center for storage of nonmilitary records would be erected at a cost of $6,740,000, probably in a suburban location.

The plan was submitted yesterday by Franklin G. Floete, head of the General Services Administration, which supervises construction and maintenance of Government buildings.

Lease-Purchase Plan.

The buildings would be put up under a lease-purchase arrangement. Contractors would construct the buildings and lease them to the Government for 25 years. Payments under the leases would amortize cost of construction, the contractors' profits and interest charges. After 25 years the Government would assume title.

Representative Frank M. Karsten, Leonor K. Sullivan and Thomas B. Curtis joined Senators Thomas C. Hennings Jr. and Stuart Symington in support of the proposal.

Previously Karsten had opposed the lease-purchase plan as too costly and had introduced a bill to authorize construction of a $19,800,000 federal office building to be financed by the Government itself. He told the Post-Dispatch today he would support the GSA proposal, despite the lease-purchase financing, because "we do need the buildings, and need them badly."

Government agencies now scattered around St. Louis in seven locations would be centered in the proposed office building, which would provide 482,000 gross square feet of space. The records center, with 488,000 square feet, would replace space now rented for storage of Government civilian files in the Butler Bros. building at Eighteenth and Olive streets.

No Recommendation on Site.

In submitting the proposal to the Budget Bureau, GSA did not go into the question of locations for the buildings. If the Budget Bureau approves, the projects will go to the House and Senate Public Works Committees. Approval by Congress as a whole will not be required, however.

GSA officials came to St. Louis last February to study possible sites for an office building. It has been suggested that the block bounded by Eleventh, Twelfth, Pine and Chestnut streets would be a good location. Another suggestion called for tearing down the old Post Office Building at Eighth and Olive streets and using that site.

Karsten suggested that, in contracting for erection of the buildings, GSA might consider an "escape" provision which would permit a shift to direct appropriation financing if the projects proved too costly under lease-purchase.

He has estimated that an office building put up by the Government would cost $19,800,000 if financed from current revenue, and $35,705,000 if the Government proceeded under lease-purchase and paid interest of 3⅞ per cent.

UNION ELECTRIC, ENGINEERS NEAR SALARY ACCORD

1217 Union Members to Consider New Contract Proposals at Meeting Tonight.

Tentative agreement on a new contract between Local 148 of the AFL-CIO International Union of Operating Engineers and Union Electric Co. was reached early today and is to be considered at a union membership meeting tonight. The union represents 1217 employes at the company's power plants.

Terms of the agreement, which were drawn up by negotiators after an all-night session, were not made public pending a report to the union membership. An expired contract has been extended to run on a day-to-day basis in order to enable negotiations to continue.

The union originally sought a 10 per cent wage increase, subsequently reducing it to an 8 per cent increase during early stages of the negotiations. James J. Flanagan, president of the local, said the present wage scale averages about $2.36 an hour. Some improvements in fringe benefits also were under consideration.

Negotiations are continuing between the company and four locals of the AFL-CIO International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, representing 2800 outside employes and office workers. Locals involved are 1455 and 1439 in St. Louis, 309 in East St. Louis and 649 in Alton.

AREA SAVINGS BOND SALES HIT $5,125,271 IN JUNE

Sales of series E and H United States Savings Bonds in St. Louis and St. Louis county totaled $5,125,271 during June, bringing the total for the first six months of the year to $32,572,435, Arthur K. Atkinson, chairman of the Metropolitan St. Louis Savings Bonds Committee, reported today.

Sales throughout Missouri in June amounted to $12,797,783. Total for the first half of the year for the state is $86,020,600, representing 52 per cent of the state's quota. The St. Louis area has achieved 46 per cent of its quota, Atkinson noted.

Korean Guerrilla Killed.

SEOUL, July 12 (AP)—National police said a Communist guerrilla was shot and two others captured by a combat police unit today near Chongup, 130 miles south of Seoul.

LEONARD A. STEGER, SCHOOL HEAD, DIES

Webster Groves Superintendent Suffers Heart Attack at Home.

Leonard A. Steger, superintendent of Webster Groves public schools since 1944, died today after suffering a heart attack at his home, 324 Helfenstein avenue, Webster Groves.

Mr. Steger, 52 years old, had returned earlier in the day from a fishing trip, Webster Groves police reported. He had gone to his bedroom to rest and was found there a short time later by his wife who had been preparing lunch.

Webster Groves police and firemen were called and used an inhalator for more than an hour. Police said he was pronounced dead by a private physician who had treated him for a heart condition. He suffered a heart attack about four years ago, they reported.

Last April Steger was named "Webster Groves Man of the Year" by the community's Chamber of Commerce. He was chairman of the resolutions committee of the American Association of School Administrators.

In 1954 Mr. Steger received a doctor's degree in education from Washington University. In 1953 he was appointed a member of the aviation education committee of the American Association of School Administrators.

Under his administration the Webster Groves school system has been expanded rapidly to meet the needs resulting from population growth since World War II. Studies were under way recently for resubmission of a multi-million-dollar bond issue for further expansion defeated in a special election last April.

Surivors include his wife and a daughter.

2 CHILDREN IN HOSPITAL AFTER BEING HIT BY CARS

Two children, Walter J. Henson, 3 years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Henson, 816 Geyer avenue, and Randolph Mills, 4, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Mills, 1136 Kentucky avenue, were injured yesterday when struck by automobiles in separate accidents.

Police said the Henson boy was struck on Geyer avenue near his home by an automobile driven by Paul G. Coleman, 17, of 2731 South Broadway. Coleman did not see the child, he told police, but had swerved to avoid hitting what he thought was a box. The child suffered a head injury and was taken to City Hospital.

The Mills boy suffered fractures of both legs and a head injury, and also was taken to City Hospital. Police said the boy was struck on Kentucky avenue by a Laclede taxicab driven by Sam Catanzaro, 512A Eiler street. Catanzaro told officers the boy darted from between two parked cars.

COUNTY CHILD, 2, WANDERS OFF, FOUND A MILE AWAY

A 2-year-old child, Virginia Jett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles T. Jett, 12489 Spanish Pond road, wandered away from her home in north St. Louis county about 10 a.m. today and was missing nearly four hours before she turned up at the home of a neighbor more than a mile away.

St. Louis county police and others helped search for the missing child, who apparently wandered into the underbrush near the yard of her home and kept walking. She wandered into the yard of Edward Vogelsang, 13048 Spanish Pond road, who called police.

Virginia was taken home to her mother none the worse for the experience, except for a mosquito bite or two. Mrs. Jett gave her lunch and put her down for a nap. Virginia fussed a little, as if she still wanted to go walking, the relieved mother reported.

CHILD SERIOUSLY INJURED BY 18-FOOT FALL AT HOME

Doris Jane Phillips, 2 years old, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Phillips, suffered serious head injuries yesterday when she fell from a window of her home at 5352A Patton avenue. She was taken to Homer G. Phillips Hospital.

Her mother told police the girl apparently pulled a box to a bedroom window, unlatched the screen and fell 18 feet to a concrete walk.

FIRM WITHDRAWS IN HEALTH CENTER DESIGN DISPUTE

The firm of Hellmuth, Obata & Kassabaum, Inc. withdrew today as project architect for the proposed $764,913 St. Louis county health center building as a result of a dispute over the design of the new structure.

Announcement of the withdrawal was made by George F. Hellmuth, senior partner of the firm, following a conference with county officials and L. Roy Bowen, thes upervising architect. He said his firm was waiving costs of $5385 already incurred in preliminary plans.

Objections were raised to the preliminary design by Bowen and Dr. Herbert R. Domke, county health commissioner, who said the design differed radically from master plans. The controversy was described by a principal as "a clash of personalities."

The County Council previously had passed a resolution authorizing the county to enter into a contract with the firm of Jamieson, Spearl, Hammond & Grolock to serve as project engineers.

COUNTY YOUTH FINED $15 FOR RECKLESS DRIVING

Edward A. Overby Jr., 18 years old, 2543 Gerhard avenue, Maplewood, was fined $15 and had his driver's license suspended for six months today by Magistate Leslrie T. Lewis at Clayton when Overby pleaded guilty of careless and reckless driving on Manchester road May 31.

The St. Louis county officer who arrested Overby said he had to drive 100 miles an hour to catch the youth. A county charge of speeding was dismissed when Overby's attorney pointed out the arrest occurred in the town of Des Peres. Overby was among the teenagers questioned in connection with the log "bombing" of a Missouri Highway Patrol car May 27.

In another case involving a youth questioned in the log incident, Magistrate Lewis today dismissed a charge against Charles W. Hagemann, 18, of 7572 Council place, Richmond Heights. Hagemann was charged with operating a motor scooter without a proper license plate on U.S. Highway 40 last May 20. His attorney pointed out that such a charge could only be lodged against the motor scooter's owner. The owner was said to be Reginald H. Drant, 18, 4 Ladue Hils, Olivette, who was indicted in the log-dropping case.

DR. CATHERINE J. CARROLL GIVEN POLIO FELLOWSHIP

Dr. Catherine Jane Carroll, 320 South Gore avenue, Webster Groves, has received a $5500 March of Dimes fellowship in medicine and related biological and physical sciences from the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, it was announced today.

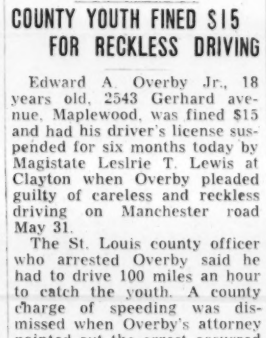

Dr. Carroll, a pediatrician, recently began studying under the one-year postdoctoral fellowship at the department of epidemiology of the University of Michigan School of Public Health. The award was made upon recommendation of a national committee of medical educators in the basic science and clinical fields.

BURGLARS BREAK DOOR, GO AWAY AND RETURN FOR $121

A gasoline service station at 8224 South Broadway was entered early today by burglars who first broke the glass on the front door and drove away, then returned 10 minutes later to steal a safe containing $121, police reported.

Charles Dames of 8213 South Broadway told officers he saw three young men drive into the station and break the glass. He then saw them return, enter the office, remove the safe and speed east on Davis avenue, he said.

Estimate of the amount in the safe was made by William Jerritt, owner of the station.

ANTI-DELINQUENT DRIVE MAPPED BY BUSINESS GROUPS

County Chambers of Commerce to Seek Better Laws on Youth Crime.

A proposal for a business men's attack on juvenile delinquency in the St. Louis area was approved at a meeting held last night by the Council of Chambers of Commerce of St. Louis county.

The council, in session at University City Chamber of Commerce, 6653 Enright avenue, voted to appoint an area-wide committee of chamber of commerce representatives to work on better laws on youth crime in co-operation with the offices of the St. Louis circuit attorney and the St. Louis county prosecuting attorney.

Names of persons to serve on the council's juvenile delinquency committee will be proposed at the council's next meeting, Aug. 15, by Otto W. Scheiterle, executive secretary of the Clayton Chamber of Commerce, and by Maplewood Mayor Sterling P. Davidson Jr., a member of the Metropolitan St. Louis Chamber of Commerce.

The metropolitan chamber is an honorary member of the council, which comprises 12 county chambers of commerce and the St. Louis county chamber.

Scheiterle urged creation of the council's youth crime unit after talks by St. Louis County Prosecuting Attorney Edward W. Garnholz and Edward P. McSweeney, assistant to St. Louis Circuit Attorney Edward L. Dowd. The new committee, Scheiterle suggested, should be kept small in order that it not become unwieldy.

Parental Responsibility.

Garnholz and McSweeney agreed on need for laws holding parents financially responsible for actions of their children in traffic accidents and traffic law violations.

Both said the state's minimum driver's age should be raised from 16 to 17 on the ground that driving an automobile is an adult privilege and should not be granted to juveniles. Both called for uniform speed laws in the area.

McSweeney gave a report on views of witnesses who have appeared in the circuit court grand jury investigation of juvenile delinquency. As probable causes of crimes by young persons, he said, some witnesses have stressed inadequacies of parents and home environment and desire of some young criminals to see their names in the newspapers.

Other grand jury witnesses have reported they feel news reports of juvenile delinquency are essential to help alert a community to danger and cause it to take defensive action, McSweeney reported.

A stolen automobile was driven more than 80 miles an hour last night in a five-mile chase over downtown and south St. Louis streets by a 14-year-old boy who escaped a week ago from Missouri Hills, police reported. Three parked machines were sideswiped by the fleeing driver.

After smashing into the third car, in the 5200 block of Louisiana avenue, the boy, a Negro, jumped from the driver's seat and tried to hide under another parked automobile. He surrendered at pistol point to Traffic Patrolmen Albert Spaeth and Edward Thorne, his pursuers.

4 Stop Signs Violated.

Driving south in Twenty-second street toward Delmar boulevard, the officers saw the stolen machine and another car speeding east in Delmar. Both turned right at Twenty-second and sped south, violating four major stop signs at 40 miles an hour before the officers could pull abreast and order them to a halt at Twenty-second and Chestnut street.

There one driver, who said he was Norman Major, 19 years old, of the 2300 block of Division street, surrendered. As he was doing so, the 14-year-old drove away.

In Major's automobile were four juveniles, one of them a younger brother of the 14-year-old. All were Negroes.

Major contradicted the other driver's story that the machines were headed for a St. Louis county highway for a drag race, asserted he did not even know the 14-year-old and said he was trying to escape from him when caught by police.

The stolen machine had been reported missing from the 2200 block of O'Fallon street. When arrested before and sent to Missouri Hills, the city's correctional institution for boys, the 14-year-old had been booked delinquent by reason of automobile theft. He was again held for juvenile authorities on the same grounds.

Booked on Two Counts.

Major was booked for speeding and violating stop signs and is to appear in police court Aug. 1.

Indictments charging sodomy were returned yesterday by the circuit court grand jury against Robert J. Jansen and Donald R. Wagner, both 16 years old, arrested in connection with a June 26 attack on a 13-year-old girl in O'Fallon Park.

Both were indicted Friday for statutory rape, along with four other youths. Jansen lives in the 4200 block of Clay avenue and Wagner in the 5300 block of Labadie avenue.

Breaks Teeth, Sues City.

BUFFALO, N.Y. (UP)—Chester Wadrzyk maintained that, while operating a city truck, he put his head out the window to look for approaching traffic. As he did so, the vehicle struck two big holes in the street and his head was banged against the door frame. Wadrzyk put in a claim for $125 against the city. He said he suffered a broken lower denture and a damaged upper.

RUSSIA, RED BLOC TO SET UP CENTER FOR ATOM STUDIES

LONDON, July 12 (UP)—Russia and the other members of the Communist bloc have agreed to set up a joint institute of nuclear research in the Soviet Union to co-ordinate their atomic programs, the Moscow radio said today.

The broadcast said 11 nations made the agreement. They were Russia, Red China, Albania, Bulgaria, Hungary, East Germany, North Korea, Outer Mongolia, Poland, Romania and Czechoslovakia.

The broadcast did not say whether the institute would concentrate on the peaceful uses of atomic energy or whether nuclear weapons research also would be conducted there. It said two other laboratories and a cyclotron would be built to supplement the institute's work.

The cost of constructing the new projects and of carrying on research will be shared, the broadcast said.

Living Dangerously.

SCIO, Ore. (UP)—Local residents who have made use of Bohemian Hall here for several years probably wouldn't have danced with such carefree abandon or have run quite so hard in athletic contests had they known what was under the floor. A case of dynamite enough to blow up the building, was removed recently from under the building. It apparently was placed there 12 years ago after a Scio boy lost a hand in an explosion. Deputy Sheriff Wade Collins said the dynamite was almost directly under the stove.

UNION OFFICIAL CITES HARDSHIP IN SENIORITY LOSS

sued today, regarding the union's proposal follows:

"The latest proposal of the union is not in reality a proposal. It is part of a series of maneuvers to suggest to the public that the men who called this strike are now prevented by the company from ending it. The fact is that the union leaders yesterday restated their proposal of Tuesday and then went on to put a roadblock in the path of negotiations.

"They took up again a basic issue that by mutual agreement had been left to one side with the understanding that contract negotiations might proceed. This issue on the principle of company policy had been referred to attorneys for study looking toward arbitration.

"The throwing it back into contract discussion represents a deliberate attempt by the union to frustrate what appeared to be the possibilities of stopping the strike they deliberately called in spite of the company's offer to submit this issue to binding arbitration at the outset."

Another negotiation session was to be held this afternoon.

No new reports were received today of residences or businesses being out of gas, a company spokesman said An estimated 18,000 to 20,000 customers are without gas service in the city and county.

Six men and two foremen were sent by the union to repair a broken high-pressure main at 10873 Spring Garden drive, Glasgow Village. The broken main was reported by St. Louis county police.

Reports of Gas in Sewers.

At the hearing before Judge Holt yesterday, Burgess testified he had received numerous reports of natural gas in sewers, indicating a break in a gas main or a leak in a joint with gas seeping into the sewers.

This is a potentially hazardous situation because of the possibility of explosions, he said, adding that there had been reports of two fires in manholes, the most recent in St. John. If the 2200 company employes were not on strike, he said, some would be dispatched immediately to check the fires and find the leaks.

Without manpower, he said, "we call the fire department and ask them to put out the fire and ventilate the manholes."

The union's emergency crews investigated both fires and made necessary repairs to leading pipes.

Under direct examination by Assistant Attorney General Robert R. Welborn, Burgess said there are five main valves in the area at which virtually all the gas used in metropolitan St. Louis could be shut off. These valves are enclosed with high fences and the gates are locked. Some of the employes now on strike, he added, have keys to these gates.

At the suggestion of Judge Holt, the state and the union agreed to consolidate the state's suit for temporary and permanent injunctions, which in view of the immediacy of the case, would make the outcome appealable to the Missouri Supreme Court.

Union's Position.

Levin said if an injunction is granted union officials will have to tell their striking members the strike is over, but under their constitutional rights, he added, the workers would not have to return to work.

The union has been attempting to show that the King-Thompson Act does not apply to Laclede, because the company does interstate business in excess of $15,000,000, and the company consequently is in interstate commerce and thus comes under federal labor legislation.

Under cross examination, Burgess said that in addition to about 100 calls in 10 days reporting gas stoppage during normal operations, the company also usually receives hundreds of calls reporting gas odors in streets. Investigations of these latter calls, he said, are postponed for months some times.

Levin's questioning of the company official sought to show that the company is in no worse condition now, during the strike, than it is normally.

Burgess testified that under normal operations no crews are on duty or on standby duty from 12:30 a.m. until 7 a.m. each day.

He said he was unaware that the union had strike emergency crews on duty on a 24-hour basis. "I only read it in the newspapers," he said.

Another witness yesterday was Edward L. Horner, superintendent of production, who testified about the technical process of storing natural gas and pumping it into the distribution system.

Says Company Is Stalling.

At a meeting of strikers last night at 6141 Etzel avenue, Wellston, Appelbaum charged in a report on negotiations that:

"They (the company) are stalling, stalling—waiting for the courts to force us back to work. This is the work of an unfair law. We know our rights and we are going to win this strike. The company is only interested in breaking a good, fine union. They want to go back to the horse and buggy days of beating down labor."

The membership gave their negotiators a unanimous vote of confidence and a standing ovation. Another meeting was scheduled for tomorrow night at 7 o'clock in the same place.

In Jefferson City, Gov. Phil M. Donnelly declined to say what the state's next move would be.

"We are waiting to see what develops at the injunction hearing," he said. State Attorney General John M. Dalton said, "We are doing everything possible to get the men back to work. Suits for additional penalties against the union and its officials will be filed soon."

Last Saturday the state filed suits for $35,000 in penalties against the union and its officers under provisions of the King-Thompson act.

PRESIDENT GOING TO CONVENTION IN SAN FRANCISCO

President made "it clear" this morning that Nixon is his choice.

"Absolutely," Hall replied.

As for the President's health, Hall said, "nothing has been kept from the American people."

The health issue, he said, had been met "by candor and frankness" on the part of the President, and White House aids who have kept the people in touch through the press with the "daily condition of the President's health."

As for the Democrats making health an issue, Hall said he had seen that some "gentlemen of the opposition party" themselves disagree with Democratic national chairman Paul M. Butler and others that health can be an issue.

"You can't beat candor," Hall said.

He said he saw no reason why Mr. Eisenhower should reaffirm his Feb. 29 decision, after his heart attack, to run for a second term.

"To my mind he made the announcement then, and that was it," Hall added.

There had been some question about Mr. Eisenhower's second term intentions after an attack of ileitis necessitated an emergency operation June 9. But the President gave the word Tuesday, through Senate Republican leader William F. Knowland, that he is still in the race.

Hall was in good spirits and full of confidence at the press conference in downtown Gettysburg. He drove to the temporary White House press room from the President's farm with Hagerty.

Hall was asked how the President looked.

"All right . . . good . . . very good," he replied.

This was Hall's first meeting with the President since just before Mr. Eisenhower's recent illness.

Sitting in on the discussion with Hall and Mr. Eisenhower were two presidential aids, Sherman Adams and Hagerty.

Before talking with Hall, Mr. Eisenhower conferred with Adams and Harold E. Stassen, his assistant on disarmament matters. Hagerty said Stassen would have something to say, as a result, sometime tomorrow afternoon in Washington.

Hall flew here from Washington this morning. Hagerty took him immediately by car to Mr. Eisenhower's country estate some four miles from the airport.

Hall was wearing a gold "Ike" button in his lapel and carrying a large manila envelope. Asked what was in it, he told reporters: "Oh, just a couple of scribbled notes."

Mansfield Criticizes President's Method of Announcement.

WASHINGTON, July 12 (AP) — Senator Mike Mansfield (Dem.), Montana, last night criticized the way in which President Eisenhower's second term intentions were made known.

Mansfield said in a television program entitled "Press Conference," that Mr. Eisenhower's decision to run again has been revealed by a number of prominent Republicans other than himself. He added:

"He should get away from the idea of telling the American people what his plans and decisions are through intermediaries."

Mansfield spoke also of Mr. Eisenhower relaying information through a "Praetorian Guard in the White House."

Asked if he thought Democrats would attempt to label Mr. Eisenhower as a "part-time President" in the coming campaign, Mansfield said, "It will be an issue though I will not raise it."

Mansfield, who is a vice chairman of the Democratic National Committee, said the people were "going to weigh the possibility" that if Mr. Eisenhower's health "doesn't hold up . . . he will be succeeded by Mr. Nixon."

Asked if he, as a Democrat, would prefer Vice President Nixon on or off the G.O.P. ticket, Mansfield's one-word reply was, "On."

RUSSIA ACCEPTS WEST'S PROPOSAL TO LIMIT FORCES

note dangerous military movements.

He rejected the western concept of associating stages of universal disarmament with the settlement of existing international disputes, placing the blame for unrest at the door of the West, particularly United States.

Among those problems, he listed the unification of Germany, support of Nationalist China in opposition to the Communist mainland government, "interference of the United States" in Viet Nam; rivalries between India and Pakistan and the maintenance of "British-American monopolies in the Middle East."

Reviews Thesis.

"The peoples cannot allow disarmament to be made dependent on the fulfillment of political demands for certain governments which put forward the solution of other political questions on lines favorable for them as a precondition of reaching an agreement on disarmament," Gromyko said.

Gromyko reviewed in detail the Kremlin disarmament thesis, saying it held that nations "assume a solemn obligation" not to use nuclear weapons and to agree on prohibition of their production, the elimination of all present stockpiles and the end of experimental atomic tests.

"Are these proposals of the Soviet Union directed against anyone?" Gromyko asked rhetorically. "No. They do not threaten the security of any state. They correspond to the interests and hopes of all people irrespective of their position and convictions. It is our direct duty to justify these hopes."

In saying Russia would agree with manpower limits proposed by the West, he suggested the ultimate goal for Britain and France would be 650,000, with a first cut to 750,000.

Lodge Replies.

In sharp retort, Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., expressed his resentment of what he said was Gromyko's "scurrilous attack" on the United States.

He said the Soviet diplomat has been guilty of misrepresenting facts and distorting quotations in the effort to hold non-Communist members of the commission responsible for the stalemate in arms reduction negotiations. The remarks were "unworthy" of a delegate of high rank, Lodge said.

Anthony Nutting of Britain and Jules Moch of France agreed with Lodge that the attack had not contributed to progress toward accord in the commission and like the American delegate saw little change in the position of Moscow as outlined by Gromyko.

Spokesmen for Canada, Australia, Peru, Nationalist China and Iran joined in rebuking Gromyko.

funds in the first year of expanded federal aid. This estimate is now being stepped up by more than 50 per cent.

The $121,000,000 program is still tentative. The commission explained that the proposed program purposely includes more projects than can be carried out in one year. This was done so that a backlog of ready-to-let improvements will be available to fall back on should some projects be delayed for lack of right-of-way or other reasons.

Route of the proposed new belt highway around St. Louis begins at the Chain of Rocks bridge, follows U. S. Highway 66-By-pass 40 to an intersection with Lindbergh boulevard just north of Lambert-St. Louis Field, then swings south, crossing the Mark Twain Expressway, and cutting through St. Louis county on a north-south line just west of Ballas road. After crossing the Daniel Boone and Ozark Expressways, it turns east to make a connection with the Jefferson Barracks bridge.

CHESTERFIELD MAN FOUND DEAD NEAR RAILROAD TRACK

Everett Jose of Chesterfield was found dead early today beside the Rock Island Railroad tracks near the Chesterfield depot, apparently killed by a passing freight train, St. Louis county police reported.

Everett, 46 years old, was last seen walking along the railroad tracks after visiting local taverns last night, according to police. The train did not stop.

SPARKMAN SAYS HOUSING BILL IS 'UP TO HOUSE'

Measure That He Guided Through Senate Is Stranded in Rules Committee.

WASHINGTON, July 12 (AP) —Senator John J. Sparkman (Dem.), Alabama, said today "it is up to the House," to rescue a multi-billion-dollar housing bill stranded in its Rules Committee.

Sparkman, chairman of a subcommittee on housing, guided the measure through the Senate earlier this year.

The bill, which provides authority for the huge FHA mortgage insurance, public housing, slum clearance, urban renewal and other federal housing programs, is stymied in the House Rules Committee, with time running out in this session of Congress.

A new housing bill was listed by Republican congressional leaders two days ago among the legislation they said President Eisenhower wants before Congress quits.

Senator Homer Capehart (Rep.), Indiana, yesterday reintroduced the same omnibus housing program the Senate has passed, except that he would substitute the President's low-rent public housing program for the much larger one the Senate approved.

The Senate public housing provision has been one of the main targets of critics who are keeping the bill in the House Rules Committee despite its approval by the House Banking Committee.

Capehart said he acted because "my conscience would not permit me to sit idly by, and not do something to save many important programs in this bill."

Capehart told a reporter, "I am sure the committee (Sparkman's group) will do something to bring this situation out of chaos, and give us something positive instead of negative. This makes it easy for the committee to act."

However, Sparkman said in a separate interview that "I don't anticipate" calling any hearings to consider the measures. "I don't see why the Senate should be called upon to act again," Sparkman said, adding: "It seems to me the next move is up to the House. If they don't do it, it seems to me the housing legislation has been killed for this Congress."

Sparkman said he has not changed from his previously announced intention to fight "any attempt to foist upon Congress a bare-bones or watered-down resolution to extend certain aspects of housing on a piecemeal basis."

Capehart's companion bills include one to authorize the Administration's program to construct 35,000 low rental public housing units a year for two years. The Senate voted for 135,000 units over about five years, with a provision empowering the President to cut the volume to 50,000 units a year, or boost it to 200,000 a year, depending on the nation's economy.

Capehart's other bills would extend for six months the big military housing and FHA housing improvement loan programs, as a means to keep them alive until the new Congress can act.

NEW PAINLESS IODINE STOPS INFECTION FAST!

SO GENTLE THAT BANDAGING IS RECOMMENDED!

"My son, Brian, used to run screaming from Iodine. Now he asks for non-burning ISODINE. Nothing like it—ever before." (J.A.—amazed mother)

"No tears! No flinching! Instead, just like putting water on." (M.K.—father of 4)

ISODINE has been tested in hospitals, under doctors' supervision, in babies' throat infections, in bone surgery, and on over 3,971 patients. A famous surgeon's report: "Effects were dramatic. We consider ISODINE the antiseptic of choice."

WON'T BURN OR STING THE WOUND! NO POISON LABEL! SAFE . . . EVEN IF SWALLOWED ACCIDENTALLY!

Revolutionary ISODINE, the full potency antiseptic . . . containing the new "complexed" iodine . . . soothes wounds, promotes healing like no other antiseptic does! Laboratory-tested and proved up to 40 times faster than two leading antiseptics in killing germs.

Doctors hail ISODINE Antiseptic because:

1. ISODINE does not irritate or blister skin,
2. You can safely bandage over ISODINE
3. ISODINE retains full potency.

Works continuously against infection! Applied as a liquid there is no pain. ISODINE forms a brown film over the injury. This ISODINE film protects continuously. Lasts as long as the color remains.

Why You Should Get ISODINE Today: Ordinary iodine loses germ-killing potency—deteriorates on the shelf. Other antiseptics fail to protect, so infection develops. ISODINE is full-potency when you buy it—gives full protection every time!

FIVE ON A MOTORCYCLE

POMONA, Calif., July 12 (AP) — The five members of the Cecil Bradley family have left on a 4500-mile summer vacation trip to Farlin, Ia., on the same motorcycle, and carrying cooking and camping equipment.

Bradley drives and Mrs. Bradley sits on the rear seat. Cecil Jr., 11 years old, Fred 5, and Jackie, 15, ride in a sidecar. A trunk straped on the back of the sidecar contains sleeping bags, groceries, various equipment and a stove.

EFFORTS TO END BRIDGE TOLL ARE BEATEN IN ALTON

Minority on City Council Voted Down — Missouri Plans Supreme Court Case.

Several efforts by a minority of the Alton City Council to abolish an ordinance providing for collection of tolls on the Clark bridge over the Mississippi river were voted down last night at a meeting of the council.

A resolution to abolish the tolls, which have been collected by a court-appointed receiver since June 30, when the bridge was to have been transferred by St. Charles county to the state of Missouri, was introduced last night by Alderman William Parker, but it was ruled out of order.

Parker sought a suspension of rules in order to bring his proposal to a vote, but a majority of the council voted the suspension down. He then offered another resolution for an ordinance to be brought before the council at its next meeting in two weeks. This also was defeated. An overflow crowd attended the meeting last night.

Move by Missouri.

The Missouri Highway Commission, meanwhile, dismissed its suit in United States District Court at Springfield, Ill., to enjoin the city of Alton from collecting tolls on the bridge, and announced the dispute would be taken to the United States Supreme Court.

Robert L. Hyder, general counsel for the commission, said a check of the law had convinced him that where a controversy was between two states, or between a state and citizens of another state, the jurisdiction is in the Supreme Court

Action in the country's highest court will be directed against the bridge's receiver, Paul D. Davey, appointed by the Alton city court; attorneys for the receiver; the city of Alton, and the city court where the receivership originated, Hyder said.

$1000 Daily in Tolls.

"The city of Alton has been collecting $1000 a day in tolls since June 30, and is not in any way entitled to it," Hyder said. "The bridge belongs to the state of Missouri."

Seizure of the bridge property in Illinois was under an injunction issued by Alton City Judge I. H. Streeper, ordering St. Charles county court not to transfer title to the bridge to the Missouri Highway Commission and not to discontinue tolls.

The transfer and toll discontinuance were provided in a contract between St. Charles county and the Highway Commission approved by the county court last June 5. The actions were in line with the county's promise in 1936, when it bought the bridge for $2,757,000, to free it of tolls after purchase bonds were retired.

Handbills advising residents of Alton to protest collection of tolls on the bridge were distributed in Alton this week. The bills were signed by the Citizens' Protest Committee of Madison and St. Charles counties."

Alton Mayor Leo Struif, In an open letter to residents of Alton made public last night, announced his opposition to discontinuance of tolls on the bridge.

"Instead of giving the city of Alton and the Illinois Highway Department a free bridge," the letter stated, "they (St. Charles county and the Missouri Highway Commission) propose to dump into the laps of the taxpayers of Alton the $1,000,000 problem of providing adequate bridge approaches and the expensive solution of the attendant traffic problem."

"Representatives of the city of Alton more than four years ago and frequently since then have requested the assistance of Missouri authorities in working out these problems. These resolutions and requests were ignored," Struif said.

JOINT COMMUNIQUE URGES TALKS ON KOREA QUESTION

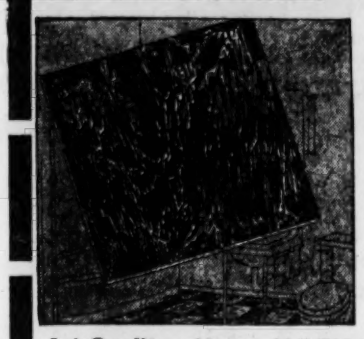

LONDON, July 12 (UP)—The Moscow radio today reported the signing of a Soviet-North Korean communique calling for an international conference of interested nations to work out a "peaceful settlement of the Korean question."

The communique, signed by North Korean Premier Kim Il Sung and Soviet Prime Minister Bulganin, called for the withdrawal of all foreign troops from Korean territory.

Top Soviet officials attending the signing ceremony included President Klementi Voroshilov, former Premier Georgi Malenkov, Foreign Minister Dmitri Shepilov and his predecessor, V. M. Molotov, and others.

GERMAN SOCIALISTS URGE TIES WITH EAST

Party Approves Platform That Would End Draft, NATO Membership.

MUNICH, Germany, July 12 (AP)—The Socialist party yesterday demanded that West Germany loosen its military ties with the West and strengthen diplomatic relations with the East to end the deadlock over reunification.

The annual convention of West Germany's major opposition party approved a series of resolutions calling for complete reshaping of the foreign and military policies of the pro-western government of Chancellor Adenauer.

Led by Chairman Erich Ollenhauer, the resolutions charged that Adenauer's belief that the cold war was still on had let Germany into a blind alley.

In his keynote speech, Ollenhauer said that chances of a settlement with Russia were never better. But, he added, the Bonn government preferred to push on with rearmament despite signs of improvement in the international situation. He urged a policy of international understanding instead of trading sharp words.

Ollenhauer won overwhelming support of the convention for his platform for next year's general election:

1. Abolition of the conscription law just passed by the Bundestag.

2. Reduction of Big Four forces in Germany and a limit on the national forces of the two parts of Germany.

3. Revision of the Paris treaties making West Germany a member of NATO to ease the way to Russian acceptance of reunification.

4. Promotion of closer diplomatic and trade relations with Russia, the satellite states and Red China.

5. Widening of day-to-day ntacts with East Germany, without recognition of its Communist regime.

There were some demands from the floor for direct contact between Bonn and the East Zone regime, as proposed by Russia. These were rejected after Ollenhauer said that the Socialists would never co-operate with the East German Communist party.

Deputy chairman Fritz Erler declared that it was Russia, and not the western powers, which was opposing reunification. Therefore, he said, it was necessary to talk to Moscow, not to the satelliite regime of East Germany. But these talks should only take place with the agreement of the western powers, he added.

'POZNAN-LIKE' CZECH RIOT REPORTED IN GERMAN PRESS

VIENNA, July 12 (AP)—Reports of a "Poznan-like" strike and demonstration in the Czechoslovak city of Gottwaldov were published by West German newspapers today. Czech authorities reached by telephone from Vienna denied them.

The reports, printed chiefly in Bonn and Munich, declared four persons were killed, 13 injured and 30 arrested in unrest at a shoe factory and elsewhere in Gottwaldov, a Moravian industrial center that was known as Zlin before the Communists took over Czechoslovakia.

A spokesman at police headquarters in Gottwaldov said: "This is not true. There is no unrest in Gottwaldov or anywhere else in Moravia. Come and see for yourself."

New Ship for Portugal.

FIGUEIRA DA FOZ, Portugal, July 12 (AP) — Portugal has a new 329-ton coast guard vessel, United States-designed but built here under the United States offshore procurement program and turned over to the Portuguese Navy.

BRITAIN UNLIKELY TO HANG ANYONE AS LAW STAYS

The New York Times News Service.
(Copyright, 1956, by the New York Times Co.)

LONDON, July 12—Gwilym Lloyd-George, home secretary, is expected to continue to recommend reprieves for convicted murderers, it was forecast yesterday. Murderers under sentence of death on Feb. 16 when the House of Commons voted to introduce legislation abolishing the death penalty, or condemned subsequently, have been reprieved.

Although the House of Lords Tuesday rejected the House of Commons' bill, the Home Secretary has the power of recommending reprieves to the Queen. It now seems he will continue to exercise that right, without however announcing that all murderers will be automatically reprieved.

The anti-hanging bill can be reintroduced in the House of Commons next fall and if passed it will become law without the approval of the House of Lords.

RED-LED FARM UPRISINGS REPORTED IN SOUTH INDIA

MADRAS, India, July 12 (AP)—Farm uprisings led by Red-shirted Communists were reported to the Madras government today by authorities in the Tiruchirappalli district of southern India.

About 200 farm laborers marched into marshlands and destroyed young rice plants, the reports said. Armed police rushed to the scene and arrested 11 persons.

The Communist-led laborers were said to be demanding 60 per cent of the produce. An agreement between landlords and laborers last year provided the laborer and landlords would divide the produce 50-50 when the landlord furnished seeds and fertilizer.

BABY KIDNAPING NOTE WAS SIGNED BY 'BABY SITTER'

Police, However, Think Adult Wrote It — Only Maids Had Cared for Children.

WESTBURY, N.Y., July 12 (UP)—New information about the note left when little Peter Weinberger was kidnaped July 4 was revealed today by the Nassau county chief of detectives, Stuyvesant Pinnell.

The Federal Bureau of Investigation, which has been consulted from the start, officially entered the case yesterday under the Lindbergh law which presumes that after seven days in a kidnaping that the abductors have crossed a state line, making it a federal case.

Pinnell said the note left when the baby was snatched from the patio of the home, was signed "your baby sitter." Pinnell pointed out that the Weinbergers had never had a baby sitter, even for their other son, Lewis, 2½ years old. He said, however, that the family had hired maids who also cared for the children.

He hazarded a guess that the kidnaper might be someone who worked in the neighborhood and knew of the Weinberger baby.

Pinnell said the note was "well written" and "obviously prepared." "I think it's a real grown-up person who wrote the note," he added.

Nothing Encouraging.

"Frankly there's nothing encouraging," Pinnell answered when questioned about other aspects of the abduction.

Pinnell refused to guess whether the writer of the ransom note was a man or woman. He said the note, over 35 words in length, was examined by several handwriting experts who disagreed as to the age and sex of the writer.

He pointed out the note contained instructions to drop $2000 ransom money at Albermarle road and Park avenue, approximately a half block from the Weinberger home, but omitted any instructions for recovering or picking up the baby.

Pinnell said that during their investigation police got the impression that the person who kidnaped the baby knew it was the Weinberger baby and not just any baby.

Pinnell said he still has possession of the ransom note but expected FBI agents to examine it today.

Separate Inquiries.

Nassau county police said there would be no slackening of their own investigation because the FBI was active in the case. The investigations will be separate but co-ordinated, the police said.

David Holman, an uncle of Mrs. Betty Weinberger, said the family had not abandoned hope of getting the baby back alive. The infant was four weeks old when kidnaped.

"The Weinbergers are hopeful," Holman said. "They haven't left the house except to answer hoax telephone calls since the kidnaping.

"Every time the phone rings they have a gleam of hope.

"The Weinbergers just want to get the baby back. What happens after that doesn't interest the family. They are holding up very well."

Mrs. Weinberger, who had already been deceived by at least four false tips from cranks or extortionists, again left their white ranch-style home in a station wagon yesterday morning. The care-worn 32-year-old mother returned about 45 minutes later, apparently the victim of another hoax.

Third Arrest Made.

Brooklyn police made a third arrest in the case yesterday when they seized Mrs. Shirley Ginsberg, 33, who phoned the Weinbergers that Peter could be found "at 114 Main street, Stamford, Conn."

Mrs. Ginsberg admitted to having been a mental patient in two institutions. She was held in $25,000 bail for a hearing July 26.

Police searched in vain the First Methodist church which occupies the address in Stamford. The church had already been searched once before as a result of a hoax call.

Two unemployed men in Queens were arrested Monday for luring Mrs. Weinberger to a false rendevous for her child. They will be charged with attempted extortion and giving false information about a kidnaping. Both could be sentenced to a possible 25 years in prison.

Another hoax telephone call came from Indianapolis where a man who said his name was Dewey Taylor, a private investigator from Texas, claimed he had "information." He disappeared before Indianapolis police could arrest him.

Police revealed that the family received seven hoax calls on Sunday and Monday, 17 on Tuesday and still more yesterday.

ITALIAN CHAMBER PASSES OIL RESERVE CONTROL BILL

ROME, July 12 (AP)—Italy's Chamber of Deputies last night passed a controversial bill to control use of potential oil resources. The vote was 336 to 71. It must also be approved by the Senate. Only opposition came from the far right.

Backed by Premier Segni's coalition Cabinet, the measure sets government royalties on any oil find on a sliding scale. They vary, depending on production from each well, from 2½ to 22 per cent of the well's gross income. Top royalties would apply to wells with an output of more than 256 tons a day.

RABBIS RETURN, SAY RUSSIA EASES UP ON ANTI-SEMITISM

NEW YORK, July 12 (AP)—Three New York rabbis returned today from two weeks in Russia and said Jews in Russia apparently are experiencing more freedom than during the Stalin regime.

"We were impressed by the fact that anti-Semitism, which was indescribably great during the Stalin regime, has apparently been eased by the new regime," Dr. Emanuel Rackman, spokesman for the rabbis said.

"The people seem relieved and less affected and less afraid to talk of their religion and talk with their religious leaders," Dr. Rackman, president of the New York Board of Rabbis, said.

DEPUTY PREMIER OF ITALY ASKS TO BE RELIEVED

Party He Heads in Ruling Coalition Has Had Dispute With Segni.

ROME, July 12 (AP)—Deputy Premier Giuseppe Saragat, leader of the Social Democrat party, said today he has asked to be relieved from his government post as soon as possible.

He gave no reasons, but told reporters he informed Premier Segni of his wish yesterday in a conference of party heads in the center coalition government.

The meeting was called to iron out a dispute between Segni's Christian Democrats and Saragat's Social Democrats, second largest party in the four-party coalition. The dispute was over the Mayor of Milan.

Social Democrat Virgilio Ferrari was elected Mayor there, with Communist support, against a Christian Democrat candidate.

The Christian Democrat newspaper Il Popolo called for him to resign, as Saragat himself had called for the resignation of Christian Democrat Senator Umberto Tupini, elected Mayor of Rome a week earlier with unasked support of Monarchists and Fascists.

Tupini resigned, but was re-elected later, still with some rightist votes but without the solid support of the Right to which the Social Democrats had objected.

After the coalition meeting yesterday, a communique said Segni "had verified the common wish of the parties to continue in the present collaboration."

That sounded as if at least a truce had been reached.

Segni has pledged his government not to seek alliances either with the Communist Left or with the Monarchist-Fascist Right.

STEVENSON STARTS SWING INTO NEW ENGLAND STATES

CHICAGO, July 12 (UP)—Adlai E. Stevenson took off for Montreal this morning on the first leg of a three-day swing into New England states to woo support for his Democratic presidential bid.

Stevenson was scheduled to drive from Montreal to Burlington, Vt., with the Mayor of Burlington, Edward J. Moran.

Stevenson will meet with Hampshire Democrats at Conway, N.H., tomorrow, and spend tomorrow night in Camden, Me.

After attending a clambake in his honor at Pemaquid, Me., Saturday night Stevenson will fly back to Chicago.

A quick trip to Washington July 19 for a farewell dinner for Senator Walter George (Dem.), Georgia, will be followed by a trip to the West. He will address the Colorado State Democratic convention at Boulder July 20, and later that day is scheduled to meet with Wyoming Democratic leaders at Cheyenne.

BULLET CUTS POWER LINE, MOTHER AND SON KILLED

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa, July 12 (UP)—A mother and her 14-year-old son were killed here yesterday because the youth shot at a bird.

The shot from Gerhardus Cronje's rifle hit an 11,000-volt power line on which the bird was sitting. The line broke, fell to the ground, and ignited some dry grass.

Mrs. C. J. Cronje was electrocuted when she threw a bucket of water on the flames. Her son was killed when he panicked and fell across the fallen wire.

NASSER ARRIVES IN YUGOSLAVIA FOR STATE VISIT

To Confer With Tito on World Problems — Nehru to Join Them Later.

BELGRADE, July 12 (AP)—Egypt's President Gamal Abdel Nasser arrived here by plane today for an eight-day state visit. President Josip (Tito) Broz welcomed him at the airport.

They will confer on international problems and later meet with India's Prime Minister Nehru, another visitor to Yugoslavia.

Nasser's trip returns the visit Tito made to Egypt last December.

The three government leaders are expected to meet July 17-18 on the island of Brioni. Egypt's Middle East news agency said earlier this week the top subject of their discussions would be efforts by countries still under foreign domination to achieve full independence.

The agency said "obviously then, the Algerian problem will figure prominently on the agenda." It added that it is believed they will "warn France that her present policy in North Africa constitutes a direct threat to world peace and runs against the principles of the U.N. charter."

Tito and Nasser last night exchanged messages of friendship.

Tito's message, addressed to the Egyptian people, predicted the talks would "provide for further deepening of friendship and all-around co-operation between Egypt and Yugoslavia."

The official Yugoslav news agency Tanjug said Nasser had been elected an honorary citizen of Belgrade and would be presented the charter of the freedom of the city tomorrow.

J.L. SULLIVAN URGES LIMIT ON SECURITY INVESTIGATIONS

Investigation of federal employes to determine whether they are security risks should be limited to those agencies and positions which are deemed to be vulnerable or sensitive, James L. Sullivan, a candidate for the Democratic nomination for United States Representative from the Second District, said last night.

Sullivan, a lawyer and former Treasury agent, spoke at a meeting of the St. Louis unit of the National Federation of Federal Employes at Albrecht's Hall, 3549 Arsenal street. Terming the question of maximum security versus individual employes' rights "very vexing," he said:

"While the security of the Government most certainly must be protected, it also is important that the individual employes be free from unwarranted attacks through unnecessary investigations. The particular employe has, at present, no right of confrontation and must once the investigation is started, take up the fight to clear himself of an uncertain guilt. In my opinion, he never can remove the inference drawn by the public from the mere fact of the investigation."

NEGRO METHODIST LEADERS ATTENDING MEETING HERE

About 100 leaders of Negro Methodist churches from 15 midwestern and southern states are attending a two-day conference, today and tomorrow, at Union Memorial Methodist Church, Pine boulevard and Leffingwell avenue.

They represent the St. Louis area of the Central Jurisdiction of the Methodist Church, and include district superintendents and chairmen of church boards and commissions.

Bishop Matthew W. Clair Jr. of the St. Louis area is presiding.

The conference was scheduled to discuss integration in the Methodist Church at a special session at 11 a.m. tomorrow. Workshops were being held today on evangelism, women's work, missions, education, finance, temperance, lay activities, and youth programs.

GALE F. JOHNSTON TO WORK FOR HENNINGS'S BACKERS

Appointment of Gale F. Johnston, vice chairman of the board of Mercantile Trust Co., as treasurer of the Greater St. Louis Citizens for Hennings Committee was announced today by Richard C. Muckerman, chairman.

Muckerman said Johnston's willingness to serve with the group backing re-election of United States Senator Thomas C. Hennings Jr. indicates the wide support in St. Louis for the Democratic incumbent.

It also was announced that headquarters for the citizens' group will be opened Saturday at 7909 Forsyth boulevard, Clayton. There will be a public reception from 4 to 6 p.m. in connection with the opening.

275 POLIO CASES REPORTED

WASHINGTON, July 12 (AP)—The Public Health Service said today 275 polio cases were reported last week, 19 more than the preceding week but 130 fewer than the corresponding week last year. Of the new cases, 129 were listed as being of the paralytic type. In the comparable week last year, there were 170 paralytic type cases.

For the disease year which begins in April, there have been 2931 cases against 3048 in the similar period last year.

Bad Luck Story.

NEWFANE, N.Y. (UP)—John McNeil will remember from now on the old saw about a cat crossing his path. He accidentally shot himself in the right foot when he stepped on a cat while practicing with a .22 caliber rifle in his backyard.

1000 SAIL FROM ARGENTINA FOR COMMUNIST HOMELANDS

BUENOS AIRES, July 12 (AP)—About 1000 Russians, White Russians, Poles and Czechs, who have been living and working for years in Argentina, sailed today for their Communist-ruled homelands.

This was the third sailing in three months of persons who have heeded published Communist promises that they will find homes and work in their specific fields behind the Iron Curtain. The first two ships transported about 2200 returnees.

An army spokesman told reporters the mass departures have aroused the "preoccupation" of Argentine authorities. Most of those leaving, he said, are needed to work in Argentine cotton and wine growing areas.

D. T. M'CLANAHAN CALLS RIVAL TOO INEXPERIENCED

Circuit Attorney Candidate Says He Would Offer Eagleton Job as Assistant.

Donald T. McClanahan, candidate for the Democratic nomination for circuit attorney, charged last night that Thomas F. Eagleton, his principal opponent in the race, is "too young and inexperienced" to handle the legal complications of the office.

In a campaign speech before the Twenty-first Ward Democratic Organization at 4401 Fair avenue, McClanahan sharply criticized his 26-year-old opponent, who has the support of most of the party organizations, saying:

"I think this youngster would do well to seek an assignment as an assistant in some branch of public legal administration wherein he could acquire experience, instead of aspiring to start at the top."

McClanahan, who has served as an assistant circuit attorney more than three years, said that if he is elected circuit attorney he will offer Eagleton a job as an assistant on his staff. He added that he thought Eagleton would make an "apt pupil."

Cites Contributions.

McClanahan also charged that Eagleton "has been made my chief opponent by his millionaire father," who is Mark D. Eagleton, an attorney, a former president of the St. Louis police board and an unsuccessful candidate for the Democratic nomination for Mayor.

"Naturally there is no tangible proof that my chief opponent is utilizing his father's unlimited funds to back his campaign," McClanahan asserted. "However, it appears he is making an attempt to buy the nomination by making heavy financial contributions to some power-hungry politicians who are not keeping faith with the rank and file of their ward organizations."

He contended young Eagleton would be merely a "figurehead" if elected, and that older men picked by the politicians would take over the office. That would mean, McClanahan said, that the "efficient system of operation" established by Circuit Attorney Edward L. Dowd, who is supporting McClanahan as his successor, would give way to the political spoils system.

Answers Charges.

Eagleton, who also attended the meeting, discarded his prepared speech to answer McClanahan's charges.

"Apparently the complexion of this campaign has radically changed," he said. "Instead of discussing how the office should be conducted, candidates are making reckless, insidious and blasphemous charges."

Declaring his father has had no part in the campaign, Eagleton denied that "any money has been offered, promised or given to any member of the city committee or to any other political leader in my behalf." He said he would "commit political suicide rather than sit back and take these insidious remarks which were hatched in the backroom of McClanahan's office."

Speaking on his qualificatons, he said he would stand on his background and training, and match it against those of any other candidate in the race. He also flatly refused McClanahan's offer for an assistant's job, saying he would not accept it under any circumstances.

DELEGATION LED BY TOP WOMAN RED ARRIVES IN LONDON

LONDON, July 12 (UP)—Russia's top woman Communist arrived by air today at the head of a delegation of 16 Soviet parliamentary deputies who will tour Britain at the invitation of the British Interparliamentary Union.

She is Ekaterina Furtseva, only woman member of the Soviet presidium—Russia's supreme executive council—and a personal friend of Nikita S. Khrushchev. She was accompanied by her 14-year old daughter, Svetliana.

Two Ilyushin transport aircraft brought the visitors from Moscow.

Mrs. Furtseva read a statement expressing the "heartfelt gratitude" of the Russian delegation for the invitation to Britain. She spoke of the affinity between Russia and the country of "Newton, Shakespeare and Byron."

KARST ASSAILS 'ENORMOUS G.O.P. FAVORS' FOR UTILITIES

The Republican Administration has cost taxpayers "millions of dollars, through its policies on 'giveaways' and special favors to public utilities," former Congressman Raymond W. Karst, a candidate for the Democratic nomination for United States Representative from the Second District, asserted last night.

Speaking at a meeting of the Regular Fourteenth Ward Democratic Organization at 3166 South Grand boulevard, Karst said both electric and gas utilities have received "enormous favors at the hands of the G.O.P."

"This is more than a giveaway," he said. "It is the 'big payoff'—a return for the tens of millions of dollars with which business and industry backed the G.O.P. in the 1952 election."

KIDNAPING CHARGE AGAINST TENNESSEE MAN DROPPED

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., July 12—A kidnaping charge against Richard Collins, a herb salesman of Nashville, Tenn., was dropped here yesterday by United States District Attorney Osro Cobb.

Collins had been accused of abducting Mrs. Lynn V. Ray, 19 years old, formerly of St. Louis, and her 8-month-old son. In August 1955, Mrs. Ray was sentenced to six months in the St. Louis City Workhouse but paroled after she pleaded guilty to a charge of smuggling hacksaw blades to her husband while he was in the city jail there.

After her arrest Saturday at Poplar Bluff with Collins, Mrs. Ray corroborated his story that he was giving her a ride from North Little Rock to St. Louis at her request. Ray, who used a fictitious name in seeking a kidnaping warrant against Collins, is being sought now on a charge of interstate car theft. Mrs. Ray was held at Poplar Bluff for St. Louis authorities as a parole violater.

THE NEW CHAMPION OF CONVENIENCE

New No-Deposit QUART Bottles keep beer COOL 93% longer

FOR FOLKS who want the convenience of a container that you don't take back, new Party-Size Quart Bottles are one of the nicest things that's ever happened for enjoyment of beer and ale at their best.

Let your own taste prove what scientists have confirmed in the laboratory. Beer or ale in the new Party-Size Quart Bottle has it all over other nonreturnable containers . . . for cold-retention, for lip-smacking flavor. For instance, these big Party Quart Bottles keep your favorite brand cool 93% longer than 12-ounce cans. It's easy to make the test yourself.

Glass pampers the flavor peak of fine beers and ales. Prove this, too. Just let your favorite beer or ale aerate by bubbling freely down the neck of the bottle, over the bottle's clean lip, straight into a glass. Let it form its natural head. The first refreshing sip tells you how important a bottle is to beer's protection . . . how important the neck of a bottle is to beer's flavor.

Party-Size Quart Bottles are the "life" of the party—5 glasses of your favorite beer at its best. If you are like most hosts, the Party-Size Quart Bottle will be your favorite for serving guests. These big bottles keep beer within the just-right 40- to 50-degree temperature range far longer than when each person has a separate small container.

Serve these PARTY-SIZE GLASS BOTTLES this weekend – you don't have to take 'em back!

VATICAN PAPER SAYS CHURCH MUST PROTEST AUTO DEATHS

VATICAN CITY, July 12 (AP)—In an article headed "Thou Shalt Not Kill," the Vatican City weekly L'Osservatore Della Domenica today appealed for "Christian Conscience" to halt the rising toll of traffic deaths.

"The Fifth Commandment, Thou shalt not kill,' applies equally to crimes on the highways," the newspaper said. "Drivers must be directly responsible for accidents. In the absence of laws and in the sad but undeniable weakening of the civil conscience, it is the church which must raise its voice severely to repeat the command of God. 'Thou shalt not kill.'"

18 CATHOLIC GROUPS TO SHARE BEQUEST

16 St. Louis Area Institutions Mentioned in Joseph Sanders Will.

Eighteen Catholic institutions, most of them in the St. Louis area, will share in a charitable bequest of about $75,000 under the will of Joseph C. Sanders, former president of American Foundry & Manufacturing Co., who died July 3.

The will provided that 10 per cent of the estate, which has an estimated value of $750,000, be set aside and divided into 20 equal shares. One share each, valued at about $3750, was left to each of the following institutions:

Perpetual Help Parish, 2011 Linton street; Little Sisters of the Poor, 3225 North Florissant avenue; Father Dempsey's Hotel, 3427 Washington boulevard; Ozanam Shelter for Men, 3225 Montgomery street; Father Dunne's Newsboy's Home, 3010 Washington; Oblate Sisters of Providence, Normandy.

St. Mary's Girls Home, 4753 South Grand boulevard; St. Joseph's Institute for Deaf Mutes, Walton road; German St. Vincent Orphans Association, Normandy; St. Louis University; St. Joseph's Boys Home, 4753 South Grand; Mount St. Rose Hospital, 9101 South Broadway; St. Joseph's Parish, 1220 North Eleventh street; Society of Helpers of Holy Souls, 4012 Washington; Sister Servants of the Holy Ghost of Perpetual Adoration, 1438 East Warne avenue; Redemptorist Fathers, 1118 North Grand.

Two shares were left to Archbishop Joseph E. Ritter for the benefit of the Indian and Negro Mission and the Catholic University of America, Washington, D.C.

Two other shares were left under a personal bequest to the Rev. Andrew J. Deeman, S.J., of St. Regis College, Denver, Colo.

To his housekeeper, Mrs. Anna Marie Peters, Mr. Sanders left his home at 1948 Adelaide avenue, his automobiles, household furnishings and personal property, as reward for her care and service to his wife before her death.

The rest of his estate was divided into 100 shares, and distributed among relatives, the housekeeper and a friend. The largest of these bequests was made to a nephew, Joseph F. Teiber, 17 Biritz court, Bellefontaine Neighbors, who will receive 35 of the residuary shares. Mrs. Peters received the next largest bequest, 19 shares.

WAIT FOR NO WAITING SIGNS

LYMPNE, England (UP)—Town councilmen learned they will have to wait several months for some new traffic signs.

The signs will read: No waiting.

FIRE AT TAVERN CAUSES LOSS ESTIMATED AT $8000

Fire in the Emerald Room at 4640 Gravois avenue, a tavern and restaurant owned by Martie Aboussie, caused damage estimated by firemen at $8000 early today. The figure includes $3000 damage to the building, which is owned by former State Senator David Hess.

Cause of the blaze, which started in the restaurant part of the establishment, probably was defective wiring, fire department officials said. The fire broke out about 3 a.m.

Rome Mass for Poznan Victims.

ROME, July 12 (UP)—Diplomatic representatives of 20 nations accredited to the Vatican, high church officials and numerous Italian Catholic government representatives today attended a requiem mass held in a small Rome church in honor of the victims of the Poznan riots of June 28.

MRS. NORBERT L. HARMS IS GRANTED A DIVORCE

Mrs. Mary G. Harms obtained a divorce from Norbert L. Harms, a vice president of Cupples-Hesse Corp., today in the court of Circuit Judge Douglas L. C. Jones at Clayton.

Mrs. Harms was awarded custody of two children, Mary Virginia, 19 years old, and Martha Grayson Harms, 15, $200 monthly for their support and $300 a month alimony. An out-of-court property settlement also was reached.

Mrs. Harms alleged general indignities. She said they were married May 25, 1935, and separated last April 25. Harms filed a general denial but did not contest the action. The family home is at 8135 Stanford avenue, University City.

FREE LIFE INSURANCE
WHEN YOU OPEN A SAVINGS ACCOUNT AT...
HAMPTON BANK of SAINT LOUIS
3506 HAMPTON—Just North of Chippewa
HERE'S HOW THE PLAN WORKS!
This FREE INSURANCE plus our regular interest means your savings can yield a return equivalent to 3% partially tax free
YOU ARE ELIGIBLE (no physical exam necessary) to receive up to $3,000 life insurance, fully paid by this bank—at no cost whatever—if you are under 60 years of age. The amount of your life insurance will exactly match the amount of money you have in your Hampton Bank Savings Account up to $3,000. Simply open a savings account of $250 or more at our bank. That's all there is to it. No physical is required, and the insurance remains in effect until you reach age 60. After age 60, you can continue this coverage by converting to ordinary life insurance without physical examination.
YOUR MONEY IS DOUBLED in case of death when your savings account is with Hampton Bank. For example, if your actual cash balance is $3000, your wife, husband, family or other beneficiary of your own choosing would receive not just your $3000 deposit, but $6000! More important, the insurance feature does not affect your savings account interest rates. It is an added benefit, and because it is free, your deposit could earn a return equivalent to 3% (interest rate and cost of insurance combined—based on comparable insurance of age 50).
An INDUCEMENT TO SAVE is the purpose of this special life insurance benefit. The plan is not intended to be a substitute for your present life insurance. It is an added inducement to help you build a cash reserve and estate. There is no penalty for discontinuing the plan. You may deposit and withdraw money at any time. If your account goes below $250, of course, the life insurance terminates. However, upon reaching or exceeding $250, it is reinstated immediately.

M'CARTHY ASSAILS PAUL G. HOFFMAN

Denounces Former Foreign Aid Chief as Foe of Anti-Communists.

WASHINGTON, July 12 (UP) — Senator McCarthy (Rep.), Wisconsin, denounced former foreign aid chief Paul G. Hoffman in the Senate yesterday as "a fool or a communist."

McCarthy told the Senate the Administration plans to nominate Hoffman as a delegate to the United Nations General Assembly. He said it is "inconceivable" that the Senate would confirm him.

Hoffman was a top official of the national Citizens-for-Eisenhower movement in 1952. He is former president of Studebaker Corp. and served as United States foreign aid chief under President Truman in the early days of the Marshall plan. He also was president of the Ford Foundation.

McCarthy said Hoffman is "most likely not a Communist," but "he is a dedicated and determined enemy of those who oppose Communism.

"He is a charter member of a civil liberties cult whose chief dogma is that hard anti-Communism constitutes a greater danger to our freedom than the Communist party itself."

PREDICTS UHF WILL KEEP DOWN NETWORK POWER

Chairman of FCC Testifies at Hearing of House Anti-Trust Subcommittee.

WASHINGTON, July 12 (AP) — Federal Communications Commission Chairman George C. McConnaughey told Congress yesterday that development of ultra high frequency channels would head off any danger of television broadcasting dominance by two big networks.

McConnaughey said at a hearing by the House anti-trust subcommittee, that the National Broadcasting Co. and Columbia Broadcasting System do not now dominate the field, although "certainly they are potent."

The subcommittee collected figures purporting to show that some network-owned television stations earned in a single year profits amounting to many times the total investment in their physical broadcast facilities.

Many Networks Seen.

McConnaughey said that if channels for many more stations are opened up in the UHF band, limited so far by the need for special sending and receiving equipment," you will find not three, but many networks." He said the American Broadcasting Co. was "coming up as a strong network."

Committee counsel read part of a 1941 FCC report describing NBC and CBS as overshadowing the radio field and asked McConnaughey whether the same situation prevails now in television.

McConnaughey remarked that "the networks have pretty much evaporated from radio. . . . There are more stations and they operate on a local basis."

"That's why we want to utilize the UHF channels," he continued. "That's the answer to your whole problem. Natural competitive forces solved the radio problem and I think if we can use the UHF channels, the same thing will happen."

Chairman Emanuel Celler (Dem.), New York, said, "I agree, and I congratulate you on the answer."

Level of Profits.

FCC Counsel Warren E. Baker told the subcommittee he does not think the level of profits in the television is legally any business of the commission, since Congress expressly said the industry was not to be considered a public utility and the commission was not to set rates for it.

Celler put into the record figures he said showed the CBS-owned New York station, WCBS, made a profit of $9,375,339 in 1955, or 2290 per cent of the investment in its physical facilities.

NBC-owned WRCA-TV in New York was listed as having earned $7,260,255 profits in 1955 and $6,086,613 in 1954, respectively 857 per cent and 1646 per cent of physical plant investment.

The five NBC-owned stations as a whole, according to subcommittee figures, earned 323 per cent of physical investment in 1955, and the four CBS-owned stations 282 per cent.

CALIFORNIA PILOT WINS HER THIRD POWDER DERBY

FLINT, Mich., July 12 (AP) —A California flying instructor yesterday was declared winner of the tenth annual powder puff derby.

It was the second straight triumph for 31-year-old Mrs. Frances Bera of Los Angeles in the intercontinental air race for women and her third victory in six times she has entered the event. She also was co-pilot of the winning plane in the 1951 race.

Mrs. Bera, with her sister, Mrs. Edna Bower, 35, of Long Beach, Calif., in the co-pilot's seat, won on a handicap basis.

Second place in the 2366-mile race from California to Michigan was awarded to Mrs. Alice Roberts of Phoenix, Ariz., with Mrs. Iris Critchell of Palos Verdes Estates, Calif., as co-pilot.

Mrs. Marian Craver and co-pilot Mrs. Betty Lambert, both of San Diego, Calif., were third.

The handicaps in the flight, which began Saturday at San Carlos, Calif., and ended Tuesday at Flint, were based on elapsed flying time computed against engine horsepower.

The winner's prize was $1225. She also received a $591 bonus from her sponsor.

ILLNESS A HOBBY FOR MANY, BRITISH DOCTOR CHARGES

BRIGHTON, England, July 12 (UP)—A British doctor said yesterday that a growing number of people are taking up illness as a hobby "the way other people take up bird-watching."

Dr. Richard Asher told a British Medical Association meeting that some people "become so attached to hospital out-patients' departments that they treat them like public houses (bars) where they can meet their friends and get a bottle of medicine from the doctor instead of a glass of beer from the bartender."

He said some well-to-do patients—most of them women—make a hobby of "having non-essential organs removed."

Drowning Called Murder.

CHICAGO, July 12 (AP)—A coroner's jury decided yesterday the drowning of a 6-month-old baby girl was murder and recommended that the mother be held for prosecution. Mrs. Isabelle Polenz told authorities she drowned the child after a fortune teller predicted the infant would become an idiot.

WEST EUROPEAN ATOM POOL GETS FRENCH BACKING

Assembly Approves Negotiations to Link Nuclear Power Programs.

PARIS, July 12 (AP)—Plans for a West European pool of atomic energy for peaceful purposes got a green light from the French National Assembly yesterday.

The assembly approved, 342 to 183, a resolution drawn up by Premier Mollet and his cabinet for negotiations for the pool, called Euratom.

The pool would link the efforts of France, West Germany, Italy, Belgium, Luxembourg and The Netherlands, already pooling their coal and steel resources. Two years ago, France blocked a plan for pooling their defense forces.

Weapons Pledge.

Mollet told the assembly that Euratom would not hinder French development of atomic weapons if this country decides to undertake it. Under present plans, members of Euratom would pledge not to set off an atomic explosion until 1961. So far, France has not done any work on atomic weapons.

No final decision was being made. It will take about a year for the necessary treaty to be drafted, and the opposition will have a chance to mobilize its full strength then.

Yesterday's opposition came largely from the Communists, who are against anything that unites western Europe. Former Premier Pierre Mendes-France and his followers in the Radical party were hostile because Britain has refused to take part in the plan. They prefer something on the order of the Western European Union, the agreement Mendes-France negotiated with British participation.

Mollet's Reply.

Mollet replied to both types of criticism in his final appeal for votes. To Mendes-France he pointed out that Britain had clearly stated it would join no such pool. For the benefit of the Communists, he said on his recent trip to Moscow he had told Communist party boss Nikita Khrushchev the way to solve the German problem is to get the Germans integrated into a united Europe.

Khruschev, he said, replied with a threat that the Russians would find some way of coming to an independent agreement with West Germany.

With this warning Mollet turned to the more conservative among his potential supporters to insist that the way to prevent a new German-Soviet alliance is to tie the Bonn government as firmly as possible within western Europe. The present leaders of the Bonn government would not yield to the temptations of the Russians, he said, but their successors might.

Russia Announces Soviet Bloc Atomic Study Pool

LONDON, July 12 (AP)—Moscow radio said today 11 countries have joined in the Soviet bloc atom study pool.

The radio announced a new institute will be established in the Kalinin region of West Russia.

Formation of the Communist pool was announced last March by Moscow. It said at that time the Soviet Institute of Nuclear Research would be handed over to the new pool, complete with a 680,000,000 electrovolt synchroton and a proton synchoton of 10 billion electrovolts. The latter is a kind of atom smasher.

Today's broadcast said members will be the Soviet Union, Albania, Bulgaria, Hungary, East Germany, Communist China, North Korea, Mongolia, Poland, Romania and Czechoslovakia.

LISTS 55 BILLION AS AVAILABLE TO CIVIL AGENCIES

Byrd's Budget Report Includes 28.9 Billion in Unexpended Funds From Prior Years.

WASHINGTON, July 12 (AP) Senator Harry F. Byrd (Dem), Virginia, said today Government civilian agencies will have $55,400,000,000 available for spending in the fiscal year that began July 1.

This amount is in addition to spending for the military establishment and for foreign aid. Inclusion of these, Byrd said, would push the total above 140 billions.

He said the domestic-civilian total includes $28,900,000,000 in old appropriations and authorizations enacted in prior years and $26,500,000,000 in new appropriations requested by President Eisenhower for the new fiscal year just starting.

Of this amount, he said, it is estimated that 26 billions will be spent and that domestic-civilian agencies will carry over an unexpended balance of $28,400,000,000 into the next fiscal year beginning July 1, 1957.

Basis for Statement.

Byrd's statement was based on a report made by the Senate-House Committee on Reduction of Non-Essential Federal Expenditures, which is analyzing the federal budget. He is chairman of the committee.

Included in the totals are seven billions for interest on the national debt; nearly two billions for federal highway aid and another billion for various other road programs; more than three billions for the Commodity Credit Corp., which finances farm price supports, and six billions for various housing programs under the Housing and Home Finance Agency.

Also included is about 734 billions of standby authority to the Treasury, including such items as three billions for advances to the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp.; one billion to Federal Home Loan Banks, and $2,540,000,000 for purchase of stock in the World Bank. These, like the housing funds, will largely remain unspent.

Previous Reports.

The committee previously has issued reports on unexpended balances of appropriations for the defense program and for foreign aid.

In its report on funds available for domestic-civilian agencies, the committee assumed congressional approval of the President's budget requests for the 1957 fiscal year. With some supplemental money bills not yet passed, Congress to date has appropriated about half a billion more than Mr. Eisenhower recommended.

Byrd said that, counting military and foreign aid programs as well as civilian-domestic agencies, the Government had unexpended balances totaling $74,600,000,000 to start the current fiscal year exclusive of new appropriations.

"The President's budget message," he said, "requested new authorizations totaling $66,300,000,000. Assuming full enactment of the budget request, $140,900,000,000 in spending authority would be available to federal agencies."

BONN TO GIVE SCHOLARSHIPS TO 225 AMERICAN STUDENTS

BONN, July 12 (AP) — West Germany will grant scholarships to 225 American students in recognition of United States aid to Germany since the war.

Seventy-five students will be invited to study at universities in West Germany and West Berlin during the 1956-57 school year. Fifty will receive scholarships for each of the three following years.

Each student will get travel expenses and 2700 marks ($642) for the school year.

Vice Chancellor Franz Bluecher informed United States Ambassador James B. Conant of the program yesterday.

Flashes of Life

Not So Lucky.

POPLAR BLUFF, Mo. (AP)—Seven-year-old Roger Hogg found a four-leaf clover in his front yard here and ran excitedly to the house to show his mother, Mrs. Paul Hogg. He tripped and fell on the steps..

Doctors took three stitches to close a cut on his scalp.

Rights Are Rights.

OCALA, Fla. (AP) — Will Lowe was in such a hurry when released from the Marion county jail that he failed to collect the $3 paid discharged prisoners.

Later he wrote asking the county clerk to mail him the money. His new address: the jail in neighboring Lake county.

Futility.

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Somebody tried to break into George Marshall's automobile parts store here on two occasions this month so Marshall readied himself for the third attempt. He set up a small flash camera opposite the window tampered with by the burglar before and rigged up a trip cord so the intruder would take a picture of himself. The burglar came back and succeeded in opening the window. The only thing he took, Marshall told police, was the camera, valued at $10.

ACCORD REACHED IN A. O. SMITH NEGOTIATIONS

Union to Vote Tomorrow on Proposal for Settling 25-Day Strike.

Prospects for ending the 25-day strike at A. O. Smith Corporation's plant near Granite City seemed improved today with announcement that members of Boilermakers Union Local 575 will meet tomorrow to vote on a proposed settlement.

Representatives of the company, which makes automobile frames, and the union reached an agreement early this morning which will be presented to the union membership at 10 a.m. tomorrow at the Labor Temple in Granit eCity. No details were announced.

The meeting yesterday took place at the old Federal Building here. It was attended by the Rev. Leo Brown S.J. of St. Louis University, noted as a labor mediator, and by officials of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service. The meeting began at 9 a.m. and ended after midnight.

The boilermakers local, which has more than 1500 members, split into quarreling factions after 22 machinists went on strike June 16. Members refused to cross the machinists' picket line. A back-to-work movement by boilermaker leaders, both local and international, failed.

When the machinists ended their strike early last week, voting to accept a new contract providing 22½ cents an hour wage increase, the boilermakers refused to go back to work until 19 men discharged by the company had been rehired, and until all strikers were guaranteed restoration of full seniority rights.

At one point, 50 boilermakers and officials of their union spent a week inside the struck plant in a fruitless effort to persuade members to return to work. Six plant employes received jail sentences in circuit court at Edwardsville last Friday for violation of an injunction against mass picketing.

Edward D. Groshong, an attorney representing the boilermakers union membership, said he probably would present the proposed settlement at the meeting in Granite City tomorrow. He said Father Brown was expected to be present.

CENSOR PERMITS SHARP ATTACK ON PORTUGAL REGIME

LISBON, July 12 (UP—Portuguese liberals led by three former Prime Ministers publicly criticized the government yesterday for limiting freedom of opinion.

Government censors permitted front-page newspaper publication of a 3500-word petition attacking "the current political system and methods of government."

Some observers interpreted the censors' action as an attempt by Prime Minister Oliveira Salazar to show that he is open to all suggestions to better the country.

Demands in the document included:

1. Ample political amnesty.
2. Exact fulfillment of the constitution and observance of basic freedoms, especially those of expression and association.
3. Suppression of censorship and other measures curtailing liberty.
4. Revocation of measures interfering with individual rights.
5. Free discussion of proposals for solving national problems.

U.S. OPPOSES PROPOSAL FOR WORLD FOOD RESERVE

GENEVA, July 12 (AP)—The United tSates today opposed the establishment of a world food reserve within the framework of the United Nations. Advocates contend such a reserve would relieve emergency famine situations and counteract excessive price fluctuations.

John C. Baker, president of Ohio University and head of the United States delegation to the Economic and Social Council, told the council the United States feels these problems can be met more practicably through two-day arrangements.

The council is discussing a report which examines the possibilities of such a reserve. Baker said that none of the plans studied for setting up food reserves attacked "the basic causes of hunger and malnutrition—poverty and general lack of economic development."

MAN SHOT IN LEG, FORMER FATHER-IN-LAW ARRESTED

Edwin Gilbert Kahler, a laborer, 2909 McNair avenue, was treated at City Hospital early today for gunshot wounds of the left leg. He told police he had been shot by his former father-in-law, Claude Pullen, of the 900 block of Lemay Ferry road ,St. Louis county.

Kahler told officers he had heard Pullen was angry at him and went to Pullen's home to find out what was wrong. He said Pullen ordered him to leave and he did so, but when he got about 75 feet from the house he heard shots and felt pain in his leg.

County police arrested Pullen, who admitted shooting at Kahler four times with a rifle, they said. Kahler was able to reach his home in the city. He then telephoned police and reported he had been shot.

VERNON J. WIND NAMED TO POLICE BOARD IN COUNTY

Lemay Banker Approved by Council After 2 Deadlocks on Nomination.

Appointment of Vernon J. Wind, a Lemay bank officer, as a member of the St. Louis county board of police commissioners was approved yesterday by the County Council, which twice previously had been deadlocked over his nomination.

The vote yesterday was 4 to 2, split along party lines. Republican members voted for the appointment, and Democrats opposed it. One Democrat, Maurice M. Abramson, Third District, abstained.

The margin needed for approval was supplied by Councilman James A. Singer (Rep.), Fourth District. Singer had refused to vote on the appointment last week, and it failed by a 3-3 vote. He explained he was not acquainted with Wind's qualifications last week but since then had familiarized himself with them.

Political Opposition.

Councilman James H. J. McNary, Second District, has said he was opposed to the appointment because of the way it was handled by the Republican party. "It looks like politics," he said.

Wind's nomination has been before the council since it was submitted April 25 by Supervisor Luman F. Matthews. It was first rejected May 2.

Wind, 40 years old, is vice president and cashier of the Lemay Bank & Trust Co. He lives at 4724 Don Ron drive, Affton. Wind will fill the unexpired term of Walter L. Metcalfe, first chairman of the board, who died April 12.

Appointment of William B. Kline to succeed Herbert C. Funke, who resigned July 1 as county counselor, was approved by a 6-1 vote of the council. Councilmtan Thomas C. Dunne (Dem.), First District, who cast the opposing vote, said he felt Kline, who is 34, was too young for the job.

Acting Cotunselor.

Since July 1, Kline has been serving as acting counselor. Before that he had been administrative assistant to Matthews for five months and an assistant county counselor since January 1954. He lives at 1718 Liggett avenue, Webster Groves. His salary will be $10,000 annually.

An ordinance changing the zoning of a 25-acre tract of land at the southwest corner of Woodson and Natural Bridge roads from residential to business district use was passed, 4-3, despite protests by Dunne that the site is hazardous because it is in the approach zone of aircraft using a north-south runway at Lambert-St. Louis Field.

The zoning change was sought by Henry Maurer, owner of the site, for construction of a one-story hotel. Dunne, in whose district the tract is located, was joined in opposing the bill by the other Democratic members of the council, but the four Republicans voted for the measure.

An ordinance appropriating $140,000 for the county's share of the cost of a comprehensive transit survey of the metropolitan area was introduced in the council. A similar appropriation already has been made by St. Louis. Remainder of the total cost of $490,000 will be borne by the State Highway Commission.

ALLIED AIR DEFENSE TEST POINTS UP NEED FOR RADAR

NAPLES, Italy, July 12 (AP)—The Allies' first big air defense test in the Mediterranean in three years has shown need for improved communications and radar systems.

Lt. Gen. Patrick W. Timberlake of the United States Air Force, commander of Allied air forces in southern Europe, reported this today in a review of the recent exercise Thunderhead.

Forces from the United States, France, Italy, Britain, Greece and Turkey took part in the test.

Timberlake praised the cooperation and enthusiasm shown by all units but said "the exercise shows the need for speeding planned improvements in communications and radar systems and in our organization for air defense."

BULGANIN DISARMAMENT PLEA REJECTED BY ITALY

ROME, July 12 (AP)—Italy joined its Western partners today in rejecting a disarmament plea by Soviet Premier Bulganin.

The cabinet approved a reply, read by Foreign Minister Gaetano Martino, which followed the line of the American and British reaction.

The Bulganin note, addressed to heads of state in the United States, Britain, France and Italy, said Russia was reducing its armed forces and suggested that the Western powers follow suit. Britain's Prime Minister Eden said Monday the Russians were only copying what the Western Allied powers have been doing since 1945.

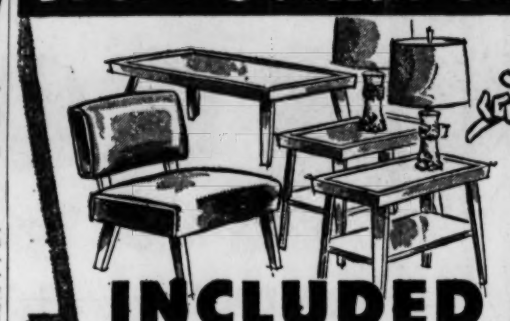

INDUSTRIAL RELATIONS POST

Appointment of George M. Abbott as director of industrial relations for International Shoe Co. was announced today. He also will continue as general manager of the piece rate division.

Abbott, a member of the industrial relations committee of the National Shoe Manufacturers Association since it was organized, started in the shoe business in Boston in 1914. He has been manager of International's piece rate division since 1939.

GEN. PHILLIPS

NATO Problem Now Is to Find New Set of Reasons Why Big Armed Force Is Still Required

After Allies Cut Armies, It Will Be Difficult to Convince Congress That U.S. Should Maintain Largest Establishment in Europe.

By BRIG. GEN. THOMAS R. PHILLIPS, U.S.A. (Ret.)
Military Analyst of the Post-Dispatch.

PARIS.

THE BIG IF as regards the North Atlantic Treaty Organization's armed forces is the same as in respect of German rearmament: With the changed political climate, Russia's peace offensive and unilateral reduction in its armed forces, together with doubts about the value of ground forces in a nuclear war, will the NATO European allies continue to support the military establishments that NATO military leaders consider essential?

The rearmament of the West and the implementation of the North Atlantic Treaty forces under Gen. Eisenhower was a direct result of Communist aggression in Korea and constant brutal pressure at every weak point.

The new Soviet line of peaceful competition in economic and political areas, together with constant emphasis on disarmament, has eliminated fear of Communist aggression in western Europe to a much greater degree than is realized in the United States.

British to Make Cuts.

Britain is planning to reduce its military establishment and ultimately to end conscription. This means eventually that half the British troops in Germany will be withdrawn. Other west central European countries, such as Belgium, the Netherlands and France, will use British action as a signal to reduce their NATO force farther even though they have never reached the agreed-upon level.

The same psychology is operating in Germany and is giving strength to the Social Democratic opposition of the Adenauer government. The Social Democrats propose in their campaign to capture the German parliament in the elections in 1957, to withdraw from NATO and to halt German rearmament.

France was to supply the principal West European force but has never fulfilled its commitments. Today it has only about two divisions in Germany, three having been withdrawn for operations in Algeria.

Half to Be Pulled Back.

Britain has promised not to rock the NATO boat but will come close to sinking it if what appears to be the inevitable withdrawal of half the British divisions in Germany takes place.

In the face of British withdrawal and the small French contribution it will become increasingly difficult to convince the American Congress and the public that the United States should maintain the largest army and air force in Europe.

If United States withdrawal follows British, NATO as a military force becomes inconsequential.

Britain is facing serious economic problems that threaten to get worse with time. NATO authorities sympathize with Britain's problems but at the same time feel that the British are masters at rationalizing their own needs.

One of the most serious problems is the widespread doubt about the value of ground forces in an atomic war. If the United States with its air—nuclear power is either going to prevent war or win it, why, it is argued, go the expense of maintaining large ground forces.

Plea Meaningless.

In the past it has been possible to point to the vastness of the Communist arms and air force and the threat they pose. But today with virtual acceptance, at least for the present, that no one will start an all-out nuclear war, as well as the Soviet reduction in its forces, this once effective appeal to fear is no longer meaningful.

The NATO problem now is to supply a new set of reasons why substantial armed forces still are required. It is essential to convince Germany so that it will not falter in its military buildup as well as to stiffen the determination of the western European states.

When Gen. Eisenhower assumed command of the NATO forces in 1952 the force levels were based on the requirements of conventional war and on the assumption of atomic scarcity. Fifty active divisions and 50 divisions available after 30 days were considered a minimum.

In 1954, when it was realized that atomic plenty was in sight, force levels were revised on the basis of the great assistance that atomic weapons could bring to the defense. Ground force levels were reduced by one-third and a forward strategy of defending all of Germany and Denmark was adopted.

Close to Minimum.

But these force levels have not been met nor are they apt to be. With a full German and French contribution and maintenance of American, British, Belgian and Netherlands forces, the active ground forces would be closer to a minimum requirement.

It is apparent that if there were no ground forces in readiness on and near the frontiers that enemy forces could infiltrate across the borders and be in Frankfurt, for example, overnight.

It is possible to argue about the size of the ground forces needed to provide a screen and some resistance while the air atomic attack takes effect, but it is not possible to argue about the need for such forces.

The frontier against Communism from the Baltic to Yugoslavia is about 450 miles in extent. With 30 divisions this would mean a frontier force of about one division to 15 miles which is hardly enough to act as more than an outpost line of observation. Anything less than this leaves the frontier open to an unresisted surprise attack that in 24 hours could overrun most of western Germany regardless of the outcome of the nuclear counter offensive.

These are rather complex technical considerations that are not too easy to make tangible as was the old and genuine argument of fear of aggression by the massive Soviet forces.

Still Capable.

It is admitted at supreme allied headquarters that there are no present indications that the Soviets are planning offensive operations now. It is pointed out, however, that the Soviets still have the capability to invade western Europe without more forces and with their reduced strength.

It is believed that the Soviets realize that American air-nuclear power makes war unprofitable now, but it is also maintained that this would change if Western strength were allowed to diminish. It is believed at Supreme Headquarters, Allied Powers in Europe, that the present Soviet attitude is due to the buildup of Western military strength and that it would change immediately if the Western alliance reduced its military power.

The big problem facing SHAPE is psychological. How can the Western powers, burdened with taxes and armaments, be convinced that their present security is due to these arms and that it will vanish as fast as Western military power is allowed to depreciate?

The concept of collective security under NATO is well established. The argument is over details of the forces required for atomic war. But SHAPE declares "if one soldier is not standing on the ground in defense, then the enemy soldier can stand there."

G.O.P. Planning Supercharged Campaign of Color and Sounds

Six 'Eisenhower Bandwagons' to Tour 150 Cities—Missions of Spectacles Will Be 'Selling and Telling.'

By GEORGE CORNELL

NEW YORK, July 12 (AP).

A SUPERCHARGED campaign of color, sounds and spectacle was being readied today to stir up fervor for President Eisenhower along the main streets of America.

"We're going to use every physical, emotional and visual means of getting the message across," said C. Langhorne Washburn, director of special activities for the National Citizens for Eisenhower.

There'll be huge floating balloons, parades, loud speakers, motion pictures, reams of press releases, television "quickies," music, rallies, pretty girls in "Ike dresses" and campaign buttons galore.

All this is part of a high-powered task force getting set to invade cities and towns across the country.

It's called the "Eisenhower Bandwagon" operation. The mission, as Washburn put it: "Selling and telling."

Six 'Bandwagons.'

There will be six "bandwagon" outfits, each including 30-ton trailer-trucks loaded with equipment, a Jeep, two station wagons, two 40-foot, dirigible-shaped balloons and four bicycles.

The rolling stock is all painted white, with slogans in red and blue.

The teams will hit the road Labor day, shortly after the Republican convention Aug. 20, and keep going nine weeks, with plans to uncork their fanfare in about 150 communities by election day.

As part of the crowd-luring devices, each unit will have eight pink and fancy "Ike dresses," sizes 10 and 12, to be worn by locally recruited girls. (The requirement: "Young and pretty") in parades and rallies.

There'll be numerous other volunteers recruited in advance in each city, to help stage the proceedings.

Washburn said the objective, as he saw it, was to "spread the philosophy of the President and the accomplishments of the Administration up and down every main street of America through every communications media."

Favored by President.

He said Mr. Eisenhower has "always been very attached to the bandwagon idea."

Asked if the technique might have only superficial effects, he said:

"It can provide an uplifting of spirit, and leave in each place a spirit of confidence, optimism and Eisenhower."

Six men, who have gone through a four-day "school" here this week, will serve as directors of the units. They will take leave from their jobs, they said, to give their services. They are Fred Matteson of Renton, Wash., a United Airlines flight dispatcher; Robert R. Sartorious, a New York advertising man; Philip Avanzato, a Brooklyn (N.Y.) truck driver; John Nidecker, a Jersey City (N.J.) oil company employe; Duncan O'Brian, a Denver oil operator, and Hugh Foster, a New York free-lance television producer.

The six big vans, 12 station wagons and six Jeeps are being supplied by Lt. Gov. John Rollins of Delaware, who runs a fleet-leasing service and got people to help foot the bill, Washburn said.

Senate Study Of Chotiner's Practice Near

White House Aids' Refusal to Answer Questions Poses Problem.

By DORIS FLEESON

WASHINGTON.

THE Senate investigating subcommittee is due soon to start its study of the metamorphosis of Murray Chotiner from a California criminal lawyer, many of whose clients were bookmakers, into a well-paid practitioner before the independent agencies and boards of the Federal Government in Washington.

Chotiner managed Richard M. Nixon's successful campaigns for the Senate and vice presidency. At the recent Governors conference, Gov. Goodwin J. Knight of California told this reporter that the Vice President personally instructed him to "deal with Chotiner" in the selection of Nixon's one-third of the state's delegates to the Republican national convention.

In the hands of the Senators will be analyses by subcommittee counsel Robert Kennedy and accountant Carmine Bellino of the Chotiner records, finances and correspondence.

Letters From Adams.

Authoritative sources say that among the correspondence are letters to Chotiner signed by Sherman Adams, deputy president, and Republican national chairman Leonard W. Hall. They are described as dealing with matters Chotiner was pursuing in behalf of his clients.

The past June 28 Kennedy interviewed Hall at Republican headquarters regarding these leads. Hall is said to have replied that he could not remember any such dealings with the Los Angeles lawyer.

Until recently, however, Hall employed Chotiner as an ace national committee lecturer on how to defeat the opposition in the Nixon manner. A transcript of Chotiner's exposition before a national committee campaign school here was published later.

The first step, Chotiner explained, was to tear down your opponents; otherwise "the odds are you are doomed to defeat." He advised calling opposition arguments "smears" and said Nixon had had great success with this approach: "I've been told I mustn't talk about this" and then start talking about it.

Since the Chotiner law practice came under subcommittee scrutiny, Hall has announced that the committee would not use Chotiner in this year's campaign. Hall said the committee now had sufficient staff of its own.

While Hall made himself readily available to questioning, Sherman Adams poses a problem that will be put to the Senators for solution.

Repeatedly, White House aids have refused to answer the questions of congressional committees, pleading the doctrine of the constitutional separation of powers. Budget Director Hughes and Atomic Chairman Lewis Strauss pleaded it in the Dixon-Yates investigation. More recently Chairman John L. McClellan of the investigating subcommittee ran up against the same stone wall in his effort

$120,000 U.S. Investment Starts $119,000,000 of Industry in Iraq

Arab Nation to Begin Steel Plant, Rayon Mill, Chemical Facility After Survey by American Economist.

By JEANNE BELLAMY

The Chicago Daily News-Post-Dispatch Special Dispatch. Copyright, 1956.

WASHINGTON.

FOR $120,000, the American people have started $119,000,000 worth of industry in Iraq.

That is the report from Cyril C. Hermann, the economist who made the recommendations to Iraq.

"I have been informed that the Iraq development board is budgeting $119,000,000 — the sum we suggested—to start the industrialization program," Hermann said.

His company, Arthur D. Little Inc. of Cambridge, Mass., sent a staff to Iraq for 18 months under a $120,000 contract with the International Cooperation Administration. That is the United States agency familiarly known as Point IV.

One of the results will be a steel rolling mill in the Middle Eastern country.

Rayon Mill Plans.

Another will be a rayon mill. It will begin with spinning and weaving; later it will produce its own raw material, according to Hermann.

A new chemical industry will be based on the natural gas now vented into the air from Iraq's oil wells.

"It is known as 'dirty gas' because it contains sulphur," Hermann explained. "If you want to use the gas, you have to get rid of the sulphur.

"Sulphur brings a pretty good price on the world market, so we recommended stripping out the sulphur. It can be sold as sulphur or sulphuric acid. Then the gas itself can be used."

He and his co-workers found that another by-product of Iraq's plentiful petroleum could be used to stabilize the mud brick used as a building material.

He is happy about plans for a paper mill at Basra.

Before recommending that project, Hermann himself made a boat trip into the original Garden of Eden—the immense swamp where the Tigris and Euphrates rivers meet.

Papyrus, from which the ancient Egyptians made paper, grows rankly in those marshes, according to Hermann.

His skipper was the son of an Arab sheik.

"When we got to his father's island, the whole community was waiting for us on shore.

"I could see the shiek's problem at a glance—all those people with no particular means of livelihood.

"The shiek spoke no English. I know only a few words of Arabic. He smiled at me and I smiled at him. Another of his sons, who knows a little English, came in. Right then and there, I negotiated a labor contract with the shiek.

"I found out how much papyrus his people would cut, and for how much.

"I needed to know that to estimate how much cellulose could be got from the papyrus to supply a paper mill at Basra.

"Think what that paper mill will mean to those people living in the marshes!"

Higher Standards.

"As they harvest the papyrus and get paid for it, they will be able to buy things they need and want. Their standard of living will go up."

Some of the projects his firm recommended to Iraq will cost little or nothing.

For example, there is the plan to manufacture animal feed from surplus dates. Hermann explained that a fixed price for dates, higher than people will pay, has caused dates to pile up in Iraq.

Scientific slaughterhouses and dairies are other low-cost items.

EAST GERMAN RED UNION DENOUNCES ABUSE OF WORKER

BERLIN, July 12 (UP)—The East German Communist trade union today accused managers of government-owned factories of "heartless" treatment of workers and demanded they be brought "to justice."

The accusation coincided with a German Communist newspaper dispatch blaming the low standard of living in Poland for the workers' uprising in Poznan.

The union demanded immediate reforms and hinted that workers already were engaging in slow-down strikes in protest against poor working conditions.

Observers here said the criticism indicated the German Communists fear a Poznan-type revolt of workers in the Soviet Zone. East German workers rebelled in June 1953 against the Red bosses. The uprising was put down only after Soviet tanks and troops moved in.

Romania to Cut Army.

VIENNA, July 12 (AP)—The Romanian Council of Ministers has decreed that the Romanian armed forces will be reduced by 20,000 men by Sept. 15, 1956, the Bucharest radio announced yesterday.

FOUR QUIT EAST PAKISTAN MINISTRY, CRISIS LIKELY

KARACHI, July 12 (AP)—Four of the 16 members of the East Pakistan Provincial Ministry announced yesterday they had resigned.

Informed sources said the resignations were in protest against the action of the province's chief minister, Aby Hussein Sarkar, in expanding his Cabinet without consulting other ministers.

The resignations appeared likely to create a new political crisis. Last June 1 Pakistani President Iskander Mirza restored the East Pakistan government to power by revoking his week-old order placing that province under direct administration of the national government. The East Pakistan administration was dismissed by the President when the speaker of the provincial assembly ruled it was incompetent to consider the budget.

WHY EMERSON OFFERS ENGINEERS MORE . . .

"No Regimentation, No Red Tape, No Hardening of the Personnel Arteries at Emerson," Says Frank Brower

"Regimentation of jobs and people, red tape, cold supervision of whole groups instead of individuals . . . too many big companies get caught in such pitfalls of operating. But at Emerson I found an opposite story. Your supervisors know you individually and take a personal interest in you. And it's intelligent supervision which stimulates your initiative and ambition. There's freedom of movement, no unnecessary rules and regulations. In brief, we're not afflicted with hardening of the personnel arteries," says Frank Brower, Sr. Draftsman.

Emerson is extremely flexible in their methods of developing, encouraging and promoting young engineers. Accelerated training programs, company-sponsored TV courses, subsidized night and summer school for both undergraduate and graduate work . . . these are just a few of the personally-tailored opportunities offered by Emerson.

If you're an engineer interested in working with a stimulating company, unafflicted by "hardening of the personnel arteries," join Frank Brower and go places with Emerson.

I know that my retirement will make no difference in its cardinal principles; that it will always fight for progress and reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always fight demagogues of all parties, never belong to any party, always oppose privileged classes and public plunderers, never lack sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare; never be satisfied with merely printing news; always be drastically independent; never be afraid to attack wrong, whether by predatory plutocracy or predatory poverty.

'Expense Money'

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

St. Louis has very clearly demonstrated its growing interest in good government. This has been forcefully shown in the recent freeholder election, the bond issue election and the earnings tax election.

If we are to continue this good work, we need representatives in our legislature who will work and assist us in our progress.

I have noted with great interest that John W. Green and Jennie S. Walsh are again candidates for state office, Green for state senator and Mrs. Walsh for state representative.

This is a very serious matter which should be considered by all voters in their areas interested in progressive government.

Mr. Green was convicted in the courts and fined $1000 for obtaining money by representing that he could obtain a parole for a Missouri convict. His case is on appeal.

Mrs. Walsh in sworn statements admitted that she had accepted "expense money" when seeking to obtain a parole for a convict several years ago. She also swore that it was common practice for members of the legislature to obtain expense money for performing personal services. This is a direct reflection on the integrity of all legislators. We're in a sad state of affairs if Mrs. Walsh's remarks can be applied to all legislators. I, for one, feel this is not true.

How can thinking, progressive-minded voters in Mr. Green's and Mrs. Walsh's districts vote for them after their bland defiance of good and honest government?

The voters in these areas can mark their ballots for progress on August 7 by opposing these candidates in the primaries. E. C.

Like a Crude Dulles

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

President Eisenhower's effort to contain Communism in the Far East is not made easier by the graceless comments on India made in Pakistan by Vice President Nixon. Mr. Nixon's inept utterance sounded like Dulles at his crudest.

Being a part-time President has its disadvantages, particularly when the substitutes are woefully weak.

How to Sell a House

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

This is in answer to "Pointless," regarding points for real estate loans.

There is no vicious point system today, simply the market finding its proper level in view of the great scarcity of money to loan. Whatever "Pointless's" profession is, I'm sure he is constantly contemplating how he can get more money for his efforts. Then why complain when the lenders do it?

Or, to cite another example, he wants to sell his home to buy a larger home. Is he selling it for the same price he bought it for several years ago? You can bet he isn't! He's probably boosted the price a thousand or so. There is the vicious cycle he should be concerned about.

It seems to be open season for real estate agents this year. So "Pointless" trys to sell his home himself and can't get a loan. Naturally; that's what real estate agents get a commission for.

And it isn't easy finding loans. Many is the deal we have lost because we couldn't get a loan. And because some money-hungry seller wanted all cash and wouldn't take back a second deed of trust.

I'm sure "Pointless" could have gotten a loan very easily if it was for about two thirds of the selling price instead of about 90 per cent, which is probably what he was after. Of course at two thirds, "Pointless" would have had to take back a second deed of trust himself.

He talks about money being scarce but will he risk lending, by taking back a second? You can bet your sweet life he won't!

I would suggest that "Pointless" get in touch with a good real estate company with loan connections, and prepare to sell his home for a reasonable price. The real estate boom is past.

Vandals and Gas Service

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

The gas workers' strike was brought on by a feeling that the employes were not being fairly treated.

Are the 16,000 families which are without gas being fairly treated?

The union officers do not "condone the vandalism of those members who put water in the gas mains."

Let the union officers be sincere enough to back up this statement by making arrangements with Laclede to permit these union members to undo their vandalism and thereby give fair treatment to the 16,000 families which have been so greatly inconvenienced.

DO UNTO OTHERS.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

The general public has the power to make the gas company management realize that it depends on public opinion for its bread and butter.

To take work away from the employes and give it to a contractor shows a penny wise and pound foolish policy. FRANK MOLONEY,
Secretary, River Des Peres Improvement Association.

Randall for Dodge

To appreciate the full flavor of President Eisenhower's appointment of C. B. Randall as a special assistant on foreign economic policy, one has to go back to the appointment of Mr. Randall's predecessor.

It was more than a year and half ago—in December, 1954—that the President called in Joseph M. Dodge, the Detroit banker who had been his first budget director, and gave him the job of framing a coherent policy for the employment of American economic power overseas.

Those were the days when Harold E. Stassen and Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey were quarreling over a big vs. little economic aid program. Mr. Dodge was supposed to reconcile the conflicting points of view and "organize this country's world-wide economic struggle against the spread of Communism," as the news dispatches said at the time.

Some of the more excitable correspondents wrote that his assignment "'paralleled in some respects the unification of the military services." The Council on Foreign Economic Policy which he set up would "be comparable to the top-level National Security Council." Here, the nation was told, would be America's answer to the shifting of cold war emphasis from military to economic competition, then already under way.

Such was the prospectus. Now, 19 months later, Mr. Dodge is stepping out in favor of Mr. Randall. He leaves behind him no visible effect whatever on foreign economic policy. His great task has been scarcely heard of from that day to this. Foreign aid is still overwhelmingly military in character. The Administration still goes through a catch-as-catch-can fight with Congress for a hastily improvised economic aid program every year. The same old slogans and same old formulas are still being bandied about, with steadily diminishing effect. There is still talk of—but little appreciable movement toward—reorienting American policy to the new Soviet emphasis on political and economic competition.

If Mr. Randall can do in Mr. Dodge's job what the White House 19 months ago intimated would be done, he will perform a valuable service. Yet he himself is a veteran, with battle scars, of another presidential commission, the one that was supposed to wave the wand of "trade not aid," and settle the tariff-reciprocal-trade problem once and for all. Needless to say, it didn't.

Presidential commissions and councils, in fact, seldom succeed in solving problems. They can be useful in helping decide what line policy should take, but the translation of policy into action is a political task which cannot be delegated to anybody. That is a responsibility which only the President, by continuous and effective political leadership, can discharge.

Up for Grabs

The political infighting that cost School Building Commissioner V. Harry Rhodes his job points up two of the shortcomings of public school organization in St. Louis. The system suffers from too many top officers and they enjoy too little job security.

Despite his important-sounding title, the Building Commissioner is merely an administrator. His duty is to implement School Board decisions with respect to his own narrow field. He is not a policy-maker. In effect he is just another employe, except for one special disability: Every four years the Board can fire him, whether his performance on the job has been superb, mediocre or downright horrid.

Three other top administrators of the system suffer from this same kind of job insecurity. They are the Superintendent of Instruction, the Secretary-Treasurer and the Auditor. Each is an independent department head who reports directly to the Board.

Under the so-called "unit" type of organization each of these offices would be staffed with career administrators functioning under the Superintendent. They then would appear in proper perspective. And their occupants would be protected by tenure against the vagaries of School Board personalities and politics. The school system might even benefit.

That is the way things could be. But the way they are in real life, the Building Commissioner's office is a $15,000-a-year plum that attracts picking every four years. Naturally aggressive hands will reach for it.

The Board has dumped Mr. Rhodes. His successor, George H. Fletcher, conceivably could suffer the same fate four years hence no matter how good or bad a job he does. That's the way things are at the School Board.

Sometimes it seems as if the Government consists of three unequal branches: the executive, the judicial—and the investigative.

Three Courses for a Witness

The contempt citation which the House Un-American Activities Committee voted against playwright Arthur Miller illustrates the problem which even a willing witness may meet in congressional inquiries.

Mr. Miller does not face possible contempt proceedings because he invoked the Fifth Amendment. He testified freely that he had given money to and had attended Communist "front" meetings 10 years ago, and he conceded that this was a mistake.

The playwright is charged with contempt by the committee because he refused to name others he had known who were engaged in these activities. He said they were mostly minor theatrical figures who had done nothing that was illegal at the time. He could see no reason to bring their names into disrepute now.

Three courses were open to the witness, as his attorneys observe. He could have refused to testify at all under the Fifth Amendment, in which case the House could not easily cite him for contempt. He could have testified but conveniently "forgotten" the names of others, in which case it would be difficult to make a contempt charge stick.

But Mr. Miller chose the third and, to him, the honorable course of testifying generously about himself, while knowingly opening himself to contempt charges by refusing to inform on others.

Mr. Miller's attorneys concede that Congress has legal power to charge a witness with contempt for refusing to be an informer. But they cite a dozen cases in which Congress has declined to do that. St. Louis observed a recent puzzling instance in the case of a professor's wife who testified about herself but refused to discuss others. The House subcommittee at first saw no reason to cite her for contempt but the full committee later did so.

Since Congress has used its contempt charges with some discrimination in the past, it might be expected to do so in the case of Arthur Miller. Does the House really believe that the playwright was a dangerous spy, or knew something about somebody who was a threat to the nation? So far nothing has appeared to indicate that Arthur Miller is anything more than a successful playwright who is today devoted to democratic institutions and is principally interested in a honeymoon with Marilyn Monroe.

Why Pilots Want Air Safety Board

No group could be more concerned with and for the safety of the nation's airways than the 11,000 captains and co-pilots of the commercial airliners. They want their trips to end in happy landings for their own sake and also for the sake of the thousands of passengers that they fly about the country every day and night.

So when they urge that Congress strip the Civil Aeronautics Board of its authority to investigate air crashes they are making a demand that deserves the utmost attention and consideration.

The Air Line Pilots Association, to which all commercial airline pilots belong, is renewing its demand of other years for re-establishment of the old independent Air Safety Board. It has cogent reasons for so doing. The Association asserts, as was also maintained on this page last Monday, that the CAB should not be "both judge and jury in cases that may directly involve the board's own regulations as being at fault."

The Association says it is prepared to back this reasoning up with evidence that at least three accident hearings were so mishandled that they should be reopened. It charges the CAB "predetermines the cause of a crash before holding public hearings and then runs the hearings to bear out what its accident investigation bureau has already decided was the cause."

The ALPA is an organization with an excellent record, particularly in the field of promoting safety. It has its own investigators on hand at the scene of every major air disaster. It should know whereof it speaks in connection with the CAB.

In the light of the serious charges the ALPA now makes, two things should be done:

First, a Congressional committee should investigate the ALPA's specific charges in order to see that any unwarranted blame is removed from the principals concerned. Second, all possible steps should be taken to bring about revival of the independent Air Safety Board which was abolished in 1940.

Financial Scandal in Illinois

Gov. Stratton has done the only thing the No. 1 Republican leader in Illinois could do in calling on State Auditor Hodge of Granite City to get off the G.O.P. ticket as the party's official nominee for re-election.

With the FBI now entered into the investigation of $500,000 worth of "questionable" state checks, allegedly issued by Auditor Hodge's office, the scandal in the G.O.P. household at Springfield has reached amazing size.

Apparently the first reaction within the Stratton "team" at Springfield was that the Hodge scandal could be ridden out—as Dwight H. Green thought about the scandals that broke all over the place in 1948. But Gov. Stratton now realizes that this situation must produce a full and complete accounting. And so he says that "public and party confidence" in Orville E. Hodge "no longer exist."

The Governor is also well advised in demanding that Auditor Hodge double his surety bond from $50,000 to $100,000, the legal maximum. If many improper state checks have been written and handled through the State Auditor's office the total could run up to a large figure in a hurry.

While Gov. Stratton is to be commended on what he is doing now, it is in order to ask why none of this was known about Auditor Hodge's office before he was renominated last April as part of the Stratton team. Why did it all wait until The Chicago Daily News did Illinois the service of digging into the facts?

There are a lot of questions to ask and to answer and State Auditor Hodge is not the only Illinois official to do some explaining.

A Plank for Senator Bush

In inviting the public to submit ideas on what should be in the 1956 Republican platform, Senator Bush of Connecticut, chairman of the drafting committee, might have got down to cases. For instance, Alaskan statehood. The Republican platform has been weasel-wording its plank on that great national issue for quite a while now.

Four years ago the platform favored "statehood for Alaska under an equitable enabling act." Any time Congress could agree on an equitable enabling act it would be a cinch to agree on statehood; so the 1952 plank was safely meaningless. In 1948 the plank said "we favor eventual statehood for Alaska," and eventual can be, like forever, a long, long time. The 1944 plank said more distantly still that "Alaska is entitled to the fullest measure of home rule looking toward statehood."

Speaking of platforms generally, the Democrats favored "eventual" statehood for Alaska in 1944, but for the last two elections the party has urged "immediate statehood for Alaska." Numerous succeeding Democratic Congresses nevertheless have failed miserably to put the policy into practice. Deeds, not words, have hardly been their specialty with regard to Alaska Territory.

The public to which Senator Bush has addressed his cordial invitation may sensibly conclude, therefore, that it is better for planks to be forthright than evasive—and even better for Senators and Representatives.

Add 65,000 to 350

One of the most important items on President Eisenhower's legislative program, for which he has again appealed for passage, is immigration reform. Yet if these reforms are enacted in this Congress, it may be because they will be attached to a bill to admit 350 Basque sheepherders.

Congress by now has heard all about the Basque sheepherders. They are a favorite with some Western Senators, and there is nothing wrong with admitting them on a non-quota basis. But it does seem ironical that Senator Watkins, Utah Republican, has felt compelled to try to attach the big Administration program to the sheepherder bill.

Under the Eisenhower proposals, the annual immigration quota would be increased by about 65,000, simply by permitting some pooling of unused quotas. That is, if Britain did not use its immigration quota fully (and she usually does not), some of that quota might be given to Greece, which has mortgaged its quotas far into the future. The Eisenhower program leaves a more thorough immigration revision to further study, but what it does propose is both sensible and fair.

Does it not seem strange that a bill to admit 65,000 refugees has to be considered as an amendment to a bill to admit 350? That in fact is a measure of congressional obstructionism against any effort to admit any more immigrants than the present restrictive law allows.

"DON'T MIND DICKIE—HE'S JUST GETTING IN PRACTICE FOR THE CAMPAIGN"
—From The Washington Post.

The Toll of Poor Air-Traffic Control

The Mirror of Public Opinion

Aviation experts attribute Grand Canyon disaster to outdated and inefficient system of regulating nation's airways; pilots unable to see as much as they should from cockpit; air defense radar network could be adapted to help remedy the situation.

Harry C. Kenney in The Christian Science Monitor

Specific reasons may be found for the recent disastrous crash of two huge airliners over or into Arizona's Grand Canyon. But aviation experts are anxiously pointing to the broad and perilously outmoded, outdated, inefficient and overtaxed national methods of navigation, traffic and communication controls as the real culprits.

Getting down to cases, a recent survey by an aviation facilities study group, known as the Harding Report, requested by the director, Bureau of the Budget, has this to say:

". . . The risks of midair collisions have already reached critical proportions, and the collision hazard is becoming greater as the increases in civil and military air traffic outpace the capabilities of outmoded traffic-control facilities."

Congress has made the Civil Aeronautics Administration responsible for the nation's airways system. The questions that are rushing to the surface from a concerned public and aroused commercial airlines include:

Has Congress appropriated enough money to establish an efficient airways system and has the CAA been able to fulfill vital obligations to tremendously expanding aviation operations? In informed aviation circles here the answer is: "No."

How Radar Could Help

One of the bright spots in this situation is that the Defense Department is proceeding with the installation of a three billion dollar air-defense radar system which could be adapted to provide the main elements of safe and efficient aircraft separation and traffic control wherever required. Will this be done?

But what are some of the actual needs in aviation today? In navigation, the pilot needs an improved navigational aid so that he will know where he is positioned at all times. This means something beyond the present route, radio and ground supports and approximates what is termed the "positive fix."

A positive fix, however, restricts mass flight. It is similar to restricting automobiles on a major highway to one mile apart and controlling them by radar and other devices. It would work, but traffic approaches would certainly be jammed.

There is so much commercial, military and private flying today that air traffic control is squeezed by terrific pressures on ATC operators. There is a great need for increased use of automation and computers to reduce human activity and enormous paper work.

Danger in Poor Communications

There is almost a compulsory demand now for equipment and methods which will tell where all airplanes are at all times. In some high-density areas radar is being installed to relieve to some extent this situation.

In the area of communication between planes and ground there is a lot of party-line log jamming. It is time consuming and distracting and growing more difficult. One expert says that what is needed is a system of automatic communications. This would be in the form of data transfer and/or data display which could be either voiced or made visual via a scope.

More of the big planes are being equipped with nose radar designed mainly for weather reconnaissance. The radar can "pick up" mountains, airports, storm clouds, and occasionally airplanes, but its main "business" is weather.

Just why all planes are not using a more inclusive radar system will one day have to be answered. It may be costly and there may be some added bulk, but today with bigger and faster planes criss-crossing diminishing air space, the time is fast approaching when every pilot will have to know "where he is at."

There are at least four near-misses a day in this country. Some experts have put the number as high as 10. A modern superairliner cruises at 300 miles an hour or more. Two of them moving toward each other spells at least 600 miles an hour, with very little time for maneuvering.

'Lose 500 Feet in a Jiffy'

Besides, planes in good or bad weather don't always "stay on the level." Here is the word of a pilot as expressed in the flight safety foundation study:

"It is assumed by all and sundry that we airline pilots, as well as all other pilots, keep an assigned level. Actually, the facts of flight are that these 300-m.p.h. behemoths of the cloudbeds can nose up a bit or down a bit without much notice to the pilot—unless, of course, he is looking at his instruments which he had better not be doing if he wants his misses to be as unnear as possible.

"The fast airplanes can gain or lose 500 feet in a jiffy. The level job will have to be done automatically . . . or we must chew on the idea that the fast airplanes are not going to be on the level most of the time. When one slides down 500 feet and another sneaks up 500 feet, that's 1000 feet, and the situation becomes interesting."

The above point has a direct relation to another statement in the Harding Report:

"Under visual flight rules, called 'VFR,' flights can be made by navigation with reference to the ground with one mile forward visibility off airways and three miles visibility on an airway, and without nearing clouds.

"According to existing rules, therefore, a pilot can take off, fly in any direction, and land at his destination without telling anyone where he is going or how he plans to get there as long as he believes that he can see the prescribed distance ahead, see the ground, and keep out of the clouds."

Traffic at the Crossroads

It is also the opinion of the aviation-facilities study group that it is impossible for a pilot to fly a high-speed modern airplane effectively without almost continuous reference to his cockpit instruments.

Hence, under the best conditions, the pilot, even if he is alert, may not be looking out of his airplane when a midair collision might be imminent.

Furthermore, he can see only a small per cent of the sky around him from his cockpit and may not see crossing, overtaking or descending aircraft.

The much respected publication Aviation Age has this to say: "Air-traffic control now stands at the crossroads. Its deficiencies have finally been recognized at most government levels. There is reasonable hope that there finally will be enough money to pay for needed improvements."

RED SETBACK.

From the Louisville Courier Journal.

There has never been a free national election in which Communism has prevailed. Now the recent Italian election returns suggest that however welcome the new look of the Communist system appears in the Soviet Union, it is unable to strengthen the Communist colonies in other countries.

Between Book Ends

Not Pleased With Pleasure

ON A DARKLING PLAIN, by Clifford Irving. (G. P. Putnam's Sons, 320 pgs., $3.75)

The three young men of Clifford Irving's first novel, "On a Darkling Plain," appear to combine a talent for living exactly as they please with an equal inability to derive a great deal of pleasure from the experience.

Joe Macfarlane, drifting from job to job, finds himself, five years after college graduation, living in Florida, operating a shrimp boat in partnership with Liz, a refugee from a Pittsburgh factory. It is a lazy, carefree, long vacation from any decision as to his future.

Clifford Irving

Mike Donnenfield, newly released from the Air Force, toys with the thought of various careers, but finds, in imagination, that the compromises he would have to make with his integrity are so distasteful that he cannot settle down to any one of them.

Pete Reed, to whom these compromises come naturally and acceptably, has set his feet contentedly in the path towards financial success. He is, naturally, rather a shabby sort.

It is with the groping progress of the other two and the young women they love or have loved, that Mr. Irving is most sympathetically concerned; certainly the search for a new set of standards to replace discarded ones is a common enough one today. Mr. Irving's characters are exploring consciously the paths which other young people may be feeling out unconsciously. However, it is disconcertingly apparent that the new values are not satisfactory even to their creators.

It is a sad commentary on this new generation that it should long for, yet scorns, what it feels is the easy optimism of the past: "Sometime," thought Macfarlane, "I must pluck out this critical eye and trade it in for one of those red-rimmed, bleary ones that see such an easy, rosy vision."

The story is skillfully written. The flashbacks to college days are smoothly woven into the narrative and paint in a background indicative of the dilemma discussed. But the novel drifts to no very definite conclusion, except a very old one: that in a world which offers more pain than pleasure love and friendship are man's best shelter. MARIE LIPPINCOTT.

Church and Society

HISTORY OF CHRISTIANITY, by James Hastings Nicholls. (Ronald Press, $5.)

Professor Nicholls (of the University of Chicago) begins his history with the Treaty of Westphalia at the close of the Religious Wars in 1648, and continues it down to the present day. His object is not to tell the story of Christianity from its very beginnings, as Kenneth Scott Latourette did in his recent monumental work, but to record the changing relationship between Christianity and society in the last three centuries. The narrative scrutinizes the growing secularization of the West and shows how this has affected the status of the Christian churches. The fact is that as we enter the nuclear age the Church is faced with the greatest challenge in its history. Professor Nicholls writes with cogency and conviction, shirking none of the issues presented.

Maps Between Covers

HAMMOND'S MAP LIBRARY. (C. S. Hammond & Co., $9.95.)

This represents something new in the packaging of maps. The publishers have taken large wall maps of the world, the United States, Canada, North America, South America, Europe, Asia, Africa, Australia and the Pacific, and have folded them neatly into what looks like a large and handsome, leather-bound volume. At second glance it appears that the volume is really a box to hold the maps, but it looks attractive enough to dignify any library.

THOMAS L. STOKES

Georgians Saddened by Talmadge

WASHINGTON.

THE DEMAGOGIC RANTINGS and fulminations rumbling up from Georgia as Herman Talmadge steps up his campaign for a seat in the United States Senate are familiar stuff in Georgia, as familiar as hominy grits, and buckwheat cakes, and persimmons in the fall.

For a long time, Georgians have heard the ravings from Herman Talmadge and, before him, from his father, the late Gene Talmadge. But hitherto the act has been confined chiefly to Georgia, hard as that has been on many of its citizens who don't care for Herman Talmadge's sort. Should Talmadge win the Senate seat occupied for 34 years by the now venerable Senator Walter F. George, Georgia will be represented in the national political scene here by a figure who contrasts greatly with the two senators we have become accustomed to for so long.

Talmadge

Both influential, respected and recognized national leaders, they are Senator George, chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, and Senator Richard B. Russell, chairman of the Armed Services Committee, who was a candidate in 1952 for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Play on Prejudices.

These two men are in the old tradition of responsible Southern leadership, as distinguished from another element which also has its representatives here from time to time.

The latter, in their demagogic course, play upon the prejudices and sensitivities of the Southern people to keep themselves in office.

The last of this category here from Georgia was Senator Tom Watson who, in his later years, was a bigoted firebrand. Upon his death in 1922, he was succeeded by Senator George, and since then Georgia has not been identified in Congress with the Southern demagogic, race-baiting strain.

It is giving away no secrets to say that the responsible Democratic party leadership, South and North, does not look forward happily to an addition to that element in the Senate.

George Eased Out.

Especially at this time of tension it would further dramatize the split between Northern and Southern wings of the party.

Leaders were discouraged to see Senator George eased out by powerful business and financial interests in Georgia which decided it was time to switch to a younger man to represent them here. They were disappointed particularly that the Senator was eased out for the Talmadge type.

They recognize how strong politically is the combination of the rabble-rousing Talmadge and the economic and financial interests that back him. That was demonstrated in the hesitancy of anyone else to challenge this combination, which can make it hard on dissenters.

For a time, it seemed that the field would be left entirely to Talmadge so that the many voters in Georgia who cannot abide his swaggering sort of demagogy and who would hate to see their state represented by him in the Senate had no way to protest.

Now they do have that—in the eleventh-hour candidacy in the September senatorial primary of a former Governor for a brief spell. He is M. E. Thompson, who was elected Lieutenant Governor in the 1946 election at which Eugene Talmadge, Herman's father, was chosen Governor.

Lost Three Times.

Gene Talmadge died before inauguration day and Thompson became Governor, after a protracted wrangle, by decree of the State Supreme Court.

Twice thereafter, in 1948 and 1950, Thompson ran against Talmadge for governor and twice was defeated. He tried unsuccessfully again in 1954 when Marvin Griffin, now Governor, defeated him.

This time Thompson will be handicapped in getting financial support, as the big money is already pledged to Talmadge. The Thompson campaign is pointing up the backing of Talmadge by dominant business and financial interests.

Attacks on Court.

Whatever chance he may have, his entry nevertheless has magnified already keen interest aroused here in the race. This was because of the prestige of Senator George who had held the seat for so long and had become a national and international figure, because of the way in which he was shoved aside by Talmadge and the powers-that-be in Georgia politics, and because of the peculiar Southern political style embodied in Talmadge and the uneasiness he stirs among many people outside of the South.

A tendency is noted to try to rationalize Talmadge, to try to excuse him and to create a "new Talmadge."

Except for the most trusting or naive, this illusion was blasted with his first harangues from the stump opening his campaign, in which the Supreme Court became "the black-robed arm of judicial tyranny" and its public school integration decision "the most serious threat ever hurled to the strength, security and unity of the nation."

There also came the promise to try to get legislation passed to curb the powers of the Court and a strong isolationist note in attacks on our foreign aid program.

Talmadge sounds no different from the succession of Southern demagogues down through the years—if you know the breed.

J.T. RAULSTON DIES, SCOPES TRIAL JUDGE

Presided Over Famous 1925 Case Involving Teaching of Evolution.

SOUTH PITTSBURG, Tenn., July 12 (AP)—John Tate Raulston, who was presiding judge of the John Scopes "monkey trial" at Dayton, Tenn., in July, 1925, died yesterday. He was 87 years old. Scopes, a teacher, was convicted of violating a state law barring the teaching of the theory of evolution.

From the obscurity of a country judgeship Judge Raulston was catapulted into world notice for a brief period during the "monkey trial."

Begun as a sort of village interlude, the case drew to Dayton, Tenn., a coterie of internationally famous advocates, a horde of newspapermen, numerous scientists and throngs of curiosity seekers.

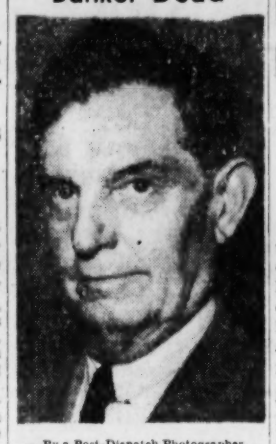

The cast starred William Jennings Bryan, Clarence Darrow, Dudley Field Malone, Arthur Garfield Hays, Judge Raulston and the defendant, Scopes, a youthful high school instructor. The proceedings dragged through eight sweltering days, burst the bounds of the tiny courtroom and forced the final sessions to be held on the courthouse lawn before a shirt-sleeved audience under the shade of huge trees.

The case ended suddenly with an agreed verdict of "guilty." Scopes was fined $100, the minimum penalty provided by the anti-evolution statute.

On appeal, which was the defense objective of the verdict of guilty, the state supreme court upheld the validity of the law. But it remanded the case for new trial because a general Tennessee statute did not permit a trial judge to fix a fine of more than $50 in misdemeanor cases. Meanwhile, however, Bryan had died, the public was tired of hearing and reading about "fundamentalism vs. science" and state authorities decreed that the whole thing be dropped.

Years later Judge Raulston said that the case, which the higher court had dubbed "bizarre," established for Tennessee "the legal proposition that the state, through its executive and legislative branches of government, had the right to prescribe the curriculum to be taught in state-supported schools."

EDWARD H. RABENBERG

EDWARD RABENBERG, COUNTY BANKER, DIES

Was Chairman of Board of Maplewood Bank & Trust Co.

Edward H. Rabenberg, Maplewood Bank & Trust Co. board chairman and long active in St. Louis political and civic affairs, died of infirmities last night at his home, 3 Arundel place, after a six-month illness. He was 85 years old.

Mr. Rabenberg, a member of the Missouri House of Delegates in 1920 and of St. Louis's old House of Delegates in 1911, in recent years sponsored the Ed Rabenbergs, a Khoury League baseball team, had been secretary of the Maplewood Optimist Club for many years and was president of the Ellendale Building & Investment Co. and the Gravois Building and Investment Co. at the time of his death.

Born in St. Louis, he grew up in the city's old "Kerry Patch" neighborhood and received early training as office boy, salesman and collector.

He was president of Maplewood Motor Sales, 7434 Manchester avenue, Maplewood's first Chevrolet agency, and founder and president of South Side Roofing Co. In 1903, when the 1904 World's Fair buildings were erected, he was an executive for the old St. Louis Roofing Co. and supervised work on most of the structures.

Surviving are a son, William V. Radenberg, and a grandson, both of the Arundel place address. Funeral services will be Saturday at 10 a.m. at the Jay B. Smith undertaking establishment, 7456 Manchester avenue, Maplewood, with entombment in Mount Hope Mausoleum.

E. J. RUSSELL DIES, RETIRED ARCHITECT

Injuries Suffered in Fall Fatal to Ex-Chairman of Plan Commission.

Ernest J. Russell, retired architect and former chairman of the City Plan Commission, died last night at St. Luke's Hospital of injuries suffered in a fall July 4 at a country club.

Mr. Russell, 86 years old, suffered fractures of the skull, ribs, right hip and left collarbone when he fell down concrete steps near the swimming pool at Bellerive Country Club, 8001 Natural Bridge road, Bellerive. He was taken to St. Luke's in a private ambulance.

Mr. Russell was born in England and educated in the United States after coming here in his boyhood. He started his career as an architect in St. Louis in 1898. In 1900 he became a member of the firm of Mauran, Russell & Garden, now Russell, Mullgardt, Schwartz & Van Hoefen.

The firms with which he was associated have designed mercantile buildings, libraries, residences, office and industrial buildings, as well as public structures, including St. Louis Police Headquarters and the Federal building.

Recently constructed buildings designed by the firm include the Northland shopping center in northwest St. Louis county, the Brown Shoe Co. building in Clayton and the Famous-Barr Clayton store.

Some of the company's other designs are the Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. building, Railway Exchange building, Federal Reserve Bank, Stix, Baer and Fuller department store, Laclede Gas Co. building, Butler Brothers building, the St. Louis Ordinance Plant, the Post-Dispatch Mechanical Annex and Globe-Democrat building.

Mr. Russell served as chairman of the City Plan Commission from 1917 to 1937 and again for a year in 1944. He was former president of the American Institute of Architects and served terms in the City House of Delegates, predecessor of the Board of Aldermen. He retired from the architectural firm July 1.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Elizabeth Russell; two daughters, Mrs. Elizabeth Killion and Mrs. J. W. Pidding, and a granddaughter, Mrs. George A. Garland of Rockford, Ill.

Funeral services will be tomorrow at 11:30 a.m. at Alexander and Sons undertaking establishment, 6175 Delmar boulevard.

'HARMONY PLAN' FOR DOCTORS, HOSPITALS

A.M.A. President Would Bar Medical Benefits From Hospital Insurance.

DENVER, July 12 (AP)—The president of the American Medical Association has proposed a seven-point "harmony" program intended to end friction between hospitals and doctors.

Dr. Dwight H. Murray of Napa, Calif., asserted last night, "These problems are not so great that they cannot be worked out sensibly by intelligent men."

"There is no need," he told the Rocky Mountain cancer conference, "to engage in public conflict and vituperative statements."

One of his points called for elimination of medical benefits from hospital insurance programs. He did not elaborate, but presumably he wishes to see all medical benefits in hospitals placed under medical insurance plans such as Blue Shield.

Observers noted also the proposal could mean elimination of coverage for doctor-performed services in hospitals in such health insurance programs as Blue Cross.

Dr. Murray's other proposals called for:

1. Settlement of differences within the hospital itself "at the earliest possible time before difficulties develop into irreconcilable and irreversible conflicts."
2. Close liaison between a hospital's board of trustees and its medical staff.
3. Greater emphasis on home and office care.
4. Development by doctors on hospital staffs of "a greatly increased interest in management problems."
5. Realization by physicians that hospitals must operate without deficits.
6. Discipline of unethical staff members by their fellow physicians.

Hospitals and physicians have been at issue for several years over whether it is ethical or legal for specialists to be employed by hospitals or whether they should receive compensation directly from their patients.

'CHOCOLATE SOLDIER' NEXT AT PARK OPERA

Oscar Straus's Production Will Start One-Week Run Monday.

Martyn Green, well-known comedian in Gilbert and Sullivan operettas, who made his Municipal Opera debut in 1954 in "The Mikado," will appear in "The Chocolate Soldier" next week at the outdoor theater in Forest Park. The show will start a one-week engagement at 8:30 p.m. Monday.

Beside Green, who will portray Colonel Popoff, other principals include Gail Manners, a leading lady in Municipal Opera productions in 1951, 1953, 1954 and last season in "The Vagabond King," and George Gaynes, who first appeared here last year and returned for "Wonderful Town" and this week's presentation of "The Great Waltz."

Other members of the cast in Oscar Straus's "The Chocolate Soldier," are Muriel O'Malley, Glenn Burris, Peggy Engel, Roy Urhausen, Gene Varrone, Ruth Schumacher, Vince Vernon and principal dancers Christine Mayer and Jacques d'Amboise.

The music score, with original book and lyrics by Rudolph Bernauer and Leopold Jacobson and the English version by Stanislaus Stange includes such songs as "My Hero," "Sympathy," "Falling in Love," "The Letter Song," and others.

PROTESTANT CHURCH GROUP IN RUSSIA FOR 11-DAY VISIT

MOSCOW, July 12 (AP)—A group of Congregational Christian Church pastors and lay workers from the United States arrived here yesterday for an 11-day visit in the Soviet Union.

Their chairman, the Rev. Hermann F. Reissig of Forest Hills, N.Y., said they hoped to meet Premier Bulganin or some other Soviet leader, but had no assurances on that score.

He told a reporter that unlike a United States church group that came here earlier, "our interest is not confined specifically to religious matters." He said visits were planned to collective farms and schools.

Dr. Willoughby on State Board.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., July 12 (UP)—Gov. Phil M. Donnelly yesterday appointed Dr. James W. Willoughby of Liberty as a member of the State Board of Medical Examiners. Dr. Willoughby succeeded Dr. Edwin C. White, Kansas City, who died recently. The term will expire July 1, 1959.

STOCKS DROP AFTER MODERATE ADVANCE

Selling Constitutes Profit-Taking After Six Straight Daily Rises.

NEW YORK, July 12 (AP)—Profit taking snipped-off the stock market's string of six straight daily advances as prices went moderately lower today.

Pivotal stocks were slightly higher as the session began but a selling flurry in mid-morning converted gains into losses. Steels, chemicals and motors were the worst sufferers.

Coppers, which had made about the best showing early in the day, were the first to rebound later, showing gains of fractions to 2 points or more.

But other leading stocks lost from fractions to around 2 points. Some went beyond this. Prices improved somewhat before the close and there was a fair assortment of gains.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks declined 60c, with the industrials down $1.10, the rails down 60c and the utilities down 10c.

Of 1159 issued traded, advances totaled 387 and declines 20. There were 41 new highs for the year and 10 new lows.

Volume totaled 2,180,000 shares compared with 2,520,000 yesterday.

The mid - morning selling flurry constituted profit-taking after six straight daily advances in the average. No particular news was linked to the decline.

U. S. Steel was down around a point while Bethlehem and Youngstown Sheet & Tube declined fractionally. Lukens retained only a fraction of an early 3½ gain.

Chrysler dipped around a point, General Motors and Ford fractions.

Du Pont was down around 2 points, Allied Chemical and Union Carbide a point each.

Boeing was off around a point, other aircrafts small fractions.

Most rails were narrowly mixed but Santa Fe lost more than a point. Royal Dutch was a 1-point loser while Southern Production gained a point.

Aluminum Ltd. picked up more than 3 points and Long Bell Lumber around 2. U.S. Pipe & Foundry advanced a point. West Virginia Pulp & Paper dropped 2 at 60 on a block of 13,000 shares.

London stocks were higher today, the Financial Times daily index gaining 1.2 points at 177.9.

Odd Lot Transactions.

NEW YORK, July 12 (AP)—The New York Stock Exchange reported today these odd lot transactions by principal dealers on the exchange for July 11: purchases of 286,000 shares; sales of 228,779 shares including 900 shares sold short.

SHARP PRICE BREAK IN SOYBEAN FUTURES

CHICAGO, July 12 (AP)—A sharp break in July soybeans featured a generally easy grain market on the Board of Trade today.

July soybeans broke almost 10 cents, the daily limit, near the finish. Heavy selling followed posting of notices of intentions to deliver 511,000 bushels of cash soybeans on July futures tomorrow.

Other sections of the market had much smaller losses and toward the finish wheat showed rallying tendencies.

Hedging pressure in wheat, favorable crop growing weather for corn and soybeans, and profit taking in oats combined to depress the market. Rye resisted selling, holding small gains most of the day.

Supreme Soviet Opens Debate On 'Improved' Pension Plan

Bulganin, Introducing It, Praises New Party Line, Reports Rise in Russian Industrial Output.

MOSCOW, July 12 (UP) — The Supreme Soviet (parliament) today opened debate on a new pension plan described by Premier Bulganin as a "radical improvement" over the former system.

The Council of the Union and the Council of Nationalities, the two chambers, convened for the second day in the Kremlin palace.

The Moscow radio said Bulganin was "warmly greeted by all present" when he arrived.

Bulganin delivered the keynote speech at yesterday's opening session. It was the first since Communist party chief Nikita S. Khrushchev denounced the late Joseph Stalin and his one-man rule at the Soviet Communist party Twentieth Congress last February.

In his speech, Bulganin attacked what he termed the "slanderous propaganda" being used against the "constant fight conducted by our party against the cult of the individual and its consequences."

He said the Soviet masses and progressive humanity supported the new party line.

Yesterday Bulganin also:

Announced Soviet industrial production was up 12 per cent thus far this year over the comparable period of 1955.

Criticized the coal and oil industries for "operating under capacity" an dsaid they were to blame for the fact that industrial output was not higher.

Said an easing of international tension has been achieved and that "realistic prospects have opened up for the establishment of a lasting and enduring peace."

Introduced the pension plan he said would double the old-age benefits for retired workers and increase correspondingly disability beenfits.

Bulganin announced Russia would soon end the employment of women on heavy labor projects.

WILLIAM L. CURRIE AWARDED SCHOLARSHIP FOR ONE YEAR

William L. Currie, 2042 Hildred avenue, Jennings, a June graduate of Jennings Senior High School, has been awarded a one-year scholarship to Illinois College at Jacksonville.

Currie, 17 years old, was an honor student. The scholarship was based on his school record and college aptitude test scores.

He plans to prepare for a career in industrial psychology. He is the son of Mrs. Margaret E. Currie.

JUNE THEFT LOSS TOTALED $305 AT ST. JOSEPH, MO.

ST. JOSEPH, Mo. (AP)—Thefts in St. Joseph last month cost the average resident just three tenths of a mill, about one thirty-third of a cent. That is shown on a statistical record compiled by Assistant Chief of Detectives Edward C. Burke.

During June the value of all property reported stolen here was only $876. Of that $571 was recovered, leaving the loss at $305. Motor car accessory thefts accounted for most of the loss.

No cars were stolen here last month, Leonard Evans, superintendent of the automobile theft detail, said. That hasn't happened here in more than 15 years. The city's population exceeds 80,000.

PEA RIDGE NATIONAL PARK BILL ADVANCES IN SENATE

WASHINGTON, (AP)—A bill to set up a Pea Ridge national military park near Bentonville, Ork., has been approved by the Senate Interior Affairs Committee.

The bill would provide for establishment of the park after 1200 acres of non-federal land at the site of the battlefield are transferred to the Federal Government without expense.

A union victory at the Battle of Pea Ridge on March 7 and 8, 1862, thwarted a Confederate attempt to take Missouri and ended major hostilities for several years in the area west of the Mississippi.

MISSOURI YOUTH KILLED BY LIGHTNING IN MONTANA

DILLON, Mont. (AP) — A lightning bolt struck and killed Clarence Cunningham, 19-year-old Princeton (Mo.) youth, on a ranch about 400 miles west of here Tuesday.

Sheriff John MacDonald said the lightning also killed three horses and knocked down a rancher, Ralph Quigley, about 55. One of the horses fell on Quigley. He worked himself free and walked to a ranch home three miles away.

Cunningham had been spending the summer on a ranch near the Bitter Root range of the Rocky Mountains along the Idaho border.

BOTANIST WARNS ELMS IN ILLINOIS MAY BE WIPED OUT

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CARBONDALE, Ill., July 12—A Southern Illinois University botanist says the state's elm trees are in danger of being wiped out by a two-pronged attack of deadly Dutch elm disease and the virus phloem necrosis.

Dr. Leo Kaplan, assistant professor of botanty, says the threat can be lessened by a program of winter spraying and quick removal of infected trees.

Dutch elm disease, a fungus carried by the elm bark beetle, has moved westward from the east coast states and now covers about three-fourths of Illinois. Virtually all of Southern Illinois is affected. Phloem necrosis, a virus borne by the leafhopper, is spreading southward and has blanketed the entire state. Both diseases are invariably fatal.

Kaplan suggests simple tests. In the case of phloem necrosis, cut through the bark of buttress roots at the lower trunk. If the inner surface of the bark is yellow or butterscotch color, remove a piece of the layer and hold it in a closed hand or bottle for a few minutes. If the disease is present, the sampler will detect a faint odor of wintergreen.

Dutch elm disease can be spotted by slicing through several branches and examining the inner "annual rings." If the fungus has attacked, brownish spots or discoloration will probably be evident in one or more of the rings. For a sure diagnosis, however, bark or twig cuttings should be sent to the Department of Pathology, University of Illinois.

BURMESE REDS DEMAND OWN PROVINCE AS PEACE PRICE

RANGOON, July 12 (UP) — Burmese Communists have demanded their own province as the price for calling an armistice in the eight-year insurrection and opening peace talks, a high government official disclosed today. Red party leader Thakin Than Tun sent word that Burmese troops would have to withdraw from the area demanded by the Reds before the Communists would negotiate.

The government rejected the demands.

An official said the Communists wanted an area in the Chin state in west-central Burma which extends from the mountains east to the Chindwin and Irrawaddy rivers. The 350-mile east boundary would be the west bank of the Chindwin river.

STATE LABOR MEET JULY 20

JEFFERSON CITY (UP)—A committee of the AFL-CIO has set July 20 as a meeting date to discuss merger of the political arms of the two labor organizations.

John I. Rollings, president of the Missouri Federation of Labor, said he expected "little difficulty" in ironing out differences between the two. Other arms of the labor organizations have already merged.

MORE RUSSIAN AUTOS SOLD ON NORWAY MARKET

Forced Trade Agreements Give Reds Advantage — No Waiting, Money Exchange.

By WILLIAM H. STONEMAN
The Chicago Daily News-Post-Dispatch Special Radio, Copyright, 1956.

OSLO, July 12—Tough bargaining has given Russia's motor industry a grip on Norway's automobile market.

Simultaneously, the American automobile industry, now eager for customers, has been blotted out of the market here by exchange controls.

This year Norway is scheduled to import almost half as many cars from Russia and the satellites as it will buy from Western Europe and the United States put together.

Under trading agreements forced on Norway by its need to sell fish to the Reds Norway will buy about 3500 cars from Russia and its satellites.

Red, Satellite Cars.

It will get 2000 cars from Russia, 500 from Poland, 500 from Czechoslovakia and about 500 from East Germany.

Last year it got 2325 from Russia, 954 from Czechoslovakia and 784 from East Germany.

The important fact is that these cars are on free sale in Norway. There is no waiting list and no trouble about "foreign exchange."

Potential customers who cannot possibly buy an American car and who might have to wait up to six years for a German Volkswagen can just walk in and buy a Russian Pobeda.

While Norwegians are absorbing these 3500 Communist cars, they will be buying 4000 passenger cars and 3000 pickup trucks from Western Europe. Theoretically the United States will be able to share in the quota of 500 taxicabs to be bought. Otherwise, it can only sell a few cars to sailors and other people who are allowed to buy them with money earned abroad. There is no quota for American cars.

Not anly are American cars barred from the ordinary market, but dealers cannot stock them for demonstration purposes. As a result, they cannot compete on even terms in the limited market provided by cab drivers and diplomats.

Even in a free market American cars would have their troubles. They are too expensive for most Norwegians. For instance a Dodge, which costs a Norwegian dealer $1800 at the factory would have to be sold in Norway for $3300. A 1956 Volkswagen only costs $1680 and an Open Kapten, suitable for cab use, can be had for $2800.

U.S. Cars Superior.

Still there would be a substantial market for American cars of all classes because of their superior styling and comfort.

What is certain is that the Russians probably would not be able to sell anything in competition with Germany and other Western countries unless they had the only cars on free sale.

Their cars are good enough for Russia and taxicab drivers here seem to be pleased with them. But they are not in the same class with Western models.

The Pobeda, which sells for $2240, looks like a 1939 model Ford with frowsy finishings. It is sturdy but even the cab drivers say it is cramped for space.

Dealers say that the Volkswagen and Opel, plus the better American cars, would run everything the Russians have right out of the market if they were on free sale. It is estimated that if it were allowed, the market would absorb 5000 Volkswagens a year instead of the 1300 sold last year.

It is laughable to stand in the window of an office building here in Oslo and compare a Pobeda, scooting by in a coat of garish green paint, with a gleaming 1956 model Ford and a well-groomed, luxurious Mercedes-Benz, parked beside the curb on Karl Johann.

If it had not been for the Norwegian fish industry—which sells $15,000,000 worth of fish and fish oil to Russia every year—the Norwegians would never have seen a Pobeda.

SENATE INQUIRY INTO CHOTINER'S PRACTICE NEAR

to get the full story on East-West trade.

By one of life's little ironies, the vice-president must depend heavily on Senator Joseph R. McCarthy, ranking Republican of the subcommittee, to protect Chotiner's interests. This McCarthy sought vigorously to do in the earlier hearings dealing with Chotiner's military procurement clients.

But when Nixon took McCarthy to lunch afterward to thank him, he found the Wisconsin senator in a sarcastic mood. McCarthy observed that he had been reading recent campaign biographies of Nixon in which Nixon had harsh things to say of McCarthy. McCarthy said he defended Chotiner on the grounds that a lawyer had a right and even a duty to defend whatever clients came his way. But the senator indicated that he was in no mood to do the vice-president any favors.

TOP CHINESE RED CUT OUT OF SOVIET ENCYCLOPEDIA

The New York Times News Service. (Copyright, 1956, by the New York Times Co.)

NEW YORK, July 12—The Great Soviet Encyclopedia has ordered elimination of the name of Kao Kang, a top Chinese Communist, said to have committed suicide two years ago under mysterious circumstances.

The deletion of information on Kang has revived speculation whether he might have been a key figure in the reported power maneuvering between Stalin and Mao Tse-tung, chief of state of Communist China. It also reopened the question whether Kao had actually committed suicide.

The editors of the encyclopedia have sent to their 300,000 subscribers instructions to cut out the page bearing the biography and picture of Kao.

Only once before since the encyclopedia began to appear volume by volume, five years ago, have such instructions been issued. The previous target of this technique was Lavrenti P. Beria, Soviet police chief, who was executed in December 1953.

COURT RULES JAPAN CAN TRY 3 MARINES

U.S. Found to Have Jurisdiction Only Over Crimes On Its Bases.

WASHINGTON, July 12 (AP)—The United States Court of Appeals ruled today that a foreign country has a right to try United States military personnel for crimes committed in the foreign land.

The court ruled specifically that Japan has the right to try marines in its courts.

The court held that the United States has jurisdiction over military personnel stationed in a foreign country only when that country has ceded jurisdiction.

Under an international agreement, Japan in general is given the right to try Americans in the armed forces for crimes against the civilian population. In general, the United States, under the agreement, retains jurisdiction in cases involving military offenses and crimes committed on American bases.

The appellate court upheld dismissal by United States District Judge Joseph C. McGarraghy last February of a petition for a writ of habeas corpus filed in behalf of the three marines.

The marines are Sgt. Reice Cozart of Glen Daniels, W.Va.; Pvt. Mack Makarenko of Williamson, W.Va., and Cpl. Gerald Germait of Green Bay, Wis.

Attorneys for the three marines contended United States military forces stationed in a foreign country are immune from prosecution in foreign courts, and that only some overriding authority like a treaty could destroy that immunity. The pact giving Japan the right to try Americans in its courts is only an executive agreement.

The Court of Appeals did not mention either mutual security treaty between the United States and Japan or the executive agreement. Rather, it pointed to principles of international law under which each nation has jurisdiction of the offenses committed within its territory.

It added, however, that discussions of courts in earlier cases suggested these principles do not apply to members of the armed forces. It said these comments, known as dicta, are now entitled to no weight because of the Supreme Court decision in the case of Dorothy Krueger Smith.

The Supreme Court upheld the murder conviction of Mrs. Smith by an American court-martial in Japan but did so on the ground that Japan, at the time of the offense, had ceded to the United States jurisdiction of such offenses.

Since Japan has not ceded jurisdiction of the offenses of which the Marines are accused, the court said, Japan has jurisdiction to try them.

Mrs. Smith, daughter of famed World War II Gen. Walter Krueger, received a life sentence for killing her husband, Col. Aubrey Smith, with a hunting knife.

Cozart is waiting trial by a Japanese court on a charge of causing a death by negligent operation of an automobile. The other two Marines have been convicted by a Japanese court of rape, but are to be retried, as permitted by Japanese law, because the prosecution was dissatisfied with the suspended sentence which was imposed.

TURKISH PARLIAMENT VOTES TO PASS UP BYE ELECTIONS

ANKARA, July 12 (AP)—The Turkish parliament voted last night against holding bye elections this year for vacant seats in the 540-member National Assembly.

Deputies of three opposition parties to Premier Menderes's government returned to Parliament to vote after a one-week boycott.

The Democratic party, which has 450 deputies in parliament, waived bye elections this year by a voice vote. The opposition leader, ex-President Ismet Inonu, said it was unconstitutional not to hold elections. Turkey's next general election is scheduled for 1958.

95 PCT. OF REDS IN TV, RADIO SAID TO BE UNEXPOSED

Consultant Asserts There Are Probably 150 in Group — Assails Blacklisting.

WASHINGTON, July 12 (AP)—A consultant on Communism to the radio and television industry testified today that "not more than 5 per cent of the Communists in the entertainment business have been uncovered."

Vincent Hartnett, fast-talking former Navy intelligence officer, said "in round numbers" there were probably 150 Reds in the American Federation of Radio and Television Artists and "also Communist blocs" in Equity and the American Guild of Variety Artists.

Hartnett was a witness in an inquiry by the House Committee on Un-American Activities into the recently published "report on blacklisting," edited by John Cogley and sponsored by the Fund for the Republic.

The "report," in its 600-page study of blacklisting of entertainers linked with Communist activities, states that a sort of self-appointed board of "clearance men" have the power to indict individuals and then "clear" them for jobs.

Harnett called this "an outrageous falsification," and spiced his testimony with such assertions as "Cogley is such an ass . . . amateurish grasp of the radio and TV industry . . . dangerous slanting," in criticizing the report.

A professional consultant to the industry on radio and television artists, Hartnett said he frequently helped to "rehabilitate" actors and actresses but was "never in the business of acting as a clearance man for performers."

Under questioning, Hartnett asserted that despite the activity of the House committee and other groups only about 5 per cent of the Communists in the entertainment world had been uncovered.

"In the New York local of the American Federation of Radio and Television Artists approximately 30 members have been identified as Communists," he said.

Yet, he said, the Communists can command the support of about 400 members—"some are sympathizers"—with actual Communist party members numbering about 150. There are about 5000 members in the local.

Asked how serious was the question of "penetration" of the industry by Communists, Hartnett testified there was "no progressive penetration among older members. They've already taken sides."

"The extreme danger," he said, "is the young people coming in in their teens and early 20s. It is advantageous to their careers, if not to become party members, at least to become 'progressives'.

"They are afraid if they don't go along they won't get opportunities."

In New York, Alfred Harding, assistant to the president of Actors Equity, said of Hartnett's charges:

"Over a period of 30 years allegations of this kind have been advanced with varying degrees of responsibility. Every member of Actors Equity Association who has been identified in any was in this connection has denied under oath that he is a Communist and no evidence has been presented whether those charges are true.

"The Actors Equity Association since 1944 has had in its constitution a provision barring Communists from holding office, from serving on the council or governing board or from employment by the association. In that time no charges have been preferred under that constitutional provision."

Defies Hartnett.

Also in New York, Jackie Bright, national administrative secretary of the American Guild of Variety Artists, said "we defy Hartnett to show that there is a single Communist in A.G.V.A., let alone a Communist bloc."

"We are going to ask for a copy of all statements made by this witness referring to A.G.V.A., and if he is unable to prove them, A.G.V.A. will institute libel proceedings against him," Bright said.

Several witnesses yesterday took exception to the report's contention that entertainers could have their names taken off an industry "blacklist" through the services of self-appointed "clearance men."

James F. O'Neil, publisher of the American Legion's magazine, said implications the Legion "cleared" anyone was "a distortion if not a deliberate untruth."

He testified the Legion sought only to rehabilitate entertainers once associated with Communism. He said the Legion had "made a major contribution in helping to restore a climate of employment for the innocent, the stupid and the repentant guilty."

The Fund report named O'Neil, columnist George Sokolsky and Frederick Woltman, writer for the New York World-Telegram & Sun, among others, as members of a "clearance board."

Woltman said "any newspaper that proceeded the way Cogley did (in writing the report) would be in serious difficulty."

Cogley said in a statement released in Pasadena, Calif., by the Fund for the Republic that Woltman "seems to have forgotten" the substance of a conversation they had at a New York news conference last November.

Sokolsky sent a statement saying the report suffered from "inadequate research, from either an unwillingness or an inability to get at all the facts, from a double standard of morals."

Frankfurters Ideal for Summer Meals

Other Sausage Items Also Are Good Values Now; Cantaloupes Excellent Quality.

By DOROTHY BRAINERD
Post-Dispatch Food Editor.

JUST mention the word "sausage", and the humble frankfurter is the first thing that comes to mind. This member of the sausage family (which came from Frankfurt, Germany and was given its name after the city of its origin) represents about 34 percent of the total sausage output in the country today.

A thrifty buy and a welcome item on summer menus, it is a wise choice for this week's marketing list.

Also look for good values in the cooked meat specialties, especially the various types of loaves which may be served either warm or cold.

Beef is holding its own; veal did an about-turn and advanced again this week; pork is moving well, meat men report, despite the fact that it is not budget-priced.

* * *

WE PLACED so much emphasis upon cantaloupes last week that we hesitate to bring them up again, but they certainly deserve repetition. This is the season for cantaloupes and honeydews; they are both delicious and moderately priced.

Watermelons are down slightly at this writing, but the price fluctuates with the demand in direct relation to the weather.

You will find the small sizes of California Valencia oranges excellent buys. There are plenty of lemons at reasonable prices, and Florida Persian limes are such a timely item that you will find on this page a story suggesting ways to use them.

Seedless grapes have definitely come down in price; Cardinal grapes also are low. Available, but not cheap, are Santa Rosa, Tragedy and Formosa plums, John River and Kirkman nectarines (excellent in quality); Bing and Lambert cherries. The cherries, we add regretfully, probably will remain high since the crop from the Northwest is very short this year.

Bananas are plentiful enough, and the small sizes of cooking apples are still abundant.

Supplies are increasing on peaches, which are beginning to be good enough to be worth the money.

A very few homegrown black and red raspberries linger on, but there is a bright side to the small fruit picture with Michigan just starting to send us black raspberries, dewberries, currants and sour cherries.

* * *

ICEBERG lettuce rates top mention in the vegetable department. It is a good buy now, and of excellent quality.

Put carrots up there right next to lettuce on your marketing list, they too deserve consideration.

Endive, escarole, romaine and leaf lettuce are fairly reasonable; celery has moderated to the same bracket. Peppers, which have been so very high, are beginning to work downward, and you should find cucumbers a wise investment.

Homegrown corn is starting to come to market, but as yet it is not up to par. That which is shipped in is higher than it has been, but of superb quality.

Tomatoes are quite a problem. There are not enough good ones to satisfy the demand and prices continue high, but our homegrowns are of fine flavor.

Potatoes and onions remain at very high levels, with potatoes continuing to skyrocket. You may find it wise to substitute rice or one of the durum foods for potatoes in your menus until prices ease a bit.

Definitely on the high side are eggplant and cauliflower.

* * *

NEW in Local Markets: Nice timing, this—the introduction of a new line of salad dressings just at a time when we are all salad minded. And quite a line it is, with a type for every kind of salad.

You may choose from Thousand Island, a lumpy Roquefort, a combination mayonnaise-Russian dressing, an Italian style for those who like garlic on their salad greens, a nippy one with horseradish flavor for cold-cuts and sandwiches as well as salads, and a fruit salad dressing with poppy seed.

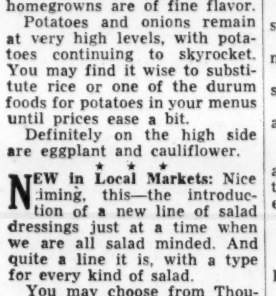

And how is this for convenience? An easy corn bread mix, complete with mixing bag and baking tin, is made like this; You break an egg into the mix which is packaged in a plastic bag; add a half a cup of milk and work the batter with your fingers right in the bag, then pour it into the aluminum pan that comes in the package. In a matter of minutes you can have corn bread in the oven—and only one measuring cup to wash.

Can you think of an easier way to serve a hot bread, or a better hot bread to serve?

REFRESHING LIMES

Fresh limes from Florida accent summer foods as melon, iced tea and fruit and seafood salad dressings.

A wedge of lime squeezed over hot green vegetables, for example green beans and spinach, perks up the bland vegetable flavor.

Popular 'Hot Dog' in Modern Manner

Americans will eat an estimated one billion pounds of frankfurters during 1956, many of them eaten out-of-doors. A new version of the toasted frank combines it with other foods for the popular kabob cookery. The story below also suggests ways of serving franks in hearty main dishes cooked on the kitchen range.

CAN YOU IMAGINE America without hot dogs? It seems almost as improbable as America without baseball games, or television, or picnics. The humble frankfurter is definitely a part of our way of life—and never more so than during the summer months. During 1956, men who know about such things estimate Americans will consume more than one billion pounds of hot dogs.

A great many of these will be eaten out-of-doors at barbecues, picnics, on camping trips. Franks toasted over a campfire are favorite fare for those who like to eat under blue skies. A new version of the toasted frank combines it with other foods on a long skewer.

Franks are especially suited to this meal-on-a-stick trend because they are fully cooked as purchased. The trick to successful kabob cookery lies in selecting foods that cook in the short time needed to heat the franks. Tart quartered apples, pineapple chunks or slices of bacon are wise choices. To prepare the kabobs, simply place alternating pieces of franks and fruit on a skewer. You might like to have an assortment of different fruits and let each person fill his skewer with his own favorite.

Just be sure to turn the skewers often so all the foods will be browned evenly. To serve, let each one slide the hot franks and fruit bits onto his plate. Serve with toasted split buns or chunks of split Vienna or French bread.

Add to the menu a nippy cheese sauce or a barbecue sauce for dunking, and fresh crisp vegetables.

Frank Kabob Picnic.

One package franks.
Two tart apples.
Melted butter or margarine.

Cut each frank into three pieces. Cut unpared apples into one-inch chunks. Alternate pieces of franks and apples on skewers. Brush with butter. Broil three to four inches above hot coals about five minutes, turning to brown evenly. Serve with barbecue or Quick Cheese Sauce.

One 12-ounce glass of cheese spread.
One tablespoon prepared mustard.
One tablespoon worcestershire sauce.

Beat together until blended and fluffy.

Frankfurters and sauerkraut are a classic; for a variation of the traditional team, try this economical dish.

Barbecued Frankfurters With Sauerkraut.

Four frankfurters, cut in one-half inch pieces.
One No. 2½ can sauerkraut.
One-fourth cup butter or margarine.
One-fourth cup chopped parsley.
One cup catsup.
One-fourth cup cider vinegar.
One teaspoon sugar.
One-eighth teaspoon salt.
Two drops tabasco.
Two tablespoons minced onion.

Combine sauerkraut, butter or margarine and parsley. Cook over low heat for 30 minutes.

In a saucepan, combine remaining ingredients except frankfurters; stir well. Cook over low heat for 15 minutes, stirring frequently. Add sliced frankfurters to sauce and cook over low heat five minutes. Serve frankfurters and sauce with cooked sauerkraut. Yield: Four to six servings.

* * *

Ideal for Saturday lunch are these hearty

Dressed-Up Franks.

One pound franks.
One and two-thirds cups milk or undiluted evaporated milk.
Five teaspoons vinegar.
One and one-half teaspoons chili powder.
One teaspoon dry mustard.
Two and one-half cups (No. 2 can) kidney beans, drained.

Cut franks in half crosswise. Combine milk and vinegar. Place chili powder and mustard in a heavy skillet. Add milk slowly. Mix thoroughly. Add other ingredients. Cook slowly over low heat for 25 minutes or until slightly thickened. Do not allow mixture to reach the boiling point. Stir occasionally.

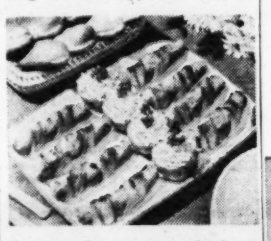

* * *

Plump stuffed frankfurters rolled in bacon strips are good, honest fare. This stuffing is unusual; it uses canned applesauce for flavor, seasoned bread crumbs for body. The applesauce also keeps the frankfurters juicy while the bacon strips curl crisp around them while broiling.

Applesauce-Stuffed Frankfurters.

One cup soft bread crumbs.
Three tablespoons melted butter or margarine.
One-half teaspoon poultry seasoning.
One cup canned applesauce.
Eight frankfurters.
Eight bacon slices.

Combine bread crumbs, butter or margarine and poultry seasoning. Cook applesauce, stirring occasionally, until most of the water has evaporated (about seven minutes). Combine crumb mixture and applesauce.

Split frankfurters almost through to bottom, lengthwise. Fill with applesauce mixture. Wrap one slice bacon around each frankfurter; fasten with tooth picks. Broil eight minutes.

* * *

The friendly frank teams compatibly with Spanish rice in this nourishing dish. Serve it with a salad, beverage and fruit dessert for a satisfying and easily prepared meal.

Frankfurter Spanish Rice.

One pound frankfurters.
One-half cup chopped green pepper.
One-half cup chopped onion.
Three tablespoons fat.
Two and one-half cups tomatoes (No. 2 can).
One and one-fourth teaspoons salt.
One tablespoon sugar.
One-eighth teaspoon pepper.
One clove garlic, chopped.
One bay leaf.
Three whole cloves.
Three cups cooked rice (one cup uncooked).
Parmesan cheese (optional).

Cook onion and green pepper in fat until soft. Add remaining ingredients, except rice and frankfurters. Simmer, uncovered, 15 minutes. Remove bay leaf and cloves. Add rice and half of the frankfurters, sliced. Cover and simmer five minutes. Brown remaining whole frankfurters in a little hot fat. Serve with the Spanish rice. If desired, sprinkle rice with Parmesan cheese.

The National Live Stock and Meat Board suggests these ways of enjoying the versatile frank in summer menus.

Cut franks in slices and heat in bacon drippings. Add to favorite hot potato salad mixture.

* * *

Alternate layers of frankfurter slices with tomato-seasoned cooked spaghetti in casserole. Sprinkle top with grated cheddar cheese and bake in a moderate oven for 30 minutes.

* * *

Follow directions on packaged roll mix and let rise. Roll to one-fourth inch and cut into 12 squares. Place frankfurter diagonally on each square. Overlap corners. Let dough double in size and bake in hot oven, 450 degrees, for 15 minutes.

* * *

Cut franks lengthwise and grill, spread with prepared mustard. Serve in rolls topped with crisp cabbage salad.

* * *

Chill frank slices in French dressing, then toss with raw vegetables for a main-dish salad.

* * *

Slit franks lengthwise almost, but not quite, through. Fill with thin strips of American cheese, wrap with bacon and broil.

* * *

Prepare your favorite barbecue sauce. Add franks and simmer for 10 minutes. Serve on rolls topped with sauce.

* * *

Combine one pound frankfurters, sliced crosswise, with one medium onion (thinly sliced), three medium tomatoes (cut in wedges), one large head lettuce (broken in bite-size pieces, one clove garlic (minced) for a hearty Frankfurter-Vegetable Salad.

LIMES ADD INTEREST TO SUMMER FOODS

THERE'S good food and then there's superb food, and very often the difference in preparation is slight. A colorful garnish can add a fillip to an ordinary dish, and the addition of a tangy flavor to a basic sauce can make a vegetable or fish dish memorable.

One of the more delightful flavors that make for truly gourmet food is that of the Persian lime.

Like other citrus, limes are juicy and rich in Vitamin C. Right now they are in excellent supply in St. Louis markets, with the Florida crop at peak of maturity.

Take advantage of the good supply of this juicy fruit with the piquant flavor by using wedges with your iced tea and cold soups. Or try one of these delicious sauces:

Lime Butter Lobster Sauce.

Four tablespoons butter or margarine.
One tablespoon lime juice.
One-fourth teaspoon tabasco.
One tablespoon minced parsley.

Melt butter, stir in lime juice and tabasco. Add parsley. Serve with lobster. Yield: approximately one-third cup.

* * *

Lime Hollandaise Sauce.

Two egg yolks.
Two tablespoons lime juice.
One-fourth teaspoon dry mustard.
One-fourth teaspoon sugar.
One-fourth teaspoon salt.
One-fourth teaspoon tabasco.
One-half cup butter or margarine.

Put egg yolks, lime juice, mustard, sugar, salt and tabasco into small heavy earthenware mixing bowl; mix well.

Divide butter into three equal portions. Add one portion of butter to the egg mixture and place the bowl in a saucepan of hot water. Place over low heat and stir constantly until butter is melted.

Add second portion of butter, and when this is melted repeat with third portion, stirring constantly as butter melts and sauce thickens.

Remove from heat; serve over cauliflower, broccoli or asparagus. Yield: two-thirds cup sauce.

* * *

A limeade is a thing of joy on a simmering day. Secret of success in making limeade is to use sugar sirup for sweetening.

Limeade.

One-third cup sugar.
One cup water.
Six limes.
Finely crushed ice.
Carbonated or plain water.
Mint.

Combine sugar and water in a saucepan; place over heat and stir until sugar is dissolved; cool.

Cut limes in half; juice. Add juice to sugar sirup; divide mixture in six tall glasses. Fill to top with crushed ice. Pour in carbonated or plain water; stir. Garnish with mint sprigs and lime halves.

SNACKS TO AID THE UNDERWEIGHT PUT ON POUNDS

THE person who is overweight certainly doesn't lack for advice; his only problem may be the will power to follow the words of wisdom which are heaped upon him from all sides.

But the many men and women who are underweight are not so well supplied with constructive help. And they, too, have their problems.

Those who feel that a few more pounds would make a great difference in their appearance will do well to remember that protein, which is high in B-vitamins, is important to those who are trying to gain weight as well as to those who are trying to pare off poundage. Foods high in protein are meat, fish, poultry, eggs, enriched bread and milk.

Since the underweight person often lacks a hearty appetite, it is easier to add calories by means of light snacks between meals rather than by increasing the size of the meals. The combination of enriched bread and milk is ideal for these between-meal bites. The following snacks will add those all-important calories without filling.

Mocha Milk: Add two tablespoons chocolate sirup and two teaspoons instant coffee to one cup milk.

Cinnamon toast.

* * *

Peach Milk Shake: Add one-fourth cup pureed peaches, two tablespoons light cream, and one tablespoons sugar to one cup milk.

Peanut Butter finger sandwiches.

* * *

Strawberry Milk: Add two to three tablespoons strawberry jam to one cup milk.

Cream cheese and nut triangles.

TWO QUICK TRICKS WITH PINEAPPLE

IT TAKES no time at all to bake a single layer of your favorite cake, if you use your favorite cake mix. And it takes no time at all to frost it if you use this Tropical Broiled Icing.

One 13 by 9 inch cake, baked.
One-third cup butter or margarine.
One cup brown sugar.
Two-third cup shredded coconut.
Two tablespoons sirup from canned pineapple.
Five pineapple slices.

While the cake is baking, cream butter or margarine with brown sugar thoroughly. Add coconut and sirup from canned pineapple.

When the cake is baked, leave it in the pan and spread coconut mixture over the top. Cut pineapple slices in half crosswise and arrange evenly atop creamed mixture. Broil until coconut is lightly toasted, about five minutes. Serve cool.

* * *

Another pineapple quick-trick—dress up plain muffins with this mixture that makes additional jelly unnecessary. Use your own favorite muffin recipe, using two cups of flour or a packaged mix, and fill medium-sized muffin cups about half full. Make a depression in the batter in each muffin cup; place in each depression one teaspoonful of the following mixture: One-fourth cup brown sugar, firmly packed; one-fourth teaspoon cinnamon; two tablespoons melted butter or margarine.

Top each muffin with one teaspoon drained crushed pineapple. Bake in a preheated hot oven, 400 degrees, for 20-25 minutes or until lightly browned.

QUICK CASSEROLE FOR A BUSY DAY

New recipes for quick casseroles are always welcome, especially when most of the ingredients can be found on the pantry shelf.

Here is one that combines canned white asparagus over crisp noodles, with a versatile sauce that is equally delicious with canned tuna, shrimp, lobster, or a cup of leftover cooked meats or poultry.

Asparagus-Tuna Broil.

Two tablespoons butter or margarine.
Two tablespoons all-purpose flour.
One eight-ounce can tomato sauce.
One-fourth teaspoon oregano.
One 6½-ounce can chunk-style tuna; drained.
One-half cup sour cream.
One three-ounce can Chinese noodles.
One No. 300 can white asparagus, drained.

Melt butter or margarine; add flour and blend. Gradually add tomato sauce, stirring constantly, until thickened.

Add oregano, tuna and cream; mix well. Arrange noodles in bottom of greased shallow baking dish; top with asparagus and tuna mixture. Broil four to five inches from source of heat about five minutes, or until lightly browned.

TWO CRANBERRY RECIPES TO TRY IN SUMMER MENUS

The tangy flavor of cranberry adds a fresh note to summer recipes. Here are two brand-new recipes you might like to try:

Use one can of sauce to make Cranberry Honey Freeze on Fresh Pineapple. It's a luscious, frosty red combination of squares of cranberry honey freeze on chunks of juicy sweet fresh pineapple.

Then take the second can of cranberry sauce to make the Breeze of Summer Cranberry Salad for the next night. This salad is a delightful blend of cranberry sauce and peppermint extract . . . a beautiful red salad to serve on slices of fresh pineapple.

Cranberry Honey Freeze.

One (one-pound) can jellied cranberry sauce.
One-half cup pineapple juice.
One-fourth cup lemon juice.
One-half cup honey.
One-fourth teaspoon salt.
Eight slices of fresh pineapple.

Put cranberry sauce through strainer or crush with fork. Combine with fruit juices, honey and salt. Pour into refrigerator tray and freeze until mushy. (Stir once during freezing process.) Serve on slices of fresh pineapple.

Breeze of Summer Cranberry Salad.

One package strawberry flavored gelatin.
One cup hot water.
One-pound can jellied cranberry sauce.

One-fourth teaspoon peppermint extract.

Dissolve gelatin in hot water. Chill until partially set. Crush cranberry sauce with a fork. Add to partially set gelatin. Stir in peppermint extract. Pour into six (one-half cup) individual molds. Chill until firm. Serve on slices of fresh pineapple or with chunks of fresh pineapple.

SESAME SHERRY DRESSING SPARKS A FRUIT SALAD

Put your next fruit salad in the "special" class with this dressing which has a rosy color and a new flavor.

Sesame Sherry Dressing.

One-half cup currant jelly.
One-third cup sherry wine.
Two tablespoons oil.
Three to four tablespoons lemon juice.
Pinch salt.
One tablespoon toasted sesame seeds.

Beat jelly with a fork or wire beater until smooth. Beat in all remaining ingredients. Yield: about one cup dressing.

Vegetable Sauce.

Dress up your favorite cooked vegetable with an almond, brown butter sauce. Melt one-fourth cup butter or margarine and heat until lightly browned. Stir in one tablespoon each lemon juice and chopped chives, and a heaping tablespoon diced roasted almonds.

SUBPENA UNLIKELY TO DELAY MILLERS' HONEYMOON TRIP

NEW HAVEN, Conn., July 12 (UP)—The planned honeymoon flight of Marilyn Monroe and Arthur Miller to Europe tomorrow apparently will not be delayed by a court subpena.

The actress and the playwright had been called to testify July 23 in a negligent homicide case, but it appeared today that the court would permit them to make a deposition in the case instead of appearing in person.

The Millers were subpenaed to appear in justice court at Roxbury to testify about the death of Reporter Mara Sherbatoff, New York correspondent for the French magazine Paris Match.

Miss Sherbatoff was killed June 29 when the car in which she was following the Millers' car to Roxbury for a news conference struck a tree. Miller stopped his car to give aid.

GIFTS FOR 50-YEAR MEN

Two men who have completed 50 years of employment at Grove Laboratories, Inc., 8877 Ladue road, each will receive a cash gift of $500 at ceremonies tomorrow night at the Park Plaza Hotel.

The men are Lee Walsh, 2807 Park avenue, and George Sumner, 5587 Wells avenue. More than 100 employes, including 16 with more than 25 years of employment with the firm, are expected to attend.

BRITAIN TO BEGIN WORK ON CYPRUS CONSTITUTION

Dependent on Restoration of Order—Principe of Self-Determination Accepted.

LONDON, July 12 (UP)—Britain will start work immediately on a new liberal constitution for Cyprus that will include safeguards for all interests, Prime Minister Eden said today.

The Prime Minister confirmed earlier reports that Lord Radcliffe will start work on the new constitution, which "will not be put into effect until terrorism has been overcome and law and order restored."

Eden told the House of Commons that Radcliffe was to "start work forthwith as constitutional commissioner to consider the framework of a new liberal constitution."

Principle 'Accepted.'

Eden said the principle of self-determination for the violence-ridden Mediterranean island "had been accepted" by Britain.

He said the British government intended to proceed with the development of internal self-government for Cyprus.

Radcliffe was chosen, informed sources said, because of his wide experience and his leading role in dealing with various international disputes.

He acted as arbitrator for the Anglo-Iranian Oil Co. in the dispute with the Iranian government over the nationalization of that country's oil industry.

He also was chairman of the two boundary commissions charged with marking out the territories of India and Pakistan.

Radcliffe to Visit Cyprus.

Eden said that Radcliffe will leave for Cyprus tomorrow for a preliminary visit.

"The rate of progress in this constitutional development must, of course, depend on the extent of the co-operation of the people of Cyprus," the Prime Minister said.

28 Cypriots Held After British Raid 3 Villages.

NICOSIA, Cyprus, July 12 (UP)—Three villages were surrounded and searched by British security forces today.

In a dawn raid on the village of Ktima, the security forces detained 28 Greek Cypriots for questioning. Among those held were a Greek Cypriot Ethnarcy councillor, Erotosthenis Liassis.

Morphou, 30 miles west of Nicosia, was placed under a curfew while troops searched the houses and shops of the 8000 inhabitants. A British soldier was shot and killed in Morphou Sunday.

Troops also placed a curfew on the village of Yerollakos, adjoining the Nicosia airport six miles west of here. Workers went on a 24-hour strike at the airport yesterday.

TEACHER IN INDUSTRY POST

Gerald Nadler, professor of industrial engineering at Washington University, has been named vice president for general operations at Artcraft Venetian Blind Manufacturing Co., it was announced today.

Nadler, 634 Radford drive, Clayton, will continue to do research and administrative work at the university, as well as some lecturing, on a part time basis.

ESTATE OF JOHN S. LEWIS IS VALUED AT $171,847

The estate of John S. Lewis, president of Lewis-Lang Co., a sales and warehousing firm in Shrewsbury, was valued at $171,847 in an inventory filed in probate court at Clayton yesterday.

Principal assets included $111,593 in stocks; $23,494 in miscellaneous personal property; $18,415 in bank accounts, insurance and cash; and $18,345 in notes. Lewis died April 24. He was 46 years old and lived at 1605 Dearborn drive, Warson Woods.

In a will filed previously he left half of his estate outright to his wife, Freda L. Lewis, of the Dearborn drive address; and the other half in trust for her. In the event of her death or remarriage the trust will go to their daughter, Miss Linda L. Lewis.

STATES RIGHTS PARTY ESTABLISHED IN LOUISIANA

SHREVEPORT, La., July 12 (AP)—Formation of a new independent political party, "the States Rights party of Louisiana," was announced yesterday by Robert G. Chandler, Shreveport attorney and chairman of the party's executive committee.

A drive to get a slate of States Rights party candidates for presidential electors on the Nov. 6 general election ballot will begin at a public rally here tonight, Chandler said.

The principal speaker, Clarence E. Manion, will talk on "States Rights and the Constitution."

Manion is a former dean of the Law School at Notre Dame University and leader in a national movement for the preservation of the constitutional rights of states.

The new party, Chandler said, will not support candidates in the Republican or Democratic parties as long as they back the civil rights bill still pennding in Congress.

SENATE OK'S RICHARDSON

Reappointment of Scove, Richardson, former St. Louisan, to a new six-year term on the Federal Parole Board was approved today by the Senate.

He was dean of the Lincoln University Law School at St. Louis when he was named as the first Negro to serve on the board in August 1953.

SENATE SIDETRACKS COASTAL SHIP BILL

Williams Attacks Measure Promoting Dual Dry Cargo-Tanker Vessels.

WASHINGTON, July 12 (AP) —The Senate, amid charges that someone had tried to "mislead" its members, last night sidetracked a bill designed to stimulate the building up of new type merchant ships for the United States coastal trade.

Senator John Williams (Rep.), Delaware, who had voiced the charge, told reporters later that this meant "the bill is dead for this year."

Williams said the Senate had been told by Senator Sam J. Ervin Jr., (Dem.), North Carolina, that the Eisenhower Administration favored the bill, but that in fact Administration officials opposed certain provisions on the ground they contained "hidden subsidies" for ship operators.

The vessels covered by the bill would be combination tankers and carriers of dry cargo which would be carried on an upper deck.

Senator Lyndon B. Johnson Texas, the Senate Democratic leader, ordered the bill laid aside, and announced "it will not be the purpose of the leadership to program this bill again this year until these discrepancies are cleared up, and until it is cleared by the policy groups on both sides."

Ervin said he hadn't tried "to deceive or mislead" anyone, adding that he had been informed by the staff of the Commerce Committee that there were no objections to the bill from any Government agencies.

Williams said two provisions in the bill would permit the Government to buy back from the Waterman Steamship Co., of Mobile, Ala., 20 vessels at $1,600,000 each. He said the company had bought these ships from the Government 12 to 15 years ago at an average price of $800,000 to $900,000.

The bill among other things would have allowed the Commerce Department to charter surplus tankers to private companies, charging them $150,000 a year per ship.

The companies would be required to remodel the vessels, installing an upper deck to handle lift-on and lift-off dry cargo, and to build one ship of the same new type in a United States shipyard for every two ships chartered.

A hotly disputed provision would have permitted the companies to trade in two dry cargo vessels, by selling them to the Government, to raise part of the cost of building the new dry cargo-tankers.

A.D.A. SAYS CONGRESS IS IGNORING PUBLIC

Urges Extending Session if Necessary to Get Action on 11 Bills.

WASHINGTON, July 12 (AP) —Americans for Democratic Action said yesterday Congress this year has shown "lack of concern for the general welfare" and called on the Democratic leadership to do something about it.

A.D.A.'s national executive committee aired its complaints in a letter to Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon Johnson of Texas and House Speaker Sam Rayburn (Dem.), Texas.

The organization urged Johnson and Rayburn to keep Congress in session until mid-August if necessary to act on 11 major bills which it termed "essential to the public welfare." Eight of these were cited Tuesday by President Eisenhower as "priority" measures.

Noting that Congress is hoping to adjourn later this month, A.D.A. said that "in such an atmosphere the temptation to compromise and whittle down legislation in order to avoid controversy is usually overwhelming."

The letter, signed by National Chairman Joseph L. Rauh Jr., said Democrats have "the responsibility for bringing constructive measures to a vote" and added, "thus far the Democratic leadership has failed in this responsibility."

A.D.A., which espouses the policies of the "New Deal" and the "Fair Deal," said the Democrats' task "is not an easy one." It said "the Eisenhower Administration has failed to press for a positive program of its own and has refused to support legislation in the public interest that Democrats have introduced."

Saying that the work of Congress so far "is distinguished by special interest legislation," the organization urged action on these bills:

Foreign aid, United States participation in the Organization for Trade Co-operation, customs simplification, civil rights, school aid, housing, aid to depressed areas, social security revision, Niagara power development, Hell's Canyon, and immigration law amendments.

U.S. JEWISH GIRL, 8, SENDS NASSER $2 FOR 'POOR ARABS'

CAIRO, July 12 (UP) — An 8-year-old Jewish girl from New York recently sent $2 of her savings to Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser to help unfortunate Arab children, it was revealed today.

The weekly Cairo newspaper Al Musawwar printed letters exchanged by Nasser and Deborah Rabinowitz of Flushing, N.Y.

"I saw on TV how poor Arab children were so I am sending you $2 of my Passover money that I had saved to buy my little sister a Passover present," the girl wrote. "Please buy some clothes for Arab children. Please don't have war with Israel because children might get hurt. I promise I'll send more money."

Nasser acknowledged "with utmost gratitude the receipt of your $2 donation to refugee children dissipated by Israel."

The President commended the girl's "really noble feeling" and assured her "our mission is one of peace."

DENIAL BY BOBBY DRISCOLL

LOS ANGELES, July 12 (AP) —Actor Bobby Driscoll yesterday denied police charges that he and a friend had a bag of marijuana in an automobile.

Driscoll, 19 years old, was arrested with a former high school classmate, Lester A. Ferguson, 20, Tuesday night. Ferguson, a service station attendant, also denied the charge. Hearitng for he youths was set for July 17.

SOCIAL SECURITY AGE COMPROMISE PLAN

Kerr Offers Proposal in Senate for Earlier Benefits for Women.

WASHINGTON, July 12 (AP) —Senator Robert S. Kerr (Dem.), Oklahoma, yesterday offered a compromise amendment to the Social Security Bill to permit working women and wives of retired husbands to start receiving retirement benefits at age 62 instead of 65 as under present law.

Under the proposal, the working woman would receive 80 per cent of their age 65 benefits if they elected to retire at 62, the wives 75 per cent. These would be graduated upward if they went on the Social Security rolls at an age closer to 65.

The Kerr amendment is the one which Democrats are banking on to restore the lower retirement age for women to the bill when it comes up for floor debate, possibly next week.

The House voted age 62 retirement for all groups of women covered by social security, but the Senate Finance Committee eliminated this for all but widows. The Eisenhower Administration opposed the House provision.

The House version provided for the same payments at 62 to which women now are entitled at 65. It also carried increased taxes to finance them.

Kerr said his graduated plan would not require any tax increase, since wives or working women retiring under the proposal at 62 would get about the same total retirement benefits spread over a longer period as they would receive if they waited until 65.

About 600,000 working women and wives would become eligible for retirement at once under the amendment.

His amendment is a companion to a compromise proposal offered Monday by Senator Walter F. George (Dem.), Georgia, to restore to the bill the provision establishing a system of benefits for persons totally or permanently disabled at age 50 or higher.

Senator Harry F. Byrd (Dem.), Virginia, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee which stripped the original benefits out of the measure, said in an interview today that he will fight in the Senate to beat both compromise plans.

PLANTER BUYS GHOST SHIP

SUVA, Fiji Islands, July 12 (UP)—A Fiji island planter, David Simpson, paid $5400 at auction today for the ghost ship Joyita, from which 25 passengers and crew members mysteriously disapeared during an inter-island voyage last October. The empty vessel was found several weeks later, floating in a calm sea several hundred miles off course.

CARPENTERS' UNION PLANS NEW BUILDING

$1,500,000 Structure Will Be Built at Hampton, Robert Avenues.

Plans for a new $1,500,000 headquarters for the Carpenters District Council of St. Louis, which represents 10,000 union members in this area, were announced yesterday.

Work on a three-level brick and stone building is scheduled to begin shortly on a two-acre site at Hampton and Robert avenues. It is to be completed in 18 or 24 months.

Erwin C. Meinert, secretary-treasurer of the council, and D. Richard Adams, business manager, said the union has outgrown its present quarters at 3606 Cozens avenue. The new building will contain three assembly halls, 18 offices for locals, executive officers, classrooms and a bar and grill.

LEADERS OF GIRLS' NATION CHOSEN FROM RIVAL PARTIES

WASHINGTON, July 12 (AP)—Delegates to the Girls' Nation last night elected a president from one party and a vice president from the opposition.

The winning presidential nominee was Ann Morgan, a "Federalist" from Marion, Ill. The winning vice-presidential nominee was Mary Decker, a "Nationalist" from Jacksonville, Tex.

Both girls are 16 years old. They will be formally inaugurated tonight.

4 KILLED IN VIOLENT OUTBURST IN ALGIERS

Rebels Bomb Opera House, Cafes, Machinegun French Military Post.

ALGIERS, July 12 (AP)—Three rebels and a French soldier were killed last night as nationalist violence erupted anew in Algiers. Seven other persons were wounded in attacks throughout the city.

Bombs were lobbed into crowded cafes, and submachineguns were fired from speeding automobiles in a night of gangsterlike violence.

A big bomb blew out all the windows of the Algiers opera house and those in neighboring houses.

Nationalists sped past a military post in a small car, spraying the guards with machinegun bullets. One guard was killed and two were wounded. The French fired back, killing one rebel.

Four Europeans were wounded severely in a downtown cafe when Arabs threw a flaming Molotov cocktail into the building. Two rebels accused of tossing the bomb were captured. One was wounded by police fire.

Two men on a speeding motor scooter lobbed a grenade at a cafe terrace. It fell to the sidewalk and damaged a cab. A police patrol chased the pair and killed them.

Police wounded another Arab attempting to flee arrest.

The French said one of their units clashed with a rebel group six miles from Montagnac, in western Algeria, killing 16 and suffering only "light losses."

In the Kabylie mountains of northeast Algeria, the French said they killed three rebels, arrested 70 suspects and seized an arms cache.

Pakistani Prime Minister Chaudhri Mohammed Ali told reporters in Paris that the Algerian people must be granted the right of self-determination. Interviewed after he conferred with Premier Guy Mollet and Foreign Minister Christian Pineau, he declared the immediate problem was to get a cease-fire in Algeria.

MAN SAYS DEALER SOLD HIS CAR WHILE TALKING TRADE

BALTIMORE, July 12 (AP)—Theodore B. Fowler went to trade his automobile for a new one and went home by bus without any. He claims the dealer kept his old one.

Fowler's complaint to the Department of Motor Vehicles has been referred to the state's attorney.

Fowler reported that while he and a salesman were negotiating, another took away his car. Meanwhile, Fowler signed what he said he thought was a conditional sales contract.

Finally he didn't like the deal and asked for his car back. The salesman told him he had sold it by signing the contract. Besides, he was told, his car already had been sold to another.

MISSOURI CITIES OFFER SITES FOR STATE PRISON

Nevada, Fulton, Hannibal, Moberly, Jefferson City Seek Institution.

JEFFERSON CITY, July 12 (AP)—A parade of Missouri cities offered land to the state yesterday for construction of a $10,000,000 medium security prison away from the riot battered Missouri Penitentiary in Jefferson City.

In quick order offers were made by Nevada, Fulton, Hannibal, Moberly and Jefferson City as the site commission collected information on the possible locations, availability of water, power, housing and transportation facilities.

State Senator Floyd R. Bigson (Dem.), Independence, chairman of the nine-man commission, said all proposed locations would be visited by the group.

Cities' Offerings.

Here are the offerings of the cities:

Nevada—Representative Robert Crawford of Vernon county told the commission the 1300-acre Camp Clark three miles south of Nevada could be obtained from the federal government, probably at no cost. It was used as a prisoner of war camp during World War II.

Fulton—W. C. Whitlow, Callaway county prosecuting attorney, said the city would give the state the present site of the unused Callaway county poor farm at Ham's Prairie, approximately 27 miles by blacktop road from Jefferson City.

It consists of 299 acres, about two thirds of it tillable. Also suggested as a possible site was the 153-acre Fulton airport. Whitlow said the people "are not too happy with" the airport now.

Hannibal—Frank Russell, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, said the city would make up the difference between a state appropriation of $50,000 and the purchase price on a 236-acre tract about one and one half miles west of the city. Water, sewage and power facilities are available within 5000 feet of the site which lies less than a mile from U.S. 61. The people of Hannibal have said they would be glad to have the prison in their area. Northeastern Missouri has never had a major state institution.

Two railroad lines skirt the tract which is 108 miles, or two hours driving time, from Jefferson City. Some 200 acres of the land is tillable. Hannibal has good housing, schooling and labor possibilities.

Moberly—Former State Senator Richard D. Chamier said the city was offering a 245-acre tract three or four miles south of Moberly.

Jefferson City—Alex Vetter of the Chamber of Commerce described three possible sites, two about 10 miles northeast in Callaway county and one six miles south on U.S. 54. All would have to be purchased by the state.

CHILDREN AND ADULTS URGED TO GET POLIO SHOTS NOW

Children and adults not vaccinated against infantile paralysis should receive treatment now because the poliomyelitis season is at hand, Robert T. Hensley, chairman of the St. Louis and St. Louis county chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, said today.

More salk vaccine is currently available than there is demand for, he said. Missouri's health division lifted age restrictions on polio vaccine last month. Illinois extended age brackets of persons eligible to receive the vaccine in April. A "potency period" of six months has been set on the vaccine by the national foundation.

The foundation yesterday asked St. Louis area physicians to encourage their patients of all ages to get shots as soon as possible. Incidence of the illness in adults has been increasing in recent years, with 25 per cent of the present polio patients being more than 20 years old.

YOUTH BECOMES CITIZEN, LEAVES FOR MARINE CAMP

Nineteen-year-old Irving Diamant of St. Louis left for the San Diego (Calif.) Marine corps training camp today, less than 24 hours after taking a citizenship oath before United States District Judge George H. Moore.

Diamant, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wolf Diamant, 5838A Kennerly avenue, was brought to St. Louis from Europe with his family in 1949 with the aid of the Jewish Family Service. He was graduated last month from Soldan High School in the upper third of his class.

Both his parents, who fled to Poland from Germany's Nazi regime, have been naturalized. So has his older brother, Ben, who also served in the Marines. Irving will serve a two-year hitch in the Marines and then will be in the active reserve.

EDWARDSVILLE-LANG LINE TO BE ABANDONED BY I.T.R.R.

Abandonment of part of the Illinois Terminal Railroad Company's 15-mile line between Edwardsville and Lang, Ill. was authorized yesterday by the Interstate Commerce Commission in Washington.

In its petition for permission to abandon the line the company contended it was valueless for through freight service because a viaduct near Lang was not strong enough to support trains. Some of the line in and near Edwardville will be retained for switching purposes, company officials said.

DUTCH PRINCESS RECEIVES MANY OFFERS OF EYES

THE HAGUE, July 12 (UP)—The Dutch government information service said today Queen Juliana is getting letters from all over the world offering to donate eyes to her partially blind daughter.

Nine-year-old Princess Marijke has suffered impaired vision since birth. After a medical operation failed to restore full vision, the distracted Queen put her daughter under care of a faith healer, Greet Hofmans. A rift has been reported between the Queen and her husband, Prince Bernhard, over the royal connection with the faith healer.

The government information service said the offers of eye donation had touched the royal family, but that transplantation was impossible.

It is possible to transplant the cornea, the government statement said, but this would not help the Princess much because she was born with impaired lenses.

The statement added that happily it had been possible to restore some vision in one of Marijke's eyes by "medical intervention," a surgical operation performed some years ago.

The Princess recently was promoted from third to fourth term studies at Baarn elementery school, a normal grade for her age.

Afghan to Visit Red China.

HONG KONG, July 12 (AP)—The Peiping radio announced today Prime Minister Mohammed Daoud Khan of Afghanistan has accepted Premier Chou En-lai's invitation to visit Red China next year.

RECIPE
Mrs. Tucker's Famous Southern Fried Chicken
Disjoint frying-size chicken. Put flour, salt and pepper in a bag; shake a few pieces of chicken at a time in the bag till well coated. Have MRS. TUCKER'S Shortening at least 1 inch deep in a large skillet. Heat until very hot but not smoking. Add chicken and continue on fairly high heat until browned on one side to a golden shade. Turn and brown other side, lowering heat somewhat.
Hot Weather Tip: Fry your chicken in Mrs. Tucker's at your convenience during the day and serve cold at any time. Hot or cold, Mrs. Tucker's chicken is always crisp, delicious and digestible.

So Crisp, Light and Digestible . . .
You Know It's Fried with Mrs. Tucker's
No Other Type Shortening, Old or New, White or Artifically Colored*
Can Fry Chicken Like This Luscious Mrs. Tucker's Chicken!
That's why Mrs. Tucker's Shortening is the favorite of so many good cooks!
And that's why the best homemakers keep on frying and baking with this wonderful modern shortening year in and year out, fry after fry, cake after cake, pie after pie.
For wonderfully light, golden-brown fried foods as completely digestible as baked or broiled foods.
Oh, yes! Mrs. Tucker's really is digestible. It not only gives you the kind of cakes, pies and biscuits you want — but when your foods are fried the Mrs. Tucker's way, they are every bit as digestible as baked or broiled foods. Proof of Mrs. Tucker's purity is its fresh look, even when you use it again and again for frying. So put Mrs. Tucker's in your frying pan.

For white cakes that are really white, moist and tender! And, Lady, those cakes — so much higher than the kind you've been able to bake with other types of shortening — so much higher with Mrs. Tucker's you can actually see and measure the difference. That's because Mrs. Tucker's is made with a patented special ingredient that helps your batter rise r-e-a-l high. And that's why more and more good cooks everywhere are turning to Mrs. Tucker's to get the kind of high, light and tender cakes they want.
Remember to get Mrs. Tucker's the next time you shop.

*Read the ingredient statement on the label of any shortening before you buy. Then you'll buy Mrs. Tucker's Pure Vegetable Shortening.
Mrs. Tucker's Shortening—So pure, so white, you're sure it's right!

26 HURT WHEN GAS EXPLODES IN CROWD

Match Ignites Fumes Which Drifted Into Group Watching Fire.

YORK, Pa., July 12 (AP)—Bottled gas leaking from a tank following two explosions and a fire, seeped into a crowd of 50 spectators last night and exploded again, injuring at least 26 persons.

Some were knocked to the ground by the explosion and the clothing of others caught fire.

York Hospital said 26 persons were treated for burns and the effects of inhaling some of the gas. Eleven remained overnight. All were reported in satisfactory condition.

The tanks contained gas of the type used for cooking and heating in homes. Police said two men were disconnecting the tanks from a building when the explosion occurred. One of the workers was injured. The building was not damaged.

Edward Horn, a fireman, said that after firemen arrived at the scene, a third explosion, like a "puff," occurred in the midst of the crowd.

"The gas spread into the crowd and apparently somebody lit a match igniting the gas," Horn said.

"The explosion in the middle of the crowd sounded like a big 'puff' and suddenly you could see people laying on the ground and others moving around with their clothes on fire."

He said other spectators rolled those with flaming clothing on the ground to extinguish the flames.

"It was remarkable that there was no panic," Horn said.

CITY PARKING COMMISSION INVITED TO GARAGE HEARING

Members of the city's Off-Street Parking Commission have been asked to attend a meeting of the aldermanic zoning committee next Tuesday to explain their reasons for selection of the two sites proposed for construction of municipal parking garages in the downtown area, Board President Donald Gunn said today.

The aldermanic committee has pending before it two bills which would authorize the city to obtain the sites through condemnation proceedings. One site is bounded by Chestnut, Pine, Sixth and Broadway, the other by Eighth, Ninth, Delmar and Lucas.

Gunn also said he will urge the aldermen, when they meet tomorrow to delay the start of their summer recess for another week to permit final action on important pending legislation. The alderman last week postponed their recess until tomorrow.

CMDR. A. W. EVANS TO HEAD NAVAL RESERVE BATTALION

Cmdr. A. William Evans, U.S. Naval Reserve, has been appointed commanding officer of Battalion 9-35, one of the two surface battalions that make up the St. Louis Naval Reserve surface brigade, it was announced today.

Evans, who lives at 20 Winnetka lane, Glendale, succeeds Cmdr. Robert H. Comfort, 3110 Walter avenue, Maplewood, who has retired from command of the battalion.

Other appointments announced were Lt. Cmdr. Joseph J. Becker, 7328 Forsyth boulevard, University City, to be chief of staff of the battalion, and Lt. Cmdr. Herbert J. Maddock Jr., 8747 Pardee lane, Crestwood, training officer. Battalion 9-35 consists of 500 officers and men. It meets weekly in the Naval Reserve training center at the foot of Ferry street.

BREATH - TAKING WAY OF CURBING DRUNKEN DRIVING

The Chicago Daily News-Post-Dispatch Special Radio, Copyright, 1956.

OSLO, July 12—Norway has a simple method of combatting drunken driving: Anyone involved in an accident must let a policeman smell his breath.

If the policeman detects alcohol, the driver is taken to a police station and given a test. If his system contains more alcohol than is contained in a bottle of beer he gets 21 days in jail.

The government, however, will allow the guilty party to serve his sentence during his normal vacation time. If he can't spare three weeks, he can fulfill his sentence by going on bread and water for a week.

Foreigners are generally excused from this treatment in the case of first offenders, but neither wealth nor official rank can get a Norwegian excused. Some of the country's most distinguished citizens have done the "21."

AFL-CIO INDUSTRIAL UNION BOARD MEETS IN DENVER

DENVER, July 12 (AP)—The 85-member executive board of the AFL-CIO Industrial Union Department met in closed session here today and an official said a statement on the nationwide steel strike would be released later.

The meeting was described as a general report on the activities of the department, which includes unions representing some 7,000,000 United States and Canadian workers.

Headed by Walter Reuther, who also is president of the United Auto Workers, the department is made up of former CIO unions and some AFL units organized along industrial rather than craft lines. It was formed six months ago after the AFL-CIO merged.

COUPLE PAINTING KITCHEN BURNED IN FLASH FIRE

Mrs. James McFarland, 4546 Page boulevard, suffered serious burns about the body and her husband was burned on the left hand and left foot last night when paint fumes apparently were ignited, causing a flash fire in the kitchen of their home.

The McFarlands, Negroes, were taken to Homer G. Phillips Hospital.

Police said McFarland was painting and that a piece of paper on which there was an open can of paint caught fire from a flame of the gas stove. Damage to the building was estimated at $50.

BERKELEY CHARTER GROUP STUDIES HOME RULE FORMS

The Berkeley Charter Commission held a public meeting last night at Caroline School to consider various home rule charters now under preparation.

H. J. Schmandt, assistant professor of government at St. Louis University, explained the structure of four basic forms of home rule.

The next public meeting will be held on July 25. A decision as to the type of charter is expected to be reached at the following meeting Aug. 8.

HELD ON AUTO CHARGE

Bail of $2000 was set here yesterday for Charles H. Blanchfield of Robertson, charged with transportation of a stolen automobile from Ozark, Ala., to Panacea, Fla., in a warrant issued at Tallahassee, Fla. He was unable to furnish bond and was placed in custody of the United States marshal.

In being questioned before the United States Commissioner in St. Louis, Blanchfield, 18 years old, asked to have his case transferred here. He was arrested July 11 in the 9800 block of St. Charles road, St. Ann, by agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

HIGH SPEEDS RESULT IN NEW AERIAL MAPS

Air Guard Expert Says Features of Terrain Must Be Shown.

By THEODORE P. WAGNER.
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

CAMP WILLIAMS, Wis., July 12—High speed military flying at both low and high altitudes has made it necessary for the Air Force to modify radically its charts and instruct its pilots and navigators in new techniques of map usage, Maj. Joe H. Funk, Air National Guard operations officer and analyst for the aeronautical chart center in St. Louis, explained here today.

As an assistant operations officer for the 131st Bombardment Wing, Missouri Air National Guard, Maj. Funk is thoroughly familiar with the map requirements of both the Air Force and the Navy's air arm. He is plans and program analyst for the director of operations for the chart center.

"With the increase in plane speeds and the new techniques of tactical air warfare, a new low-level, high-speed chart program was placed in production within the last year," Maj. Funk said.

Show Terrain Objects.

"This program properly will be the concern of the 131st Bombardment Wing, which has the mission of night interdiction and tactical support of ground troops. The new charts for the low-level, high-speed flying show prominent features, both man-made and such natural terrain objects as rock outcropping. Traveling at 600 miles an hour, a pilot must plan his flight well, and be familiar with all objects that can be important to the success and safety of his mission."

Checking prominent features along a course is also important to the pilot of a jet plane, because of the tremendous fuel consumption of jet planes at low level. The "jet" chart is developed in a strip covering a two-mile wide area that can be rolled and unrolled by the flyer. The scale of the new chart is one inch for each two ground miles.

For the opposite type of operation — the high altitude work of the Strategic Air Command—a chart with a scale of one inch for each eight miles has been prepared by the chart center. Previous charts were largely designed for visual reference at medium altitudes. The new chart, while available for visual flying, is primarily for use when sight of the crowd is blocked out by cloud banks.

Special attention is given to objects having good "radar return," Maj. Funk explained. Flat areas, such as airports and bodies of water, give a good radar "return." So do railroad tracks, which are readily identifiable by radar.

Changes in Cities Noted.

Changing the physical appearance of a city, such as the rehabilitation of St. Louis, makes work for the chart designers, Maj. Funk remarked. Such changes are noted in every instance that could have military significance to the United States.

The chart center has information offices in various parts of the world gathering necessary data. In some instances this is exceedingly difficult, Maj. Funk observed.

Training of the Missouri Air Guard continued at a fast pace today under the eyes of officers from the Pentagon. Among them were Maj. Gen. Winston P. Wilson, Chief of Air Division, National Guard Bureau; Col. Philip Pease, Lt. Col. John F. Mitchell Jr., Maj. B. F. Holmes, Lt. Col. Bernard Golden and Capt. Robert Seabolt, all from the National Guard Bureau.

DESTRUCTION OF JURY RECORDINGS URGED

Senate Group Assails Ford Foundation's 'Invasion of Sanctity.'

WASHINGTON, July 12 (AP) —The Senate Internal Security subcommittee demanded today that University of Chicago researchers destroy the secret recordings they made of juries' deliberations in United States district court at Wichita, Kan.

In a report on an investigation completed last fall, the subcommittee said that the research team had "invaded the sanctity of jury rooms" by placing hidden microphones to record the proceedings.

"Knowledge by any group of jurors that the sanctity of their deliberations may be invaded in this or any other manner cannot fail to affect adversely the free and full discussions necessary to the formation of a proper verdict," the report said.

The jury room surveillance in 1953 was part of a project financed by a $400,000 grant from the Ford Foundation to determine, among other things, how juries reached their verdicts and how fully they understood their instructions from the trial judge.

Started Controversy.

Disclosure of the project stirred a controversy which touched off the subcommittee's public hearings to investigate it last October. The subcommittee's report is dated last March 20, but it was made public only today.

In five recommendations, the subcommittee urged that:

1. A transcript of the testimony go to the Justice Department for "determination as to whether any violation of the law occurred" in recording the jurors' deliberations.

2. The Internal Revenue Service study whether use of Ford Foundation funds "is compatible with the conditions under which . . . (it) receives exemption from taxes."

3. Legislation be enacted "to prevent further violations of the sanctity of the federal jury rooms." The Senate already has passed a bill to forbid the practice, which lawyers contend is not now prohibited by any specific statute.

Curbs on Exemptions?

4. The Senate Finance Committee determine whether new restrictions should be imposed on tax exemptions to foundations.

5. "All recording tapes, including copies, and all transcriptions and notes which evolved from the recording of jury deliberations by representatives of the University of Chicago be destroyed by voluntary action of such representatives."

The report was signed by eight of the subcommittee's nine members. Senator Thomas C. Hennings (Dem.), Missouri, did not sign. There was no immediate explanation as to his reasons for not signing.

WIDOW OF INLAND PRESS GROUP FOUNDER DIES AT 101

AURORA, Ill. (INS) — Mrs. Emma Simpson Groom, widow of a founder of the Inland Daily Press Association, died Monday night in Aurora. She was 101 years old. Mrs. Groom was born in Westmoreland county, Pennsylvania, March 29, 1855.

Her late husband, Col. J. K. Groom, was a newspaper man who was a principle founder of the association, one of the chief organizations of its type in the United States.

She is survived by a son, a daughter, four grandchildren and seven great-granchildren.

FARM, CITY BALANCE PRAISED BY HOCKER

Governor Candidate Says Urban and Rural Prosperity Are Related.

By a Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WEST PLAINS, Mo., July 12—Maintenance of an even balance between rural and urban development is one of Missouri's "greatest assets," Lon Hocker, St. Louis attorney and leading contestant for the Republican gubernatorial nomination, said here today, in a campaign tour of the Ozarks.

"The welfare of the cities depends upon the health and prosperity of the agricultural areas," he said. "There is danger in our using up natural resources faster than man, science and nature can renew them. While our national population has doubled in the past 50 years, we use 11 times as much power, 13 times as much fuel and 14 times as much paper.

"Conservation today does not mean locking up our resources, but means making the wisest possible use of them and at the same time increasing and sustaining the riches of the soil, the forests, water supply and all of the built-in features of pioneer days.

"The need for paper is beginning to bring the pulpwood industry to Missouri. This, even more than timber production, has a record for sustained yield. The state, by tax concessions for proper forest methods, by discouraging over grazing and burning over, now has more than 300,000 acres of private forest land under state protection.

"A new administration in Jefferson City can do much to conserve our resources of soil and water. We need greater vigilance in soil conservation and greater encouragement of self-help that is found in the formation of local, or county, soil conservation districts."

Touching upon the problem of water supplies, Hocker said that, if elected, he would call for enactment of a watershed conservation enabling act to encourage local areas to set up their own methods of control.

Speaking last night at a political meeting at Noel, Mo., Hocker asserted:

"Instead of developing light industries in our small towns, we have stood by idly and let our rural young people and entire families migrate to the big cities and many to other states."

He said that by promoting location of light industries in small cities of the rural areas, the state would make it possible for such communities to provide adequate schools, hospitals and other public services for an expanded population.

COUNTY G.O.P. COMMITTEE BACKS ELLIOTT FOR JUDGE

Howard Elliott, Ladue attorney, was unanimously indorsed by the St. Louis County Republican Central Committee last night for appointment as United States district judge, to succeed the late Rubey M. Hulen.

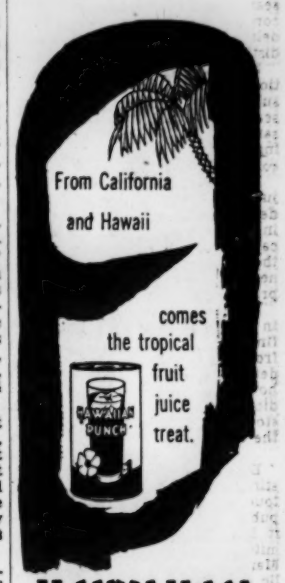

The resolution asserted Elliott was being backed because of his diligent public service as a member of the State Legislature and Speaker of the Missouri House for three terms, and as a distinguished member of the bar. Elliott, the 1952 Republican candidate for Governor, served as permanent chairman at the recent G.O.P. state convention here.

Norman C. Parker, chairman of the county committee, said copies of the resolution will be sent to Sherman Adams, presidential assistant; Leonard Hall, chairman of the Republican National Committee, Representative Thomas B. Curtis of Webster Groves and to the United States Justice Department.

TERMS BOMBER STILL MAIN THREAT TO U.S.

Gen. Kenneth H. Gibson Says It Is Greater Peril Than Guided Missile.

The long-range enemy bomber, not the guided missile, is the major "threat to America's security and will remain so for some time," Brig. Gen. Kenneth H. Gibson declared here last night.

Gen. Gibson, commander of the Air Defense Command's Eighth Air Division, addressed a joint Civil Defense-Ground Observer Corps meeting at Brentwood High School.

The so-called "age of missiles" has by no means outdated the nation's Ground Observer Corps, now four years old and 400,000 strong, he asserted.

"The main function of the Ground Observer Corps—to detect and give early warning of enemy aircraft—is still a great factor in our over-all defense structure," he said.

"In a recent mock air attack against the United States, where did the first report of this impending attack come from? It was from a G.O.C. member in northwestern Canada and it amounted to several hours of advance warning.

"And where did the second report originate? Again from a G.O.C. volunteer in northern Canada, but a full 500 miles away from the man who first sighted the attack.

"This early warning tipped off the whole air defense system and put it in a position of readiness to make an all-out lethal welcome for the invader. I don't think anyone can question the vital work that the Ground Observer Corps is doing."

The meeting marked the fourth anniversary of "Operation Skywatch," the country's Ground Observer Corps program, designed to guard against air attack. Gen. Gibson's command operates the Super-Constellation "flying radar stations" which patrol both Atlantic and Pacific coasts. Command headquarters are at McClellan Air Force Base, Calif.

Solution of Yesterday's Puzzle

SENATE VOTES TO EXTEND INTERNATIONAL WHEAT PACT

WASHINGTON, July 12 (AP)—The Senate yesterday approved participation by this country in the international wheat agreement for another three years.

The vote was 85 to 2. A two-thirds majority was required for ratification of the agreement involving six wheat exporting and 34 importing countries.

Nations representing two-thirds of the buying and an equal amount of the exporting must ratify the agreement this month to make it effective. United States participation was required because it supplies nearly 44 per cent of the 303,000,000 bushels covered by the new pact.

Under the agreement, importing nations agree to buy wheat at prices between $1.50 and $2 a bushel and the exporting nations agree to sell within the price range.

CZECH DELEGATION ENDS TALKS WITH POLISH CHIEFS

VIENNA, July 12 (UP)—A Czech government delegation headed by Premier Siroky left Poland for Prague today after talks of "great importance with Polish officials," the Prague radio reported.

The broadcast said the delegation was seen off at the Warsaw railroad station by Polish party Secretary Eduard Ochab, Polish President Alexander Zawadski and Premier Cyrankiewicz.

Sources here believed the talks involved the recent workers revolt in Poznan. There have been reports of increasing unrest in Czechoslovakia, also.

SECOND VISIT BY HOLDUP MAN

PHILADELPHIA, July 12 (AP)—A holdup man returned to a loan office yesterday—for the second time this week.

Monday he took only $18.75 in coin from the office of the Prudential Savings & Loan Association. Yesterday he took $1750 in cash and outran police who were summoned by a woman employe as he ran from the office.

MINISTER FINED FOR CONTEMPT BY COLORADO COURT

DENVER, July 12 (AP)—A minister was convicted by the Colorado Supreme Court yesterday of contempt for a letter he wrote criticizing its decision in a public utilities election case. He was given a five-day suspended jail sentence and fined $50.

His attorneys said they would petition for a rehearing.

The court found that the Rev. Frank Nies of the Church of the Brethren at Rocky Ford went beyond the bounds of propriety in a letter he wrote to Chief Justice Wilbur M. Alter and sent to newspapers. The letter criticized a court decision which threw out an election in which Rocky Ford citizens had voted to establish a municipal natural gas system.

The supreme court vote was 5-1. Justice O. Otto Moore dissented.

Justice Moore said that under the constitutional guarantee of free speech he believes anyone has the right to criticize the court.

Justice Felix L. Sparks said he agreed with Moore but felt an implication in the minister's letter that members of the high court were influenced by a private gas company in the case "is contemptuous."

THOUSANDS SWING TO DECAF COFFEE FOR STEADIER NERVES, BETTER SLEEP

Decaf Proclaimed a Wonderful Breakfast-till-Bedtime Coffee

"Being a cab driver, I love lots of good coffee," says Mr. Ted M. Czelusnick of 1840 W. 47th St., Cleveland, Ohio. "But too much coffee made my nerves jittery until I started drinking Decaf. Decaf's he-man flavor made a big hit with me right off the bat. I drink as many cups as I want now—Decaf lets my nerves relax. My wife gets the credit—she found Decaf!"

"I enjoy every cupful," says Mrs. Charles Knowles of 1540 S.W. 12th Ave., Miami, Fla. "As a mother and a housewife, I'm kept pretty busy. I had to cut down on coffee because too much caffein gave me nervous indigestion. My friends have noticed I no longer complain. Now, with Decaf, I enjoy as many cups of coffee as I want, without worry over caffein."

"Its flavor is great!" says Mr. Sherwood Hughes, businessman, of 564 S. Harrison, Kirkwood, Mo. "I've always wanted a caffein-free coffee that gave me the full coffee flavor I like. Now I've found new Instant Decaf. It's really full-flavor coffee that doesn't bother me. It's swell to be able to enjoy good coffee and later, be able to sleep like a baby, too!"

Thousands Sleep Better, Thank New Coffee Habit

You can drink this full-flavor coffee to your heart's content—morning, noon and night—without a bit of caffein worry. Decaf leaves your nerves steady, lets you relax better and sleep better, too. For Decaf is 97% caffein free. It brings you a new feeling of well-being. With Decaf, you no longer have to count the cups of coffee you drink. So if you love good coffee—full-flavor coffee—new Instant Decaf is the coffee for you. You'd never dream coffee so good could be as good to you as Decaf Instant Coffee!

Decaf Makes Iced Coffee Your Easy Summer Drink

So refreshing, so easy to fix! And because Decaf is caffein free, now you can drink iced coffee to your heart's content. You get nothing but true refreshment when you drink caffein-free Decaf.

Make it in seconds: dissolve one rounded teaspoonful of Decaf in a glass half-filled with cold water, add ice, fill glass with water and serve. Or make it by the pitcherful this same easy way.

New Decaf Instant Coffee Provides Full Coffee Enjoyment-Without Caffein

Revolutionary New Process Takes Caffein Out, Leaves Flavor In!

At last . . . here is a new instant coffee that gives all of the satisfaction a fine cup of coffee can provide, yet imparts none of the nervous jitters ordinary coffees sometimes cause. This sensational new coffee is called Decaf Instant Coffee and it's made by a revolutionary Swiss process that removes 97% of the caffein before roasting—leaves in 100% of the roaster-richness of the world's choice coffees.

With Decaf, everyone can now enjoy as much coffee as he wants—without caffein worry. No more need to count the number of cups of coffee you drink. Coffee lovers everywhere find they can drink Decaf all day—from breakfast till bedtime—and not be concerned about the jitteryness and general upset caffein can cause.

For steadier nerves—new feeling of well-being, remember new Decaf Instant Coffee—the full-flavor coffee that is 97% caffein free.

Decaf First Party Choice With Thoughtful Hostesses

More and more women who really give thought to their guests' preferences are serving new Decaf Instant Coffee. They have discovered even the most particular person compliments them on Decaf's rich, full coffee flavor. And the caffein "worriers" appreciate the fact that they can drink all the Decaf they want, even right before bedtime, without fear of sleeplessness. Service note: To bring out the full flavor, make it and serve it in a covered coffee pot or carafe. Or if you're brewing a mid-morning cup, place the saucer on top of the cup for a minute.

SENATE PASSES BILL GOVERNING FOREIGN PACTS

WASHINGTON, July 12 (AP) —The Senate passed and sent to the house yesterady a bill requiring that all executive agreements made with foreign countries be transmitted to Congress within 60 days.

The transmittal would be for information only, but would give Congress information about pacts which some members long have contended have been negotiated secretly.

The measure provides that in cases where the President believes that public disclosure would be adverse to the public interest, the agreement shall be sent to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee under strict secrecy but shall be available to members of that group.

'SOFT-ON-REDS' ACTS RAPPED BY HARRIMAN

Says He Is Only Candidate Never Accused of Weak Policy.

WASHINGTON, July 12 (AP) —Gov. Averell Harriman of New York described himself today as "the only fellow in the position to be a candidate for President" who could not be accused of having ever been "soft on Communism."

"No one can pin the soft-on-Communism label on me," Harriman told Democratic first-term members of the House at a breakfast meeting.

Harriman did not name Adlai E. Stevenson, front-running candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, or any of his other potential rivals for that nomination. He made clear, however, that he included President Eisenhower in the category of candidates who have been "soft on Communism" at one time or another.

Calls President 'Naive.'

Waving toward a color photograph of the President that hung on a wall in the Congressional Hotel dining room, Harriman declared: "This fellow has been as naive as any person in history about the true nature of the Communist conspiracy."

Harriman said Mr. Eisenhower in 1945 expressed belief Russia and the United States could work together to keep the peace.

"And what did he do at Geneva?" Harriman asked. "Put his arm around his old pal, General Zhukov, and said they both had the same desire for peace."

Mr. Eisenhower's policies, Harriman said, have resulted in "building up Communist victories all over the world" and have put the United States "behind the eight ball."

Harriman, once Ambassador to Moscow, recalled his own activities in the foreign field since 1933 under President Franklin D. Roosevelt and Truman. He said every new batch of secret papers released by the State Department has reflected his anti-Communist record.

Harriman said that if elected President he would use that office "positively and firmly" to get reluctant states to comply with the Supreme Court decision on segregation.

Answers Questionnaire.

His views were given in answers to a series of questions from P. L. Prattis, executive editor of the Pittsburgh Courier, a Negro newspaper. The answers were given out yesterday by Harriman for President headquarters.

In his reply, Harriman said he believed the "leadership in all our states should take action to comply" with the court decision "as soon as practical (taking into account local conditions)," and give some "affirmative indication" of doing so.

He said if elected President he would use the power of the office "positively and firmly to induce the leadership in so-called recalcitrant states to support a steady and progressive program of compliance, rather than defiance."

"It is a tragedy," he wrote, "that this critical time in our history President Eisenhower has not lived up to his obligations, or seized the great opportunities presently afforded him to inspire a universal desire for an advance toward a new political morality and social justice."

He said he believed that if President Eisenhower in the last year had called "together men of good will" from various areas to work on the problem, "many of the tensions that have developed in the South and the North would not have developed."

5 REPORTED KILLED IN AREA OF TURKISH-SYRIAN BORDER

DAMASCUS, July 12 (AP)— A Syrian Interior Ministry spokesman said yesterday three Turks and two Syrians have been killed in the area of the Turkish-Syrian border this week.

He said the Turks, including one soldier, were killed by a mine explosion within Turkish territory. He listed one Syrian smuggler shot to death by a Turkish border patrol on Turkish territory and one Syrian shepherd killed on Syrian territory by another Turkish patrol.

The spokesman said the border in one area remained closed pending outcome of the trial of 38 Syrian peasants arrested by the Turks in a border clash June 23. Syria has appealed in vain for their release.

U.S. PLANNING NEW, FASTER LUXURY LINER

The New York Times News Service.
(Copyright, 1956, by the New York Times Co.)

WASHINGTON, July 12—Plans for early construction of a speedier sister ship to the United States, now the fastest liner, were disclosed yesterday by the chairman of the Federal Maritime Board.

Clarence G. Morse, as chairman of the policy-making board and as head of the maritime administration, Department of Commerce, outlined the project at a congressional hearing.

Like the United States, the new liner would be constructed in a private shipyard under government contract and then sold to the United States Lines for trans-Atlantic operation as a luxury passenger vessel. Shipbuilding and operating costs would be shared by the Government and the United States Lines. In an emergency, the Government would operate the ship as a troop carrier.

The United States was completed in 1952 at a cost of $77,-7..,000. The steamship comp..y's share was $34,850,000. It has been estimated that the sister ship would cost $90,000,000 to $100,000,000. Building it would take three to five years.

Now! A Bread to HELP YOU Control Weight!

Takes The Place Of Appetite-Appeasement Wafers, Pills And Tablets That Cost Up To Twice As Much!

NOT A "REDUCING BREAD"... No Bread Reduces. Profile Helps Control Weight Through Appetite Appeasement

30 Minutes Before Lunch And Dinner Eat 2 Slices* Of

Profile

Special Formula Bread

Because Its Protein Helps Normal People To More Effectively Appease The Appetite Control Center Of The Brain —So You Eat Less

Lactalbumin—The Revolutionary New Protein "Booster" From Milk—Gives It A "Higher Protein To Calorie Ratio†"

Better For All The Family Because Better In Complete Protein Than Ordinary White And Whole Wheat Breads

In the brain's hypothalamic region, the appetite control center acts, in normal people, to increase your appetite . . . or . . . to reduce your appetite.

Eating some carbohydrate and protein-containing food 30 to 60 minutes before your regular meal is an effective way to reduce your appetite.

Protein helps appease your appetite longer.

The less you crave food . . . the less you eat!

PROFILE SPECIAL FORMULA BREAD DOES JOB FOR LESS

Two slices of Profile Special Formula Bread 30 to 60 minutes before lunch and dinner should appease your appetite control center.

Four slices of Profile Special Formula Bread cost about a nickel. Many wafers, pills, and tablets, used for appetite appeasement, cost up to twice as much to take. Thus, Profile Special Formula Bread curbs appetite for half their cost!

Actually, a one-pound Profile Special Formula Loaf gives you about 24% more complete protein than ordinary whole wheat bread; about 28% more than ordinary white bread. Because it contains the new miracle protein "booster" from milk—lactalbumin.

A loaf supplies about as much complete protein as 3 lamb chops. Note chart at right for vitamin and mineral content. Be sure to eat a well-balanced diet for sufficient vitamins and minerals.

BUY PROFILE SPECIAL FORMULA BREAD FOR ALL THE FAMILY

Buy Profile Special Formula Bread. It costs a few pennies more. And is worth it.

Not only in the exercise of scientific weight control. But because its higher complete protein content is an important aid to health and vitality.

And you'll love the flavor of Profile Special Formula Bread. It is light . . . with a beautiful firm and even texture.

And it toasts perfectly! You'll really rave about Profile Special Formula Bread toast!

KEEP YOUR WAISTLINE IN

Profile Special Formula Bread really works wonders. You won't lose 10 pounds the first week. But you can work for better control of weight, through appetite control . . . all of the time.

But see for yourself what Profile Special Formula Bread can do. Get it fresh from your grocer today. You'll be delighted with results.

MARY CASSETT, MRS. FOUKE LOSE IN STATE SEMIFINALS

KANSAS CITY GOLFERS WIN MATCHES ON EXTRA HOLES

By Robert Morrison
Of the Post-Dispatch Staff.

EXCELSIOR SPRINGS, Mo., July 12 — St. Louis will have to wait another year to carry off the women's Missouri state amateur golf championship because the last two representatives were beaten in overtime semifinal matches here today.

Mary Gail Cassett, the tournament's giant killer, lost to Mrs. Robert J. Johnson of Kansas City, 1 up in 20 holes, and Mrs. Lucien Fouke of the St. Louis Country Club bowed to Pat Rubelee, Kansas City district champion, 1 up in 19 holes.

Both semifinal matches ended on conceded birdies, Miss Cassett giving up when Mrs. Johnson pitched her approach to three and one-half feet from the pin for a birdie four as compared to the St. Louis girl's seven.

Mrs. Fouke, who rallied from a four-down deficit at the turn, also took a seven on the first extra hole. Miss Rubelee's fourth shot was near enough for a conceded five on the par six hole.

Kansas City thus will keep the title it won last year when Marian Gault triumphed. This time Miss Gault lost to Miss Cassett, 5 and 4, in the quarterfinals.

Mrs. Fauke yesterday advanced at the expense of Kansas City's 19-year-old Jane Brewer, 5 and 4.

Out in 43.

Today Miss Cassett and Mrs. Johnson were out in 43, three over par for the first nine. Mary Gail won the fifth hole with a good approach to five feet from the pin for a par four. Mrs. Johnson won the ninth hole with a par five when Mary Gail was too strong with a chip. All the other holes on the outgoing nine were halved.

Mrs. Johnson went one up at No. 13 by holding an eight-foot putt for a par after Miss Cassett rimmed a nine-footer and took a bogey four. This was one of the few good putts Mrs. Johnson had all day.

At No. 15 Mrs. Johnson went two up, but Miss Cassett won 16 with a par four and they halved 17. Mrs. Johnson, who missed a four-foot putt on 17, was very short with her approach putt at 18, which caused he rto take a bogey six, after Miss Cassett had holed out a 10-footer for a par five.

On the first extra hole, Mrs. Johnson missed a putt again and the hole was halved. On the second hole, Miss Cassett's poorly hit second shot gave her too great a handicap on the par-five hole. And, after needing seven strokes to hole out, she conceded to Mrs. Johnson, who had pitched her approach to three and one-half feet from the pin.

Miss Rubelee yesterday spoiled the high hopes of St. Louis Country Club's Mrs. George Conant Jr., 1 up in 19 holes.

Today Miss Rubelee, a 30-year-old registered pharmacist, had a four-up lead after nine holes which she lost on the second nine as Mr. Fouke made a great comeback, winning Nos. 11, 12 and 13. She won No. 13 with a birdie deuce.

After they halved No. 15, Mrs. Fouke went two down when her tee shot went in a ditch. She dropped a ball out for a penalty stroke. They halved the sixteenth with bogey fives. Mrs. Fouke, who took the seventeenth with a 25-foot putt, squared the match at No. 18 with a par five while Miss Rubelee missed parr with a 10-foot putt that failed to go down.

On the extra hole Mrs. Fouke hit a tree with her third shot and the ball dropped near the green on the far side. She hit over the green and then was long coming back, needing six to get on. She holed out in seven, conceding the match.

Decision in Sale of Detroit Tigers Is Postponed to Monday

DETROIT, July 12 (UP)—The new owner of the Detroit Tigers may have been picked today but the choice won't be known at least until next Monday.

The committee which was to study and recommend which of the eight bids made for the club should be accepted met this morning. After the meeting, the Tiger front office issued this brief statement:

"The board of directors of the Detroit baseball club will meet at 3:30 p.m. Monday, July 15 to study the recommendations made by the executive committee appointed by the board."

Olympic Ski Champion Postpones Trip to U.S.

KITZBUEHEL, Austria, July 12 (AP)—Austria's ski ace, Toni Sailer, sick in bed here with jaundice, announced today his doctor won't let him go to the United States later this month as originally planned.

Sailer, who won three gold medals at the 1956 Winter Olympics, was scheduled to leave for Cumberlane Lodge, Ore., July 24. He had been offered a job as instructor in a summer training camp of the Mount Hood ski school founded by Austrian-born Pepi Gabl.

Old Home Week

Schoendienst Here With Giants, Thinks Arm's Going to Be Okay

By Jack Rice

On a summer night at Busch Stadium three years ago the baseball players were hard to see around home plate, because of a mound of stuff that included an automobile, a gun rack, a shotgun, a hunting dog, an eight-piece set of Bavarian china, a deep freeze, a television set and a basket of peaches. A group of fans was trying to show how much they liked Red Schoendienst.

Schoendienst returns to the scene of the shower tonight, well-liked as ever, and a member of the Giants. It is his first time back since he was traded June 14. It practically is his first time back anywhere as a full-time baseball player for a matter of a month or so.

He disappeared as a starter after June 4, with a soreness in his throwing arm. He took up pinch-hitting, and after the Cardinals traded him, pinch-hitting was Schoendienst's major work at New York, too. They remember him best so far for a home run he hit his first time at bat with the Giants. It brought the score to a tie, and the Giants won the game.

Things Look Better for Red.

The favorite second baseman of Germantown, Ill., couldn't lend himself to the delights of trade-for-trade comparisons when the Cardinals played at New York on a trip following the trade. He was busy being poked by medicine men, and there was talk they had struck calcium in that shoulder. There was talk, too, of an operation at season's end, and talk that Frank Lane had shown some blinding footwork in this deal. Maybe both Schoendienst and the Giants had had it.

At his home here, Schoendienst talks differently. "I feel pretty good," he said when asked about himself and his arm and his prospects. They all amount to the same thing. "I feel a little better than I did; still not up to par, but it's going to be all right.

"It's not good yet, good as it could be, and it had me worried a little at first, all right. Calcium? No, it feels more like I sprained it. I rolled a couple of times, getting balls when I was still with the Cardinals, and didn't fall naturally and I tore ligaments loose. I don't think I'll need surgery."

The Giants' last date at home before they came West was a doubleheader, and Schoendienst played both games. In eight previous appearances, only once had he played second base. The other seven uses of him had been as a pinch-batter. He started West with a record of five hits in 20 times at bat as a Giant.

It was customary spring training routine for Schoendienst to follow whatever pace his arm set, getting into readiness. It worked every spring. When Eddie Stanky managed, he tried at intervals to discourage Schoendienst from taking infield practice, as a form of both physical and mental rest. Schoendienst didn't seem to agree with Doctor Stanky's medicine often. He took infield. He was asked if he had some notion of getting better by getting active now, and it sounds as if he does.

"I think I can begin playing it out, and begin playing regularly," he replied.

He has been examined from toenail to topknot, said Schoendienst. The thoroughness of the physical going-over given him in New York seems to have been a positive morale factor. There were positive benefits, too, in getting home during the All-Star period of open dates. He wasn't eager, much. He arrived here at 4 o'clock Monday morning.

Lane Talks About Hurlers.

At the Cardinal office, General Manager Lane was not above kidding himself, while giving a commercial for the firm. "I would say," he said, "that it's time to come out and see the Cardinals — with the Giants." His joshing done, Lane ached outloud about hitters who don't hit when pitchers are pitching, whenever that is, or fielders who don't field when hitters are hitting and pitchers are pitching.

There is about one-eleventh more chance for pitchers to work, since Ellis Kinder went to the White Sox on waivers.

"We got Kinder to get our club off the ground, and he did a good job," Lane said of the veteran pitcher. "I think clubs carry too many pitchers. I think pitchers rust out before they wear out. That's not said in criticism of Hutch or any other manager, it's just the times. It used to be that if a club had eight pitchers, that was a huge staff. Then it got to be nine, and 10, and 11, and they'd probably carry 15 if they could."

The home stand has begun in full voice.

Four Ex-Redbirds Make St. Louis Bow In Giant Uniforms

FOUR recently-traded Cardinals will be making their first St. Louis appearance in Giant uniforms when the New York team plays at Busch Stadium tonight. The ex-St. Louisans now in strange garb are Red Schoendienst, Bill Sarni, Dick Littlefield and Jackie Brandt. They changed clubs on June 14.

Another one-time Cardinal, Jim Hearn, trying to improve his 3-9 record, will do the pitching for the Giants. It will be Tom Poholsky (5-7) for the Redbirds.

Missourian in Group Bidding for Tigers

KANSAS CITY, July 12 (AP)—Kenyon Brown, member of an 11-man syndicate which reportedly has the inside track on the bidding for the Detroit Tigers baseball team, is operator of extensive radio and television properties in Missouri and the Southwest.

The stations he directs are KFEQ, St. Joseph, Mo., KANS, Wichita, Kan., KGLC, Miami, Okla., KBYE, Oklahoma City, and KWFT, Wichita Falls, Tex.

Bing Crosby is associated with Brown in two of the stations, KFEQ, and KGLC.

Former Hockey Star Dies.

KANSAS CITY, July 12 (AP)—Garnett Campbell, 54, former hockey star, died last night after an illness of six years. Campbell, known as the Wasp because of his speed on the ice, was a center for the Kansas City Pla-Mor team of the American Hockey Association from 1928 to 1935. He later played with the Wichita, Kan., club.

Dodgers 8-5 Choice of Odds Men; Cards 20-1

NEW YORK, July 12 (UP)—The National League's cup of joy still was overflowing today.

Last year after the All-Star game, the happiness over a National League victory was tempered over the fact that there was no pennant race left.

But today, as teams resume full scale action in both leagues, the last place New York Giants are just 12½ games behind the top-dog Cincinnati Redlegs. After the All-Star break in 1955, Brooklyn was a dozen games in front of second place Milwaukee and the rest of the teams straggled out behind that to a 30-game deficit for last place Pittsburgh.

Thus, the last place Giants today are almost as close to the top as were the second place Braves a year ago.

The odds-makers are convinced the Dodgers will do it, for they installed them as the favorites for the stretch run at 8-5 as against a price of 2½ to 1 for both the Redlegs and Braves. The fourth place Cardinals now are so lightly regarded they are 20-1 while the second division teams, Pittsburgh, Chicago, Philadelphia and New York were lumped at 25-1.

In the American League, unless injuries to Mickey Mantle and Yogi Berra cut down the power of the Yankee Bombers, it looks like another runaway. The Yankees were 6½ games in front of both the second place White Sox and third place Indians. And they're home for a long stand, opening a three-game set with the Indians today.

The price on the Yankees right now is a prohibitive 5-7 and the Indians and White Sox are at 8-1.

Cincinnati will try to hold on to its lead against the Phillies tonight while the Giants are at St. Louis and Pittsburgh is at Chicago in an afternoon doubleheader in the National.

In addition to the Cleveland at New York afternoon game in the American, Chicago is at Boston, Kansas City at Baltimore, and Detroit at Washington.

There was one make-up game on the schedule last night, the Giants at Milwaukee, and it was rained out like its predecessor.

Holmes Quits, Sweeney Named Portland Pilot

PORTLAND, Ore., July 12 (UP)—Bill Sweeney, two times in the past a Portland Beaver boss, yesterday was named for his third tour of duty with the Pacific Coast League team. Sweeney's appointment came in the wake of a whirlwind change of command that saw the sudden resignation of Tommy Holmes, after one of the briefest tenures in Pacific Coast League history.

Sweeney piloted the Beavers first from 1936 to 1939, winning the Pacific Coast League pennant in his first season with the club. He took over the managerial duties of the Portland club again in 1949 and was at the helm through 1951.

Holmes said he was acting in the interest of the ball club.

"The club's the important thing and with our luck running bad, a change might be the best for everyone concerned," Holmes said.

The Beavers are currently in fifth place in the league, 12 games behind first-place Seattle and a half a game out of fourth place. Under Holmes's direction this year the club won 44 and lost 48.

Third of Pro Grid Game Seats Sold

About one-third of the seats for the Green Bay Packers-Chicago Cardinals exhibition professional football game at Busch Stadium, Sept. 15, have been sold, the ticket committee reported today. The amount of sales is $34,056 and a sell-out would mean $102,000.

The Cardinal Glennon Memorial Hospital for Children will receive the receipts from the game.

Machen Asks for Patterson Next After His Kayo of Valdes

BETWEEN ROUNDS

By W. J. McGoogan

Carnera Not So Bad as Pictured.

WITH all the guff which has been written lately about Primo Carnera, the huge Italian who held the heavyweight boxing championship of the world for a time, the fact that he was a pretty good fighter has all but vanished.

Most of the attacks stemmed from Budd Schulberg's picture, "The Harder They Fall," which was a distorted version of the whole Carnera episode.

And because boxing itself has been under such bitter attacks for the past year, everybody has been rushing to get in two bits worth about something regarding which most of the writers appear to know little.

Carnera had 95 fights of record. He won 85, 65 by knockouts, 15 by decision, one on a foul. He lost five by being knocked out, eight on decision, one on a foul and one a disqualification.

Now many of these bouts were in various parts of the world, England, Germany, France, Italy, Spain, Argentina. He had 18 contests under his belt before he ever appeared in the United States and came under the tutelage of the mobsters who are said to have controlled him. Of these bouts in Europe, he won 16, 11 by knockouts, four on decision, one on a foul. He lost on a foul and was disqualified in the other contest. Both the scraps which ended in fouls were against Young Stribling.

When he came to this country under the guidance of the little Frenchman who discovered him working in a circus, Leon See, his manager of record was Bill Duffy, unquestionably one of the "boys." And Good Time Charley Friedman, a gambler who worked the Atlantic luxury liners, was an associate.

Whatever their activities outside of boxing they realized that they had a physical freak with some boxing ability on their hands and they hired Abe Attell, one-time featherweight champion and considered one of the master boxers of the past, to teach Carnera the "manly art of self defense."

Attell, at that time, was still under the cloud of having been suspected of the fixing of the 1919 World Series and it wasn't long until public opinion forced him out of the Carnera group.

Off and Running.

PRIMO started off in this country with a string of 17 knockouts, against nobodies, such as Buster Martin of Oklahoma, knocked out in the second round by Carnera at The Arena.

During that string, commissions almost everywhere were insisting that Carnera's opponents be unusually big men to match him somewhat in size. He was 6 ft., 5¾ ins. tall and weighed from 250 to 270 pounds.

Among his early opponents in this country were such as Big Boy Peterson, Cowboy Owens, Farmer Lodge, Ace Clark, Sully Montgomery, Chuck Wiggins, whom he knocked out in the second round at The Arena, George Trafton and K. O. Christner.

Now, strictly on their merits, there was nobody in this lineup who would require a fix for Carnera to beat with the possible exception of Wiggins who, at the time, was very much on the downgrade.

Perhaps some of the bouts were arranged but it seemed that many of his opponents were over-awed by Carnera's size and took the easiest way out.

His handlers, at the time, declared that they would not match him with boxers of greater experience than he had and nobody complained about that. But as his winning streak went on there was a demand for stronger competition and he was matched with Jimmy Maloney in Boston and lost a 10-round decision.

Then he went abroad again and defeated Paulino Uzcudun on a decision in 10 rounds in Barcelona, Spain, and knocked out Reggie Meen in two rounds in London.

He returned to this country early in 1931 and beat Maloney in a rematch at Miami, Fla., and after another series of successes met Jack Sharkey the first time in New York, losing a 15-round decision.

All of this time he was learning his trade.

Then he went to Europe again, fought a number of fights and won them all until he met Larry Gains in London and dropped a 10-round decision.

Beat Sharkey for Title.

RETURNING to the United State he defeated men like Art Lasky, King Levinsky and K.O. Christner again. He knocked out Ernie Schaaf in the thirteenth round, Schaaf dying later.

Then Carnera was matched with Sharkey for the title and he knocked out Sharkey in the sixth round at New York, this one being disputed to this day. But if it was a fix it was the first time anybody ever heard of such thing in a heavyweight title bout.

He defended against Uzcudun in Rome, Italy and won in 15 rounds and then outpointed Tommy Loughran, a master boxer, in 15 rounds in Miami.

There was never a finger pointed at that match until lately. J. E. Wray, then sports editor, covering the bout which was fought March 1, 1934, wrote that it was Carnera's best effort.

Wray, who had seen Carnera in previous bouts, remarked about the improvement shown in his boxing and pointed out, in particular, that his ability with his left hand was greatly improved.

Wray is considered one of the outstanding boxing experts of the country in the last 50 years.

After that Carnera started downhill. He was knocked out by Max Baer for the title in 11 rounds, after having been on the floor about 11 times.

He won a few fights after that but was knocked out by Joe Louis in the sixth round and later by Leroy Haynes twice.

He returned to Europe, lost another couple of fights and wasn't heard from again until it was reported that he was a member of the opposition to the Nazis who had invaded Italy.

There was a rumor then that he had taken most of his earnings and buried the money in the basement of the castle which he had bought and which he lived in but the Nazis forced him to turn over the money to them.

After the war he fought once more and lost, then became a wrestler.

He now lives with his family in Los Angeles where he owns a restaurant and, according to reports, has become a citizen of this country.

It is hardly likely that there was nearly so much finagling in his career as has been reported.

Left Drops Big Cuban In Eighth

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., July 12 (UP)—Unbeaten Eddie Machen of San Francisco asked today for a fight with heavyweight challenger Floyd Patterson as a reward for last night's eighth-round knockout over big Nino Valdes of Cuba in their televiision bout at the Auditorium here.

"Let Patterson show his stuff against me before he tries to fight Archie Moore for the vacant title," said the 23-year-old belter who had registered his fifteenth straight victory and his twelfth knockout before 2913 fans.

"After all, Patterson became Hurricane Jackson," Machen continued. "Well, Valdes knocked out Jackson in the second round, and now I've beaten Valdes twice."

Other Victory April 16.

Machen, tenth-ranking contender, outpointed Valdes at San Francisco on April 16 and knocked him out last night at 47 seconds of the eighth round with a finishing left hook to the chin. Nino's handlers required nearly two minutes to revive him.

The 31-year-old Valdes outweighed Machen 206½ pounds to 192. It was the third knockout of Valdes and his thirteenth defeat in 50 professional bouts. He also was knocked out by Joe Louis in an exhibition.

In the fourth round last night the 6-foot-3 Valdes suffered a technical knockdown when a series of head blows draped him over the middle strand of the ring ropes so that his gloves rested on the apron. Referee Billy Regan counted "five" as Nino came off the ropes, and he finished the compulsory eight-count with Valdes on his feet.

Gleason Pleased, He Says.

Manager Bobby Gleason, who had threatened to "retire" Valdes if he failed to fight well, said today, "I'm very pleased with his showing. He forced the fighting in every round and kept on top of Machen, even if he did get knocked out."

Nino's long left jabs to the face and his rights to the body had him ahead on points, 66-65, on Judge Fred Aaronson's card at the end of the seventh round; but the other two officials had Machen ahead because of his crisp countering hooks at close quarters.

Reduce Weight Concession to Florida-Breds

MIAMI, Fla., July 12 (UP)—Thoroughbred racing has come of age in Florida.

Because of Florida - bred Needles' fine showing in the three - year - old division this year, a five-pound weight advantage conceded Florida-bred thoroughbreds in races worth $20,000 or more in this state will be eliminated.

The state racing commission decided yesterday to do away with the weight concession in the richer events after weighing criticism lodged by owners and trainers last winter when Needles romped off with the $100,000 added Flamingo Stakes and the $100,000 added Florida Derby. The big son of Ponder went on to annex the Kentucky Derby and the Belmont Stakes without any weight advantage.

The commission decided, however, to keep the rule in effect for races under $20,000, and also adopted a rule for apprentice riders which had been recommended by the National Association of State Racing Commissioners. The new rule permits a rider to retain his five-pound apprentice allowance until he has ridden 40 winners or until one year from the date of riding his first winner, whichever occurs first.

Good Things in Life of a Young Golfer Are Free

Passing out free golf balls to youngsters enrolled in the golf instruction course at Forest Park is Club Professional BOB RILEY (in white cap, left). Receiving ball is 15-year-old JUDITH FORD. The balls are donated by the Post-Dispatch, the instruction course furnished without charge. This is the second year of the clinic, climaxed by a tournament. BETTER GOLF IN FIVE MINUTES

By Victor J. East

The writer is a master club designer who has spent half a century playing golf, teaching and perfecting golf club designs. In these articles, of which this is the fifth of a series, he gets right down to the basic questions of what makes a good golfer an expert. He tells how best to put your clubs to work for you, how to keep your movements natural, how to choose the most effective swing, plus a score of other invaluable tips that will help you improve your game.

ALL PLAYERS strive for accuracy—not the kind erroneously thought to come from the suppression of power, but that which produces the maximum force with a minimum of effort.

During my association with the game, it has been interesting to note how each generation of players has succeeded in applying more and still more power to the ball without any serious loss of direction or distance control. This achievement I am sure springs from their continued development of a dynamic sense of balance.

Among the leading players of today there are several fine examples of balance in action. Perhaps it could be rightly said that Sam Snead excels in this respect. In the accompanying photograph the yardstick forced into the ground alongside Sam's right leg is to emphasize the following:

(1) He does not shift his weight laterally in his backswing.

(2) Through balance and freedom of movement, he obtains extra power from the use of his feet and legs.

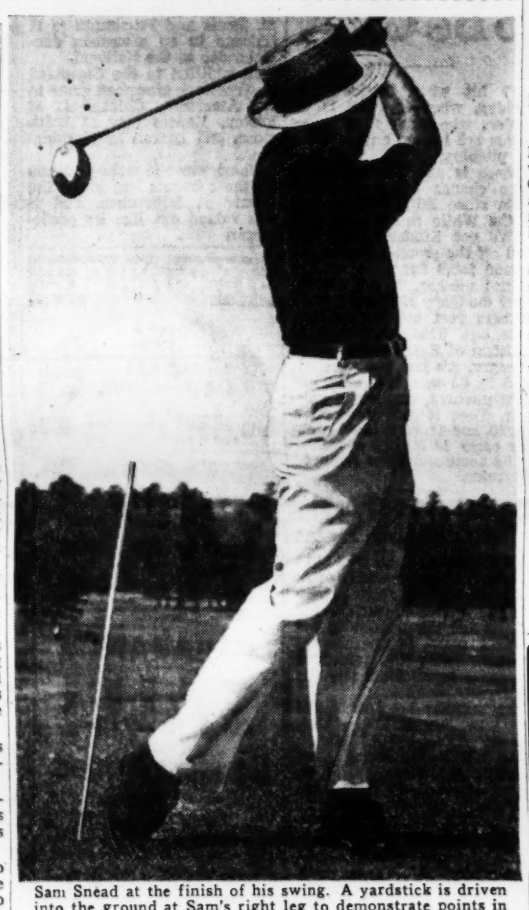

(3) His return of the club to the ball is bound to be more accurate because he shows no appreciable weight shift in the backswing.

(4) His weight progresses toward the left side in order to suit the "flattened curve" path the club head should take immediately following impact with the ball.

(5) His forward movement of weight provides for the added width of the arc made by his club head in the through part of his swing, which, incidentally, is six inches wider than in his backswing.

(6) He provides, with ease, for the progressive slowing down of the spent speed of the club head.

I have a similar picture of Ben Hogan. With it and the aid of a protractor, it is easy to prove that Ben maintains substantially the same amount of weight on each foot in his backswing as he does in his position of address to the ball.

Sam Snead at the finish of his swing. A yardstick is driven into the ground at Sam's right leg to demonstrate points in the swing of Snead which the writer explains in the accompanying article.

There are two schools of thought on the subject of weight change. The old school is typified by Paul Runyan, who in his heyday used to make a marked transfer of weight to the right in his backswing. The newer school has gained in popular practice ever since the late Abe Mitchell demonstrated how you can obtain extra yardage from a balance of weight in the backswing and a thrust of power of the right leg in the down and through swing. The technique originated by Mitchell, and so well exemplified by Snead and Hogan, has the advantages of increased distance and better control of ball direction.

Balance Your Backswing.

I AM strongly in favor of body, leg, arm, and hand actions that do not require any weight shift in making the backswing. Here are my reasons:

(1) The rotation of the head is continuous and in complete sympathy with the backward and forward movement of the club—no sway sideways, and practically no up-and-down movement.

(2) The maintenance of initial weight distribution provides for a more effective transmittal of muscle power and weight influences, thereby generating more club head speed for greater distance. At the same time, it simplifies control for better direction.

(3) Weight stability complements The Basic Movement or "flattened curve" path that the club head should travel immediately following ball contract. This insures a true backspin, without which the ball's flight becomes limited and erratic.

This flattened curve path is another means of describing the follow through the golfer makes after impact with the ball. When The Basic Movement is being properly employed, the path of the club can be likened to a curve that is flat on one end. To appreciate fully the influence of this wider action "through the ball," you have to understand that any contraction after impact is the direct result of an earlier slowing down of the club head. This error is usually traceable to faulty lofting of the ball, accompanied by an undue shifting of weight to the right side.

Wildlife Service Liberalizes Taking of Mourning Doves

WASHINGTON, July 12 (AP)—The Fish and Wildlife Service yesterday set Sept. 1 through Jan. 10 as the outside limits for hunting seasons for rails, gallinules, and mourning and white winged doves.

Individual state game departments must pick dates within these limits for their local seasons.

Included in the basic regulations was a slight liberalization permitting an extra five days or 10 half days hunting of mourning doves. This would extend the season to 40 full days or 55 half days in states east of the Mississippi river and Arkansas and Louisiana, and to 50 full days in the Western United States.

The lone exception to this would be in Texas where five additional half days hunting would be permitted if, as last year, the state is divided into two zones. The added hunting could be applied to either zone or divided between the two.

Other basic regulations by species include:

Rails and gallinules—states in Atlantic, Mississippi and Central flyways may select 70 consecutive days within the Sept. 1-Jan. 10 limitations, an increase of 10 days over last year. No season was set for Pacific flyways because of hunter interest. Daily bag and possession limits unchanged.

Woodcock—A season of 40 consecutive days between Oct. 1 and Jan. 20 with a daily bag of four and possession limit of eight.

White winged doves in Arizona and California—season prescribed for Arizona and for Imperial, Riverside and San Bernardino counties in California will correspond to mourning dove seasons recommended by those states. Bag and possession limits unchanged.

Fan-tailed pigeons—different hunting dates, not to exceed a season of 31 days, may be recommended by California, Oregon and Washington within the Sept. 1-Jan. 10 framework. Daily bag and possession limits remain at six.

Unchanged from last year will be regulations on scooter, eider and old squaw ducks in the United States and for waterfowl, coots and Wilson's snipe in Alaska.

Old Folks' Duel: Paige 1-0 Victor Over Marrero

HAVANA, Cuba, July 12 (UP)—There's still a lot of rubber left in ancient Satchel Paige's right arm.

The skinny pitcher, who probably was throwing a baseball before some of his International League fellow players were even born, stuck around long enough Wednesday night to pick up his sixth victory of the year in nine decisions as the Miami Marlins downed the Havana Sugar Kings, 1-0.

Little Marino Li Petri came to Paige's relief in the seventh after the Marlins had shoved over the only run of the game. Connie Marrero, who may be as old as Paige, started for the Sugar Kings and was tagged with the defeat.

Carondelet Two Routs Simpkins

Nick Ollinger and John McCartney each whacked two home runs to lead Carondelet Sunday Morning Club No. 2 to a 19-3 rout of Simpkins last night in a Muny Heine Meine baseball league game at Carondelet Park.

Ollinger, who also walked twice and was hit by a pitched ball starred in right field. He robbed Tony Meglio of a home run with a diving catch, made a long dash to get Bill Betz's drive and just missed a sensational catch of Meglio's smash that went for a ground-rule double.

McCartney drove in six runs, getting a double, a single and a sacrifice fly to go with his two homers.

Cochran Fires 74 in Colonial Golf Qualifying

By a Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., July 12—Bob Cochran, St. Louis veteran, was still very much in the Colonial Invitational Tourney after shooting a 74 yesterday in the first round of the 36-hole qualifying.

His fellow townsman, Lou Cassett, found the going much tougher and wound up with a 78, compared to the 68 carded by leading Jim Mangum of Shreveport.

"I was never out of the fairway," Cochran said. "In fact, I missed only two shots in the entire round. But I three-putted No. 5 and took a double-bogey on the eighth, then I three-putted 11, 13 and 14."

Putting seemed to be Cochran's main trouble as it was for most of the field. Pin placements, because of thinly covered greens, required some difficult approach shots.

Ken Lanning of Rolla, Mo., shot 37-35-72 and Jack Parnell, former St. Louisan now living in Nashville, Tenn, fired 38-35-73.

Five Long-Shot Winners Add Spice to Fairmount Race Program

Daily Double Is One Of Shortest of Meet

Long shots were heard from in five of the races last night at Fairmount Park with John Madlener's Squads Left, with Terry Murphy up, refunding the biggest prices—$87.40, $20.80, $9 on a $2 across-the-board wager in the fifth race.

Squads Left won the race by a head at the expense of Niembro Cue. A nose margin behind was Gin Tonic. The winning 6-year-old got off to a fast start and from the quarter-mile pole to the finish he was the pacemaker.

The big mutuel prices started to appear on the tote board following the third race. Circuit Judge, whose rider was Elmer Smith, won the six-furlong event and returned $38.00, $10.40, $5.40. Dainty Dish and Select Barre landed second and third, respectively.

Silver Donald got off to a fine start and held the lead all the way in capturing the fourth, another six-furlong race. The 4-year-old gelding paid $29.60, $12.00, $5.60. Place and show honors went to Le Cid and Swivel Hips.

Broad Moat, returning $17.60, $7.80, $6.20, and Young Romance, with prices of $18.60, $9.60, $7.60, were triumphant in the seventh and eighth races, the former winning by two lengths and the latter by about a length.

Although inflated prices were the vogue in most of the races, the daily double combination of Brother Teddy, $6.80 winner of the first race, and Careful Devil, $3.60 victor in the second, had only a $11.20 payoff, the smallest of the meeting.

Jockey Jake Colclasure, who is second in the riders' standings, today starts a suspension which runs throughout the balance of the meeting. Jake's horse, Babby's Boy, interfered with Indiana Vi during the stretch run of the fifth race Tuesday night and was disqualified from first place, according to a ruling by the stewards. In the revised order of the finish Babby's Boy was placed third; Indiana Vi was moved up to second spot with Flitting Rod being awarded the winning position. Colclasure did not ride last night because of a cold.

Eight 3-year-olds will go postward in the six-furlong seventh race at the Collinsville course tonight for a $1000 purse and a field of distance performers will travel the mile-and-70-yard route in the eighth in the co-feature on the card. Post-time is 8:30 for the opening of nine events.

A turnout of 4701 Wednesday night wagered $222,132.

Weber Is Fifth In Standings of Tenpin Tourney

PARAMUS, N.J., July 12 (AP)—Foy Belcher of Los Angeles took over the lead in the National League of bowling round-robin today with a 73-pin margin over Tony Lindemann of Detroit.

Lindemann was the pace setter for the first three days. With a $5000 first prize at stake in the tourney being filmed for television, high scores featured the two rounds today.

The best score was a 262 in the fifth round by Pete Treybig of Houston, Tex., who is last in the standings. Johnny King of Cleveland, third in over-all competition, registered a 258 in the fifth round while Joe Brown of Jersey City had a 255 in the sixth round.

The tourney will run through July 18.

Edwardsville Ties Belleville in Second Legion Playoff Game

Edwardsville stayed alive in the American Legion Junior baseball playoff last night by holding Belleville to a 2-2 tie in the second game of their series. The game, played at Belleville, was called at the end of the eighth inning because of darkness.

The two teams will meet tonight at Edwardsville. Belleville, which took the first game, 14-1, can end the series by winning again.

These Predictions Are Based on Normal Water and Weather Conditions.

The Big Piney is clearing after recent rains and could be ready for artificials by the weekend. For the first time since opening day Black river is clear to the Arkansas line. The Current is too clear for fly fishermen who throw a short line. The Eleven Points is reported as being in perfect fishing shape. The upper Gasconade is clear above the Osage fork and the lower river is murky but clearing. The Jacks Fork above Alley Springs is too low in many places to float a canoe. The Meramec is okay in Crawford and Franklin counties but it is dingy in St. Louis county. The Bourbeuse is muddy. Exceptional catches of drum are being made on the White river immediately below the Table Rock dam construction area. Catches of large bass are being made on the Huzzah and Courtoise rivers.

All lakes are clear. Bull Shoals and Norfork at power pool level. Little Grassy in Illinois, according to our informant, is "blue clear." Good catches of jack salmon are reported from the Lead Hill portion of Bull Shoals and many lunker bass are being caught by night casters at the Highway 125 area. Deep running plugs are taking jack salmon on the Niangua arm of the Lake of the Ozarks. Trout fishing continues good on the White river from Bull Shoals dam to Calico Rock, Ark. Live bait, spoons and small plugs best baits for the rainbows and browns.

Weekend prediction: Bass fishing on the streams and lakes will be below par. Crappie and white bass angling on the lakes will improve. Live minnows and crawfish are best baits on both the streams and lakes.

Jennings Club Shoots On Lighted Trap Course

Members of the Jennings Gun Club today were enthusiastic about their newly lighted trap field turned on for practice the first time last night. The club is located between the Lewis and Clark bridges, in St. Charles county, off Highway 67.

According to Dr. Ralph E. Vandover, club secretary-treasurer, trapshoots with other clubs will be held on forthcoming Wednesday nights.

Eddie Fiala is president of the Jennings Gun Club.

New Chicago Cardinals.

CHICAGO, July 12 (UP)—The Chicago Cardinals today announced the signing of four rookies for the 1956 season, Tackle Charlie Bates, Alabama A. & M., and Ends Charles Anderson, Louisiana Tech, Ed Biernie, Detroit, and Bill Simpson, Austin College. Anderson was the club's fifteenth draft choice this year.

Stockhams Square Legion Series

Title Game Tonight at Fairground

By John J. Archibald

Pitching depth, a factor which the American Legion district playoff schedule of three games in three days is intended to emphasize, will be Topic No. 1 as Thoman-Boothe and Stockham get ready for their title-deciding game at Fairground Park tonight. Stockham evened the series with a 4-to-2 victory over the defending state champions last night at Ballwin.

A team with travel hopes must either have its hurling depth in numbers of pitchers or in the resiliency of the throwing arms of its one or two aces.

Thoman-Boothe will rely on numbers as it sends a fresh hurler, broad-shouldered Bill Scerba, to face the Stockhams in the 8 o'clock game. Stockham Coach Al Grosch, on the other hand, is expected to come back with hard-throwing Bob Miller, who pitched nine innings Tuesday but lost because of poor support, then came back to put out a fire in the ninth inning of last night's thriller.

Taste of What's Ahead.

The local playoffs are scheduled for three consecutive days in order to give the teams a taste of what further tournament play will be like. A club that doesn't have enough pitchers finds it out here and the St. Louis area thus is represented by the stronger team.

Both teams showed pitching quality last night. Leroy Edwards, Stockham's six-foot-five righthander from Central High, allowed Thoman-Boothe six hits and struck out 12, although he needed help in the ninth from Miller. Thoman's Elmer Yordt gave Stockham just four hits, but his teammates returned the kindness shown them the night before by committing seven errors.

Stockham took a 2-0 lead in the second inning when a dropped third strike with two out permitted a rally to get started. There had been a base on balls just before the strike-out. Pitcher Edwards was the next batter and he singled in one run. Roger Robinson then beat out a hit, driving in another run.

Thoman-Boothe appeared to have tied the score in the sixth when pinch-hitter John Hess singled with runners on second and third. Bob Butts came in and so did Bill Allen, but an alert Stockham bench saw that Allen had not touched third base and the resulting play to the base deprived Thoman-Boothe of a run and ended the inning.

Edwards Helps Himself.

In the seventh, another hit by Edwards and two Thoman errors made it 3-1. A walk, a stolen base and an error in the eighth brought the score to 4-1.

The Overland club started the last of the ninth with sharp singles by pinch-hitter Jim Cluck and Bill Wessler, which brought about the removal of Edwards. Miller came in, made a wild pitch that allowed Cluck to score, but after walking Meives he struck out Scerba and Butts and got Allen on a grounder to first.

Thoman-Boothe had one other fine opportunity to score, but a spectacular outfield play saved the day for Stockham. With two on and two out, Allen hit the ball on a line toward left-center. Robinson sprinted hard toward the wall, however, and speared the ball back-handed to end the inning.

Cubs' Crowds Down 25.8 Pct.

CHICAGO, July 12 (UP)—The Chicago Cubs' attendance has dropped 25.8 per cent from last year's unimpressive figures, but owner Philip K. Wrigley today charged the loss completely to weather.

"We had a bad spring," he said. "It even discouraged the locusts. We had about six weeks when nobody wanted to see a ball game."

The Cubs up to today had a total gate of 343,633 fans, down 119,688 for 37 home games, compared to a 463,321 for the same number of games a year ago.

Wrigley was concerned no more than usual about the performance of the club, now in sixth place in the National League with 31 wins and 40 losses, 11½ games behind the leading Cincinnati Rerlegs.

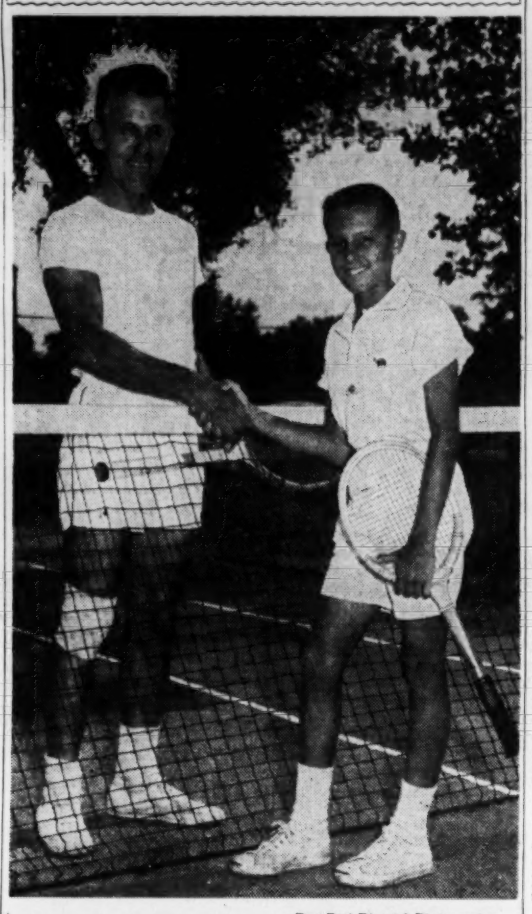

Wrigley said the weather was a partial explanation for the early season Cubs' slump "plus an awful lot of injuries."

"We're doing everything we can to improve the club, and I don't know how to speed it up," he said.

"We've had the reputation of not paying bonuses, but we've paid them. We've been for legislation to regulate bonus players, because it's putting the bag of oats back of the mule instead of in front. But we do pay them, although I don't think we've been as foolish as some clubs."

The Cubs won only five of their first 20 games this year. But since May 16, the club has won 26 and lost 25 and has won 21 of its last 37 games.

Papa Ward Parker Makes Son Jim Behave in Tennis Match

—By a Post-Dispatch Photographer.

Before Dad, WARD PARKER, took son JIMMY "to the woodshed" for a tennis trimming, they shook hands and said it was all in fun. Papa's victory put him in the Muny's fourth round of the meet at Forest Park. Jimmy is 13 years old.

Papa Ward Parker is still the tennis boss in his household. Dutiful son Jimmy, 13, took the short end of a 6-2, 6-1 score in the intra-family match, part of the Municipal championship tournament at Forest Park yesterday and now the elder Parker faces his doubles partner, Ralph Hart, in a fourth round match at 4:30 p.m.

Little Jimmy laughed about the licking he took from dad and promised to do much better in another year or two.

Starting today's program, a good match should develop with Earl (Butch) Buchholz, the 15-year-old junior ace, playing Wayne C. Smith at 2 o'clock. Smith captured the singles crown in 1939, 1945 and 1946. Buchholz gained a 6-1, 7-5 victory over Fred Varner, tennis-playing policeman, in the third round.

Al Holtmann, Illinois U. student who has won numerous junior events in the St. Louis area and the 1954 Muny champion, plays Ted Simmons at 5 o'clock and half an hour later Neil Drury, another junior competitor, meets Bob Ziervogel. Holtmann eliminated Rodney Susman, 6-2, 6-1, and Simmons had a hard time sidetracking Don Dippold, 5-1, 6-2, 9-7.

Ziervogel climbed into the quarterfinals by beating Dick Horwitz, 8-6, 6-3. Drury was a 6-3, 6-4 victor over John Griffee, former Arkansas U. tennis team member and a newcomer to St. Louis. Hart, the defending singles titleholder, turned back the plucky Chuck McKinley, the small boys' district champion, 6-4, 6-0.

Quarterfinal matches are also scheduled in the women's singles. Two junior girls, players, Erika Puetz and Mary Bonkrud, will play at 3. Miss Puetz recently won the district title.

Mrs. Merceina Parker, last year's titleholder, plays Lydia Wieberg at 6. Marilyn Mueller meets Lois Weinstein and Carole Boshard opposes Joan Sanders in a pair of 5:30 matches. Miss Boshard was the 1953 winner.

Dizzy Dean Predicts Yanks-Redlegs Will Meet in World Series

MEMPHIS, Tenn., July 12 (UP)—Dizzy Dean predicts the Yankees and Redlegs in the World Series.

"Ain't gonna be much of a race in the American from here on," commented Diz, who said the Yankees will win the pennant in a walk.

"The tipoff was last week when the Detroit Tigers knocked off the Chicago White Sox three in a row."

Dean, ex-Cardinal star, is in Memphis to play in the celebrities division of the Colonial Country Club golf tournament. He said Cleveland was out of the running because they are unable to win the big games.

Dean thinks Cincinnati will take the National League crown, but saw the Milwaukee Braves and Brooklyn Dodgers fighting the Redlegs right down to the finish.

24-0 and 6-5.

McDonnell routed Missouri Portland, 24-0, in a five-inning game, but Moloney had a tough time beating ChromCraft, 6-5, last night in Y.M.C.A. Industrial League baseball games.

Freak Plays in Publinx Golf

SAN FRANCISCO, July 12 (AP)—Sixteen golfers today headed into the third round of the thirty-first amateur Public Links championships where, judging from yesterday, anything can happen.

Continuing in the role of favorite was salesman Scotty McBeath, the 34-year-old qualifying medalist from Palo Alto, Calif., who won his first two matches handily.

Two more will be played today over the par 36-36—72 Harding Park course to reduce the field to four semi-finalists.

Sharing attention with the good golf were the unusual happenings. For instance, Dick Hermann of La Canada, Calif., shot a hole-in-one during his first round match but lost.

Then Eddie Langert of Memphis, Tenn., dropped his second round match after losing a hole when he tried to use a golf stick as a pool cue in getting his ball out of a tree. "Improper use of a club" was the official ruling.

Five of the surviving third-rounders in this event for the nation's best public course players were under par for yesterday's play. McBeath was one of them. The others were Joe Roach, National Negro champion from Los Angeles, George Galios of Montgomery, Calif., Dick Hopwood of Phoenix, Airz., and George Aubrey of Moon Run, Pa.

On the other hand, one of today's matches brought together Jim North, the 265-pound genial giant from North Bend, Wash., and Emil Espositio, an 18-year-old high school student from Franklin Park, Ill.

In winning two matches yesterday, the scrambling Big Jim was 13 strokes over par while Emil went 11 over but nevertheless whipped two foes.

North, who can blast out drives 300 yards, beat Craig Olson of Long Beach, Calif., on the 20th hole in the second round when he sank a 20-foot putt from the fringe of the green.

Seven of the surviving 16 are Californians. Included in the group was Vern Callison of Sacramento, runner-up to McBeath in the qualifying.

Others making the grade into the round of 16 were Ovid Seyler, San Francisco; Peter Schefcick, San Mateo, Calif.; Jim Wilbert, South San Francisco; Mike M. Andonian, Pontiac, Mich.; Bobby Niehols, Louisville, Ky.; William C. Scarbrough Jr., Jacksonville, Fla.; John Demello, Honolulu; and Junie Buxbaum, Memphis, Tenn.

Scott Coaching Staff Completed

The coaching staff has been completed for Scott Air Force Base's first football team since 1953. Practice begins Aug. 1 and a scrimmage with Washington U. is scheduled Sept. 22 for the airmen in their new white uniforms with bits of blue and yellow.

Lt. Doug Davidson of California heads the coaching staff. He also will be in charge of the backfield. Assistants include Lt. Robert Glass (Tuskegee), Lt. Gene Gorski (Maryland), Master Sergeant Royce I. Corey and Capt. Bob Shield (McMurry).

Major Tom Duggan has been named administrative head and Master Sergeant John Patton of St. Louis equipment manager.

22nd Valley Casting Meet Opens Saturday

The twenty-second annual Missouri Valley Amateur Casting tournament, a two-day affair, will start at 8 o'clock Saturday morning at the platform of the St. Louis Fly and Bait Casting Club on Post-Dispatch lake in Forest Park. Four distance events will be held then.

The sponsoring Carondelet Fly and Bait Casting Club will hold the four accuracy events Sunday, also starting at 8 a.m., at the club's platform in Carondelet park.

At least five national champions are expected to compete in the tournament which will draw casters from Missouri, Illinois, Indiana, Wisconsin and Michigan.

Harold Macmillan, Britain's Chancellor of the Exchequer, clamps cigar firmly between teeth as he aims toy bow and arrow at garden party in the heart of Sherwood forest, legendary domain of Robin Hood. Prize for straight shooting was one of the new lottery savings bonds that Macmillan introduced recently to bolster bond sales in drive to beat inflation. Uninspired by surroundings which bore witness to the feats of great archers centuries ago, he missed the target by a wide margin.

FEED FOR LIVESTOCK IN DROUTH AREA

Farmers from drouth-stricken southern Iowa loading hay at Camp Dodge near Des Moines to relieve their desperate need for livestock feed after drouth ruined pastures and withered oat crops. Hay was cut along highway rights-of-way in northern Iowa, and brought to Camp Dodge in National Guard trucks. Farmers from the stricken area pay $3 a ton for hay and haul it themselves. Governor Leo Hoegh has asked the Secretary of Agriculture to declare 36 Iowa counties a disaster area as drouth continues.

Rains, Lush Crops --And Chiggers

By Leonard Hall

WHEN you've gone through several years of drouth in the Missouri countryside, you almost forget how lush and green it can be during seasons of normal rainfall. Trees and shrubs that were planted in the yard and nursed along during the dry time with all the water we dared spare from the well somehow managed to stay alive but made an almost imperceptible growth. Grape vines put forth their leaves and made a few bunches of stunted grapes which literally dried into raisins before they ripened. Produce in the vegetable garden grew tired of fighting the bugs and gave up in disgust. Garden flowers made a brief display and then faded.

This year the rains have come just right to keep everything going and growing. This is especially noticeable in the young redbud trees and other shrubs in the yard. Grape vines are loaded with big bunches of fruit, the flowers make a fine show and bloom overtime, and the quantity of vegetables becomes a problem. When you can't use them all for immediate eating or even for freezing, you just have to overlook the pangs of a "waste not, want not" conscience and let them go to seed.

★ ★ ★

WE SEEM TO BE ABLE to count on it that once or twice each week, along about midnight, we'll be awakened by the low grumble of thunder in the west and a high wind rustling the branches of the maple trees in the yard. Old Mike, hating thunder and lightning, stands and barks furiously at each flash until we let him go into the cellar. Then we scurry around to close windows, batten down the west porch which is open to the weather, and turn in again to hear the wind die down and the raindrops start to patter. If there's mown hay in the fields waiting to be raked and baled, we have a momentary regret for having cut it on that particular day. Then we console ourselves that as long as it rains more hay will grow, and go back to sleep with the old bit of farmer's philosophy, "You'll never get your hay in the barn if you don't cut it down first."

These well-spaced showers have brought on the finest crop of wild blackberries in memory and they, like many other food crops on the farm, are at their best when you make the fullest possible use of them during their comparatively short season. Now that Ricky, the grandson, has arrived, we try to make a daily expedition to the berry patch. There is only one drawback to berry picking and this is the chiggers. We dust with sulphur, spray with chigger dope and scrub when we come home, but still manage to collect our share of bites. Yet if we had to choose between blackberries with chigger bites and no blackberries, we'd undoubtedly take the chigger bites. Berries are on the menu twice a day with plenty of rich yellow cream from Betsy's milk and they certainly eliminate the need for other desserts.

SPEAKING OF CHIGGERS, our friend Judge Ernest Brand from East End reports a new variety of tick that has appeared this season in his part of Iron county. This is the "grabbin' tick," a good-sized fellow that sits at the end of a twig or weed, waiting to grab hold if you come past. If you happen to be too far away for him to reach, he picks up a smaller-sized seed tick which he keeps handy for the purpose, and throws it at you, thus making certain that at least one member of the tick tribe has an opportunity for a free meal. The judge says this "grabbin' tick" may have been introduced by some campaigning candidate from the south end of the county in hopes of discrediting the candidates from up our way or having us so busy scratching that we'd forget to vote in the primary.

It is interesting to see how completely a boy of eight picks up the farm routine exactly where he left off a year ago. He renews acquaintance with Tiger and Mike, who seem to recognize him. Two new kittens, abandoned on our road some weeks ago and taken in to keep them from starving, are soon named Sugar and Spice, which fits them very well. The deeper pools along Saline creek are just right for swimming and the rope swing under the big maple tree offers as many opportunities for gymnastics as a whole playground. Plans are under way for a visit to Blue Spring Lodge on the Current river and, we hope, a camping expedition to the gravel bar at the Log Yard hole, down on the Ray Moss farm below Powder Mill. All this, of course, in addition to riding Daisy and Ribbon, helping haul hay in from the fields, evening picnics at the big pond, early mornings picking vegetables, observations of green frogs and fence lizards, and an occasional hour's fishing.

OUR ONE BIG disappointment of the summer has been our failure, for the second season, to attract a colony of purple martins to the martin house in the yard. These birds are among our early arrivals, coming north in mid-March and soon establishing themselves in nesting boxes which probably have been used in previous seasons by the older members of the band. There was a time, of course, when martins nested altogether in the hollows of trees. But the birds have become favorites of nearly all country folk and are extremely tolerant of human beings, who have provided gourds and houses until the species now nests almost entirely in these man-made homes. The birds live on insects, including many harmful ones, and their cheerful throaty notes, uttered as they wheel gracefully about their nesting house, are one of nature's most companionable sounds.

Our difficulty, of course, has been to keep English sparrows from taking over. They pack the nesting boxes which they aren't using entirely solid with straw and trash, and start in again on this process the moment after we've taken the box down and cleaned it out and put it up again. Next spring we're going to raise the house another six feet so that it sways freely in the wind and hang a dozen nesting gourds with it, in hope that their constant movement and rattling may discourage the sparrows.

He Balks at Woman's Dolled-Up Concoctions—Has Ideas of Own

By Hoyt Alden

MEN and women, fortunately, have many points of agreement on the subject of food, and some points of disagreement. Perhaps at no point are they farther apart than on the subject of salads.

Women, most women at any rate, take a great delight in dolled-up salads made of strange combinations of fruits and greens, that are supposed to represent something like Washington's monument, or sail, ads trimmed with little flowers which have been carefully carved out of red and white radishes and pieces of carrot. They have what women call "eye appeal."

Men, on the other hand, don't care much what a salad looks like just so it is fairly hefty, has the right combination of ingredients (which doesn't include radish flowers and never, under any circumstances, carrots) and is mixed with a good dressing.

Most men, I have found, like to make their own salads every chance they get, which means whenever the Little Woman isn't looking. Men have an instinct, I believe, for making the kinds of salad men like. All they need is some good olive oil, some herb vinegar, a clove of garlic and a selection of green stuff. That's just for a base.

* * *

STILL guided by instinct, they will roam through the icebox, picking up some tomato, a hard-boiled egg or two, some cold chicken or turkey if there is any around, some boiled ham, some black olives, some anchovies and some strips of Swiss cheese or little hunks of Roquefort.

The results, and you can bet money on it, will be something. Another thing about men, as opposed to women, they like to experiment with different kinds of dressing. Women will go along for ever with thousand island, alternating with French dressing. But men know there is more to life than those two, which is one reason all the great dressings have been invented by men.

MOST MEN LIKE TO MAKE THEIR OWN SALADS EVERY CHANCE THEY GET, WHICH MEANS WHENEVER THE LITTLE WOMAN ISN'T LOOKING.

Here are some combinations thought up by men, which other men might like to try:

Mix a tablespoon of wine vinegar with a tablespoon of onion juice and a tablespoon of chutney. Stir in a half cup of claret wine and then a tiny touch of mixed ground spices. Pour this over your selection of green goods, garnish it with some slices of hard boiled egg and see how you like it.

For a salad made of a combination of chicory and escarole, try this:

Into a cup of olive oil put a generous pinch of fresh ground pepper and a generous pinch of French mustard. Cut up a couple of scallions real fine, green part and all, and add that. Mash a hard boiled egg and clove of garlic and add them. Now beat in a half cup of wine vinegar and a pinch of salt. Take out what's left of the mashed garlic. Then dice six slices of salami and mix it thoroughly and pour it on the greens. There's a man's dressing.

* * *

FOR a salad made of lettuce, tomato, green pepper, chopped celery and a little chopped onion, mix six tablespoons of olive oil with the same amount of cider vinegar. Before adding the dressing, sprinkle the greens generously with salt and freshly ground black pepper. Then pour on the oil and vinegar and toss the salad well. Then sprinkle it generously with crumbled Gorgonzola cheese, toss is again and serve it up.

If you've never tried raw cauliflower, you've been missing something. If you want to try it, do this:

Soak a cauliflower in salted water to draw out the insects and make it crisp. Then wash it and break it into buds. Mix the buds with about half as many raw mushroom caps, toss them in French dressing, put them in the refrigerator until they're good and cold, and serve them on lettuce leaves. It's another man-type salad.

At the Cipango Club in Dallas, Tex., a very tony spot inhabited by the fabulous Texas millionaires, they make a Mexican salad which is popular with all men, even those who haven't more than a couple of million to their names. Like this:

Toss together equal parts of finely chopped cabbage and finely chopped salad greens. Across the top put a half-inch strip of chopped avocado, a half-inch strip of chopped hard-boiled egg, a half-inch strip of chopped crisp bacon and another half-inch strip of chili verde.

Over this pour a dressing made as follows:

Beat together one ounce of good vinegar, two ounces of olive oil, a chopped filet of anchovy, half a green pepper, finely chopped; salt and pepper to taste, a half clove of chopped garlic, a half teaspoon of oregano, and a dash of hot sauce.

It's food like that that made Texans what they are, no doubt.

MORTGAGE rates: If you're negotiating a conventional (non-FHA or non-VA) mortgage, it may pay to shop around, not accept first terms offered. Rates vary between lending institutions in same city. Even a ½% difference amounts to big money—$1708, for instance, on a 25-year, $20,000 mortgage. Check also on life insurance companies; many offer low mortgage rates. Some but not all require that you own, or buy, life insurance equal in amount to mortgage. Generally, insurance company mortgages are shorter term, 25 years at most. And maximum loan may depend on your earnings. One company limits mortgage to 1½ times borrower's annual income, lends only to owners or buyers of its life insurance, at 4¼% on mortgages maturing within 12½ years; 4½% on those up to 18; 4¾% on longer ones.

Water Heating Costs: Set temperature no higher than 140 degrees, recommends one expert. Reason: Excessive water temperature tends to reduce heater's efficiency by increasing scale formation inside tank (at 160 degrees, scale formation is 3½ times as great as at 140). . . . Twice a month, draw water through drain cock until it runs clean. This removes sediment, prevents build-up at bottom of tank which acts as insulation to make heating more difficult. . . . Insulate any long pipe runs. Every time you draw hot water from faucet, some remains in pipe where it cools rapidly. Insulation cuts this loss.

New Products.

Water line hammering and knocking, more than just a nuisance to listen to, can cause breakdowns in water heaters and washing machines, and failures in pipe fittings, valves and faucets. To end the problem, there's an inexpensive new anti-hammer, shock-absorber coil any home owner can install. Virtually indestructible and easy to service, it's full of air which acts as a cushion. The air lasts for at least a year, can then be restored with four or five strokes of a bicycle tire pump.

* * *

FOR YOUR CAR: A new miniature vacuum cleaner operates off the car's vacuum system like the windshield wiper, is easy to install, can be stored in the glove compartment. It's always ready for use to remove dust and dirt from upholstery and interior.

* * *

FOR YOUR WORKSHOP: A new low-cost electric drill attachment sharpens scissors, knives, chisels, other small tools—and is also properly designed for restoring drill bits up to ¼ inch size. . . . Newest hacksaw, combining many features of hack, coping and keyhole saws, offers unlimited depth of cut, also allows inside cuts. It has a pistol grip handle and sliding blade support: Once saw cut is blade deep, the spring-loaded blade support rests against material being sawed and only the blade itself moves back and forth through cut. When starting an edge cut, you can lock support up forward, use saw in conventional manner.

Importance Of College To a Boy

By Elinor Williams

IT'S AN old, old story. Parents want one thing for their son's future and the boy wants another. True, the boy knows how he feels about it now, but the parents also know how he's likely to feel about it later . . . Here's his letter:

"Dear Miss Williams: I am a senior in high school, but my parents refuse to acknowledge that I am an adult. Because my parents are college graduates, they have my academic future planned, although I constantly tell them that I do not want to go to college. I would like to go into the Navy, but my parents forbid it. How can I prove to them that I am old enough to make my own decisions?"

Answer—Judging by parts of your letter not printed here (lack of space for all of it), there's considerable stress and strain between you and your parents about your being grown-up and "making your own decisions." So it's possible that the main reason you don't want to go to college is because they want you to.

You know now how you feel about certain things, including college, but you don't know how you'll feel later. Because they've lived longer your parents know how people usually feel about college later in life—most who could have gone and didn't regret it very much all their lives, for they soon see the many advantages that a college education gives in all phases of life. In a few years, young men like you say regretfully, "I was young and was in such a hurry to go into the Navy that I didn't go to college when I had the chance . . ." You've heard men say similar things.

Actually, you're lucky, because you can do both—follow your parents' wise suggestion and go to college, then follow your own wish to go into the Navy. You'll get a big boost there, too, toward the kind of work you want to do, if you begin with college. Don't miss this wonderful opportunity to be twice as happy and successful.

Lightly brown bite-size shredded wheat cereal in butter and sprinkle with a favorite seasoning. Good for nibbling and to serve with a hot or chilled soup. Delicious, too, with tomato juice.

Secrets of Charm

Fingernail Care

BEFORE THE VACATION, LEARN TO REPAIR MANICURE DAMAGE IN SHORTEST POSSIBLE TIME.

JUST BEFORE you take off on vacation, nothing less than the best manicure in town will do. But from then on out, there's no counting on luck to make it last. Count instead on these quick tricks to cope with emergencies.

A travel manicure kit should include polish, in the shade you are wearing, emery boards, remover, over-coating, patching equipment, and perhaps a bottle of almost clear polish. This is the minimum, even if you plan to have professional manicures while you're away.

* * *

WHEN it's so hard to take the time to do over a chipped nail completely, as you should do, try this way of repairing chipped polish. With the brush dipped sparingly in remover, carefully dissolve a little of the polish around the chip and blend it onto the bare spot. Apply a new coat of polish all over the nail after the filled-in spot dries.

Filing to the top of the polish line may be remedy enough when a nail tears off, but a split nail needs patching. To save it until it grows out again, use a tiny piece from your book of thin patching tissues and fold it over the edge of the nail across the split. Then affix the patch with the transparent cement that comes with the tissues and apply polish over all.

* * *

WHEN you're in a happy rush as usual and several nails are chipped, remove the polish you're wearing and apply a different kind. A polish that's only faintly pink does not demand the care and the number of steps to apply that red or deep pink shades do, and one coat makes the nails look carefully polished.

A colorless top coat applied every day or so saves so much of the trouble it is to make repairs, and an emery board carried in a handbag often stops damage before it can become much worse.

Try and Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

MONTAIGNE, whose essays every college freshman has to tackle, died in his French chateau way back in 1592, promising his friends and servants, "I will willingly come back from the other world to give the lie to any man who portrays me other than I was, even if it is to flatter my memory."

Historian Donald Frame calls attention to the fact that although somebody in all the ensuing years must have portrayed Montaigne other than he was, there is no evidence that the essayist ever carried out his threat. "Or maybe," adds Frame, "Montaigne is so far behind in his haunting that he'll never catch up."

QUOTE from a high school weekly:

"How did your dad wise up to the fact we used his car yesterday?"

"Well, do you remember that fat, baldish fellow we just missed running down on Fourth street?"

"Yes, but what's that got to do with it?"

"That, my dear, was father."

Rare Breed

By Dickson Terry

EVEN scarcer than a horse nowadays is a horse show manager. It's such a highly specialized field, in fact, that there are only a half dozen of them in the whole country. One of the best known of this coterie is Edwin C. Eggert of Nashville, Tenn., who is in town to manage the Boys Town Benefit Horse Show to be held at the St. Charles Fairgrounds July 18 through 21 for the benefit, as you will have gathered, of Boys Town of Missouri.

EDWIN C. EGGERT

Eggert came in to see us the other day, to tell something about the show, which is a new venture, and about horse show managing.

He turned out to be a small but distinguished looking man, standing five feet five, with gray hair and dressed all in shades of tan and brown. The only thing horsey about him was his necktie, which was discreetly decorated with small embroidered horses, his tie clasp which was decorated with a small bucking horse, and his leather lanyard, which he wore around his neck and which reached all the way to his watch pocket.

The lanyard, he explained, is of the type used by trotting race drivers. They loop them around their necks and fasten a stop watch on the end. Then they hold the stop watch in the left hand, along with the left rein, and time their trotters when they're working out. It's such a convenient way to carry a watch that Eggert wears one all the time. It also lends a mild air of elegance.

EGGERT'S SIZE naturally led to speculation about his having been a jockey. It so turned out that he came pretty close to being one. When he was in his teens he weighed less than 100 pounds. He was a gentleman rider and had several opportunities to turn professional. But his father, a horse breeder and fancier, who knew something of the hazards of such a life, put his foot down and that ended that. Eggert has put on a little weight since. He now weighs 160 pounds.

He was born near Nashville, Tenn., and his father raised trotters and pacers. When Eggert was a youngster he used to accompany his father to what they called "matinee races." Breeders of horses would go to various fairgrounds on Saturday afternoons and race their horses one against the other, with polite wagers on the side. "It was strictly a gentleman's sport," Eggert explains, "but we had a lot of fun."

When he was 12 years old Eggert became a gentleman jockey and rode in flat races at Churchill Downs (flat races, he explained, are races where there is nothing to jump over) and in steeplechases at various courses around Tennessee. Steeplechases are races where you have to jump over all sorts of things.

★ ★ ★

HE ALSO SHOWED hunters and jumpers in horse shows, as well as road horses. A road horse, we learned, is hitched to a sulky, like a trotter, but he doesn't trot. He is used just for show purposes.

When he was a young man the family lived for a time at Bowling Green, Ky., and Eggert started a county fair horse show there, which was his first experience as a manager. Later he moved to Nashville, and there he managed the Tennessee State Fair Horse Show for several years running.

He was invited to manage the Shrine Horse Show in Atlanta, and from there he went to Miami and various other places. He managed the Memphis Horse Show, which is recognized as one of the outstanding outdoor shows in the country, for five years. Finally he was called to Kansas City to manage the American Royal, which is as high as a man can go. He has managed that show for the last 10 years.

Managing a horse show, Eggert said, is not a little like staging a Broadway show. The horses are the actors, of course, and a horse show manager has a long mailing list of horse people all over the country to whom he sends out invitations and entry blanks.

★ ★ ★

THEN HE HAS TO ARRANGE for the theater, so to speak, and for such things as sound and lighting, and a few hundred other details. But the primary job is to get horses to the show.

The incentive, presumably, is prize money and trophies, "but the exhibitor is never on the paying end," Eggert admits. "He never breaks even. He has a long list of expenses, starting with transporting the horses, paying the wages of grooms and handlers, feed bills, hotel bills for himself and family, entry fees and stable fees. Don't say it's a rich man's hobby, but it is an expensive hobby and most horse fanciers go in for horse shows mainly for the good it does in improving the breed and keeping the sport alive."

★ ★ ★

AFTER THE ENTRIES ARE ALL IN—Eggert expects to have some 300 horses in the show—they have to be classified into divisions. There are usually 12 to 14 classes represented in each show. They include three-gaited, five-gaited, walking horses, road horses, harness horses, jumpers, hunters, hackney ponies, heavy harness horses, westerns and equitation classes, to name some of them.

Then programs have to be made up so that all the classes will be seen at every show, and the show is kept interesting. Incidentally, Eggert points out, today's horse show, like virtually everything else, is geared to the taste of the public.

★ ★ ★

IN THE OLD DAYS horse shows were somewhat esoteric affairs, long and drawn out, with no one knowing what was going on but the horsey set. But nowadays they have a master of ceremonies, who explains everything as they go along, so you don't have to be an old horse fancier to enjoy the show. As a consequence, as he says, horse shows are gaining in popularity every year.

The Boys Town show will start at 7:30 each of the four nights, and there will be a Saturday matinee on the twenty-first. It will last from two and a half to three hours.

The chief hazard, and really about the only major hazard which besets a horse show manager, Eggert concedes, is the weather. But he has long since worked out a simple philosophy:

"If it rains," he says, "it's going to rain. There's nothing you can do about it, so you just do the best you can."

Woman Pioneer in Legal Profession

Irene L. Dulin Is First of Her Sex to Serve as Vice President of Bar Association of St. Louis

By Mary Kimbrough

IT WAS in the early 1900s that Missouri's first woman lawyer was braving jokes and jeers in order to walk in a man's world. But once she had opened the door, others had the nerve to follow. Today, only a half-century later, the sight of a woman's name on a law office door is no longer a rarity and she is happily welcomed into the courtroom by her masculine colleagues.

But the legal profession has remained primarily one to attract men, and so by the mere factor of mathematical majority few women have risen to posts of responsibility in their professional organizations. That is why Miss Irene L. Dulin, a youthful pioneer, has become a newsmaker once again as the first woman to be elected a vice president of the Bar Association of St. Louis.

Work in professional groups, however, on a local, state and national level, is nothing new to her. In fact, she had hardly begun her practice of law in 1936 when she was asked to fill an unexpired term as treasurer of the Missouri Bar Association. A few years later, she was named as the only woman member of the Missouri Bar Association's first Board of Governors on petition of 73 other St. Louis lawyers. She has served as chairman of the Missouri Bar Association's Legal Aid Committee as well as heading many other committees in the St. Louis and state bar associations. She is a former member of the American Bar Association's House of Delegates and has served on the Associate and Advisory Committee of the A.B.A.'s standing Committee on Legal Aid Work.

★ ★ ★

THIS, though, is just a sampling, a handful of highlights in a busy career which began some 25 years ago when her boss suggested she become a lawyer. Born on a farm near Springfield, Mo., but reared in St. Louis, she had graduated from McKinley High School and attended St. Louis University before starting work as legal secretary to the late James C. King. With that taste of the legal profession, and with his encouragement, she stayed on the job but went to night classes at the City College of Law, becoming her former employer's law associate when she was graduated. She has been admitted to practice not only in Missouri but in the United States District Court, before the Veterans Administration, Treasury Department, United States Tax Court and the Supreme Court of the United States.

At the time of Mr. King's death in 1936, she continued to handle the firm's legal practice and his son, William T. King, is now her partner. Their offices are in the Boatmen's Bank building.

She will acknowledge—when forced to do so—that as a woman lawyer she has a number of "firsts" to her credit, but among the few things which ruffle her normally genial and gentle manner are the spotlighting of women as strange creatures in the legal profession and the assumption that they should experience more difficulties than men.

—By a Post-Dispatch Photographer.

IRENE L. DULIN . . . "I HAVE NEVER FELT THE SLIGHTEST SENSE OF DISCRIMINATION BECAUSE I AM A WOMAN."

"Certainly," she said, with a touch of sharpness in her quiet voice, "it's difficult for women to get a start in law. But it's difficult for men, too. Clients are looking for qualified counsel and few of them are concerned whether that counsel is a man or woman.

"I have never felt that I was 'in competition' with men because I believe that life was intended to be a co-operative venture with men and women giving of their best for the good of all."

Although she herself does no criminal work, preferring estate, tax and corporation law, she sees no reason why a woman cannot walk into a courtroom and plead a criminal case as effectively as a man.

"There are many men, of course, who do not like criminal work and can't speak well in a courtroom. But a qualified woman criminal lawyer can try a case as easily and as well as can a qualified male criminal lawyer.

"For myself, I have never felt the slightest sense of discrimination because I am a woman. I have had nothing but wonderful co-operation from every member of the profession with whom I have come in contact."

But Irene, a slim brunette with a friendly manner which softens her business-like, competent approach to her job, is far too busy to sit around and debate the professional merits of men and women lawyers and fight the battle of the sexes. She'd rather talk about law in general and help change the opinion held by many that a lawyer is someone to be feared, not a friend.

Her dark eyes flash behind her rimmed glasses as she bemoans the human tendency to seek out a lawyer as a last resort.

"If people would only seek a lawyer's advice first, they would be saved endless difficulty and, at the same time, a lot of money," she said. "Remember, a lawyer earns much more money in a contest over a will than he does in making out the will properly in the first place.

"In Bar Association work, in addition to legal aid, I have been particularly concerned with public relations and public information because I feel it is vitally important for the public to realize that the law is for its protection. We want people to know their rights under the law."

It was that concern which inspired her, as president of the Women's Bar Associations of St. Louis and Missouri, and as a former officer of the Altrusa Club, to spearhead informative programs for the public on such subjects as jury service, landlord and tenant relationships, wills, income taxes, divorce and adoptions. As co-chairman of Altrusa's public affairs committee several years ago, she organized a mock jury trial to interest women in jury service as a citizenship responsibility.

In fact, Miss Dulin was long in the forefront of the battle to obtain jury service for women.

"It took many years and great effort to confer on women the right and privilege to vote and to serve on juries," she said. "It is therefore their obligation to assume more of the burdens and responsibilities of their citizenship.

"Lawyers are anxious to have laymen interest themselves in the functioning of the courts. Lawyers, too, are anxious to have all citizens become more aware of their responsibilities to serve on juries. Every person wants a jury made up of the best of our citizens when his own cause is on trial, but it is easy to find an excuse why one does not have the time to serve on a jury when the money or property or life or liberty of a stranger is involved."

★ ★ ★

HER membership in Altrusa, of which she also served one year as president, is among her few organization activities outside the legal field. But her devotion to her religious faith and her concern for the welfare of people have led her also into such areas of service as the Board of Directors of Stella Maris Day Care Center, the chairmanship of the St. Louis Division, Missouri Association for Social Welfare, and the board of St. Pius League. She is also a member—among other groups—of the League of Women Voters, Catholic Lawyers' Guild, Phi Delta Delta, national legal fraternity, and the Business and Professional Women's Club.

She served several years as law counsellor for the Missouri Girls' State and during the war was a Red Cross nurse's aid at Barnes Hospital and Shriners' Hospital for Crippled Children. In 1947, she was one of St. Louis's "women of achievement" honored by the Group Action Council.

All of which explains why she seldom gets home in time for dinner at the attractive house at 311 Oak Manor lane, Webster Groves, which she shares with a long-time friend, Miss Laura Robbins. She used to be an enthusiastic golfer, but there has been little opportunity for that, or for any other hobby, in recent months.

In fact, she has been so busy since she started practicing law that she never has found time to hang up her diploma.

Contract Bridge

By Easley Blackwood

HERE is another problem of third hand. A very simple problem, admittedly, but one occasionally missed.

South dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

	Miss Brash ♠76 ♥QJ1092 ♦A63 ♣J43
Mr. Champion ♠KJ95 ♥76 ♦J954 ♣AQ2	NORTH WEST EAST SOUTH	Mr. Muzzy ♠832 ♥K853 ♦1072 ♣K95
	Mr. Meek ♠AQ104 ♥A4 ♦KQ8 ♣10876

South	West	North	East
1♣	Pass	1♥	Pass
IN.T.	Pass	3N.T.	All Pass

As usual, Mr. Meek was nervous with Miss Brash as a partner. It looks like his second bid should have been one spade. Playing with any other partner, he would have made that bid.

But here he wanted to do everything possible to keep Miss Brash from getting too optimistic. However, he was wasting his time.

Mr. Champion didn't relish leading from his minor suit holdings. A spade lead looked fairly logical but as a matter of fact, a spade lead would have made it easy for Mr. Meek.

The actual opening was the seven of hearts and the queen was played from dummy. was played from dummy. Mr. Muzzy played the king.

Mr. Meek won with the ace and proceeded to rattle off nine tricks, including five hearts, three diamonds and a spade.

Mr. Champion asked his partner why he had gone up with the king of hearts.

"With five hearts on the board and four in your hand," he said, "Meek couldn't possibly have as many as you, and therefore there was no possible way for him to trap your king. All you had to do was to play low and wait."

"Well, third hand high . . ." began Mr. Muzzy lamely.

A little thought would have shown that the king play could not win. If Mr. Muzzy had played low at trick one, Mr. Meek's best play would have been to go up with the ace of hearts and lead the four, thus clearing the suit for a sure four tricks. Later, however, he would have had to try the spade finesse and when that lost the contract would have been lost, too.

Cooling With an Attic Fan.

IF you have an attic exhaust fan and run it all day and all night in hot weather it will make your home somewhat more comfortable, but if you run it the way it's supposed to be run, it will make your home a whale of a lot more comfortable and take much less running.

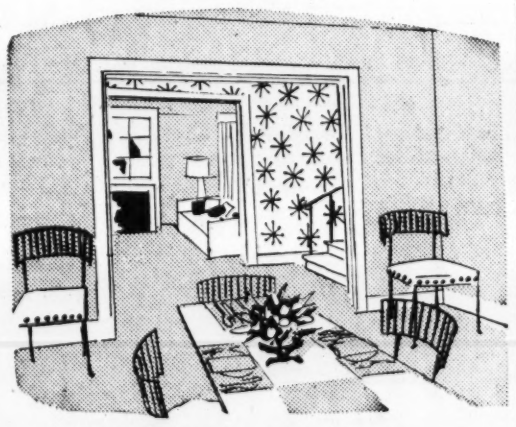

Let's say it's morning and on most mornings the inside of the house is about as cool as it ever is going to get. In fact, if you keep the windows and doors closed and the shades pulled down, by 10 o'clock or so the inside of the house will be much cooler than outside. Around 11 in the morning, open a window on the shady side of the house as near the exhaust fan as possible and let the fan run for a few minutes to pull the heated air out of the attic. The reason you open a window on the shady side is to provide fresh air for the fan so it won't pull the cool air out of the house. By mid-afternoon the outside air is usually as hot as it's going to get, so there is no point in pulling this into the house. As soon as the sun goes down, however, the air close to the ground starts to chill off, so open windows near the ground on the shady side of the house and let the fan pull this into the house.

At night when you want to think about getting a good night's sleep, open the farthest windows in the bedroom and let the fan pull the cool night air across the rooms.

Color Idea for Hall

By Elizabeth Hillyer

CHANGE OF PACE IN DECORATIONS FOR HALL.

THE HALL leading upstairs between a living room and a dining room is a good place for a change of pace in color and decoration. You may like plain colors for all the rest of the wall areas, or even the same color everywhere else, as Mrs. J. C. does. She writes, "I'd like a light gray-green for most of the first floor of our small house, and I think it looks larger when both the living room and the dining room walls are painted the same color. But I hesitate to continue the same color up the stairs from the hall between them. What do you suggest to go with the green and the yellow and black and white that goes with it in both rooms?"

Emphasize the black and white with wallpaper in a widely spaced pattern of black on white for the walls going upstairs, Mrs. C. It will add variety and will look good with the bedrooms in any colors as it continues in the upstairs hall.

The Question Box

By Josephine Lowman

Q. "Is it possible to develop muscles in the legs after the age of 30? My calves are very thin although my thighs are large. This makes my legs look pretty awful."

A. Yes you can develop the calves with exercise. Raising high on the toes and then lowering the heels to the floor is a good one.

St. Louisans at Resorts For Summer Season

By Margaret Allen Ruhl

ST. LOUISANS are to be found in all parts of the country this summer. At Watch Hill, R.I., the colony of St. Louisans includes Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Moore, 36 Portland place, who will be visited at their cottage during the season by their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Serge Gagarin (Frances Moore) and their two young sons. The Gagarins recently moved to the historic house on a 14-acre tract they have bought in Fairfield, Conn.

In Pebble Beach, Calif., Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Johnson, 38 Portland place, and their young daughter, Irene, are settled for the summer, and at Carmel, Calif., are the John M. Shoenbergs, 2 Fordyce lane, and their family.

Mrs. J. Boyle Price, 5101 Westminster place, has gone to Mount Kisco, N.Y., for her annual visit with her cousins, the William Ewings. She will be away a month or six weeks. Miss Cynthia Hein, daughter of Clemence J. Hein, 7023 Westmoreland drive, University City, is in Europe. She sailed on the Empress of Britain from Montreal July 3, bound for Liverpool. Another European traveler is Mrs. Kennard Goldsmith of the Embassy apartments, who joined her aunt, Mrs. Ernest Rauh, in New York late last month and crossed the Atlantic by plane. Their plans were to tour Italy and France after which Mrs. Goldsmith is to continue to England and Scotland, sailing for home on the Ile de France after a two-month stay.

Mrs. Luther Avon Blue, 5112 Westminster place, is home from the East, bringing with her two of her grandchildren, Deborah and Pamela Meier, daughters of Mrs. Peter von Bucher of Greenwich, Conn., who are visiting her. En route to Greenwich, Mrs. Blue visited her nephew, Scott Skinner, a former St. Louisan who now has an apartment in Georgetown, D.C.

Mr. and Mrs. Blue's son, William M. Blue, who is married and has three little boys, is living in Cody, Wyo., where he has established the first Little Theater in the state. He studied dramatics at the American Academy in New York, where he met his wife. His company, called Old Faithful Players, last summer produced one play, which ran all season, and will do another, this time a musical melodrama, which is expected to play to full houses all this season.

Miss Stuart Married in California.

OF interest to St. Louisans is the recent wedding in California of Miss Leslie Ann Stuart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Errett Fisher Stuart of San Marino, former St. Louisans, and Robert Lyle Harle of South Pasadena, Calif. The wedding took place at the San Marino Community Church May 19, with the Rev. Ben T. Cowles officiating, after which a reception was held in the garden of the Stuart home.

The bride, whose mother is the former Miss Berry Plant Meyer of St. Louis, is the granddaughter of Mrs. Norburn Berry Meyer of Pasadena, Calif., formerly of St. Louis, and Carl F. Meyer, 4525 Lindell boulevard, who with Mrs. Meyer was in San Marino for the wedding and a lengthy visit afterward. They returned to St. Louis Friday. The bride is a great-niece of Mrs. John A. McKay, 5133 Westminster place.

Attendants at the wedding included Miss Darlene Kenny of Pasadena, maid of honor, and Miss Janet Howell and Miss Mary Harle, bridesmaids. The bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Harle of South Pasadena, chose Kenneth Gearhart, best man, and William Harle, his brother; Errett F. Stuart III, the bride's brother; Gene Kaufman and Richard Cederquist, ushers.

After a trip to San Francisco the newly married pair are living in San Marino.

Carolyn Clark to Be Married Aug. 18.

MISS CAROLYN MARGARET CLARK, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Richards Clark, 124 South Elm avenue, Webster Groves, has chosen Saturday night, Aug. 18, as the date of her marriage to Bruce Emery Woodruff. The Rev. Edward L. Nolting will perform the ceremony at 8 o'clock at First Congregational Church in Webster Groves after which a reception will be held at Algonquin Golf Club.

MISS CAROLYN CLARK . . . TO BE AUGUST BRIDE.
—Martin Schweig Photograph.

Serving as matron of honor will be Mrs. Gerry Grossman (Jo Ann Marsh), a bride of late June, and as bridesmaids, Miss Carolyn Busse, Mrs. James Edward Kurt, the bridegroom's sister, and Miss Daphne Sprinkel, New York. Toni Tifft of Delavan, Wis., Miss Clark's cousin, will be junior bridesmaid. Mr. Woodruff, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred B. Woodruff, 323 Baker avenue, Webster Groves, was recently discharged from the Air Force, in which he served as a lieutenant and co-pilot with the Strategic Air Command in Lincoln, Nebr., and for seven months in Japan. He will announce his attendants later.

Several parties are planned in honor of the bride-to-be and several have taken place. A dessert bridge party will be given July 25 by Mrs. Charles T. Bowman at her home, 140 South Elm avenue, and a luncheon is planned for Aug. 4 at Algonquin Club with Mrs. John J. Graham as hostess. A mother-daughter party will be an event of Aug. 8 with Mrs. Alvin F. Busse and her daughter co-hostesses at their home, 15 Devan drive, Manchester. The spinster dinner will be given by Mrs. Grossman and her mother, Mrs. Paul Graham Marsh, at the Marsh home, 421 Baker avenue, Webster Groves, two days before the wedding, and the next night Mr. and Mrs. Woodruff will be host and hostess at the rehearsal dinner, the place to be decided later. Another party, for which plans are undecided, will have Mrs. Curt P. Ayers and Mrs. Alfred H. MacGregor as co-hostesses.

Previous parties included a dinner given by Mrs. Louis C. Stevenson and Mrs. William H. Brown Jr. of Denver at which Miss Clark shared honors with Mrs. Grossman; a luncheon and pair shower with Mrs. E. H. Green and Mrs. H. D. Boyles as hostesses, and a breakfast and clean-up shower given by Mrs. John W. Beal and Mrs. E. Lee Dorsett. Miss Clark's second-graders, whom she taught last year in Webster Groves, gave her a surprise party before the end of the term and Mrs. Woodruff and her mother, Mrs. R. D. Emery, gave a tea in her honor at their home.

Mr. and Mrs. John C. Dobyne Jr. and their children, John III and Kathleen, 12 North Maple avenue, spent last weekend in Cairo, Ill., with her mother, Mrs. Robert E. Bethel, and her aunt, Mrs. Clarence L. Keaton. The Dobynes will leave Monday for San Diego, Calif., where he has accepted a position. They were residents of Coronado, Calif., when Mr. Dobyne was called to service in Korea, and returned to Ferguson in 1951.

Mrs. Orville H. Haub, 410 Estelle avenue, entertained the following members of the 1944 class of Ferguson High School at a farewell party for Mrs. Dobyne Monday night: Mrs. Glenn Fox, Mrs. Robert Yungewaelter, Mrs. Lois Cherekas and Mrs. Louis Hittler. Mrs. George S. Goding, 220 Royal place, will be hostess to a few friends at a luncheon Friday in honor of Mrs. Dobyne and Mrs. Frederic E. Brick (Margaret Wooley).

★ ★ ★

Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Bray, 229 Tiffin avenue, have as visitors her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John Mulholland, and their two young daughters, of Mission, Tex. Mrs. Bray's father, John A. Brannan, who drove up with them, is the house guest of his other son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Baker Wright, 417 North Clay avenue.

Susan Sherman Bride Of Gerald Tessler

MISS SUSAN SHERMAN, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Sherman of Leadwood, Mo., and Gerald Tessler were married June 17 in the Stockholm room of the Park Plaza Hotel by Rabbi Jacob R. Mazur. The bridegroom is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Maurice H. Tessler, 7562 York drive, Clayton.

MRS. GERALD TESSLER

Miss Marilyn Millner, former roommate of the bride at the University of Missouri, was maid of honor and Miss Carolyn Sherman, a cousin, bridesmaid, wearing pink organdy and carrying pink roses. The bride wore a ballerina white embroidered organdy gown and a short veil held to a pearl-trimmed cap. She carried white orchids and stephanotis.

Mr. Tessler had his brothers as attendants. Dr. Kenneth Tessler of San Francisco was best man, and Harvey Tessler, usher.

The bride attended Missouri and Washington universities, and made her home in Clayton at 123 Topton Way. Mr. Tessler was awarded a master's degree in guidance and counseling at Washington, where he received B.S. degrees in education and psychology. After a trip to Florida they will live in Clayton.

Miss Andrews Plans Wedding Next Week

INVITATIONS have been received for the marriage of Miss Adrienne Andrews, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mark B. Andrews, 1916 North Signal Hill drive, Kirkwood, to William Houghton Leslie Jr., pastor of First Baptist Church in Pekin, Ill. The ceremony will be performed at First Bible Presbyterian Church on Ballas road at 8 o'clock the evening of July 21 and will be followed by a garden reception at the Andrews home.

The officiating clergyman is to be Dr. V. Raymond Edman, president of Wheaton College, Wheaton, Ill., where last month the bride-elect received her degree with high honor for scholastic standing and contribution to campus life. At the annual Wheaton Art Exhibition last spring her semi-abstract painting, "The Art Class," was named the outstanding work of the exhibit. The prospective bridegroom is also a graduate of Wheaton and has been working there toward his master's degree. He has spent considerable time in the field, preaching in South America and in Europe.

Miss Sherie MacKeen will be maid of honor, with Miss Donna Myers, Miss Dorothy Richter and Miss Diana Davidson, Coffeyville, Kan., bridesmaids. Mr. Leslie, whose parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Houghton Leslie, will come from their home in Norwalk, O., for the wedding, will have David Hay of Evansville, Ind., as best man and James Morgan, Wheaton, Ill., and his fiancee's brothers, Mark Jr. and William Andrews, as ushers.

Martha Carr's OPINION

REG. U.S. PAT. OFF.

I AM 35 years old, a secretary, and I live at home with my parents. They treat me like a baby and want to make all my decisions for me. I am in love with a very fine man, a widower, who is four years older than I am. But he tells me he won't marry me unless I learn to be independent of my parents. In fact, he wants to take a job out of town and move away from here, but I somehow hate to leave them. It isn't that they are sick or too old to take care of themselves, but they get terribly upset when I even speak of leaving. Please help me.

WANDA.

Ask yourself honestly, what good would it do anyone for you to sacrifice your happiness? You point out that they are well and active, so they don't need your help. Surely, if there is financial need, you and your fiance can come to some understanding about that so that they will not suffer any lack. It's time you were making your own decisions and if this is the man you want to marry, go right ahead. That idea of moving out of town sounds good under the circumstances. It's probably the only way you could lead your own life and be happy. That doesn't mean you have to turn your back on your parents, but you do have the right to a happy marriage and you'll be smart to insist on that right.

★ ★ ★

Dear Martha:

I HAVE BEEN married before and have two children by that marriage. After my divorce I met another man and fell for him. He seemed to like the children and said he would support them so we married after about four months. Now we have a child of our own. My husband is fairly good to this boy but he doesn't pay any attention to my other two children. If they start to make noise, he gets mad and stalks out. UNHAPPY.

Well, he asked for the responsibility, didn't he? He knew he was taking on the care of two stepchildren as well as a wife, so let him know you expect him to be as kind to them as he is to the baby. It's natural that he would favor his own over the other two, but it isn't the youngsters' fault that their own father isn't with them. Don't let them feel left out.

Mother's Care

By Ruth Millett

SHE is one of the few wives in her neighborhood who do not work. Consequently she and her husband can't keep up with couples who live on a double income.

Their neighbors drive new automobiles. Theirs is old.

RUTH MILLETT

Their children are 14 and 12.

Their neighbors have more money to spend on entertaining.

They also have better furniture.

It didn't begin to bother her until her children got old enough to want more than she and her husband can afford to give them.

Now she is wondering if she should go to work instead of staying home and managing to get by on her husband's income.

★ ★ ★

DON'T GO TO work just to keep up with the neighbors or to enable your children to keep up with the Jones children.

If you are managing to get by on your husband's income, making a good home and looking after your children yourself, you already have a full-time job.

And don't think that just because your children are no longer small they don't need you as much as they ever did.

You are probably more needed now than ever before.

Twelve- and 14-year-olds can get to feeling mighty neglected when there is no parent at home all day.

They can also get into a lot of trouble when left on their own.

★ ★ ★

BESIDES, THOUGH your family may not be able to buy as much as the next one, you can give them many things a working mother can't manage. Just by being at home when you are needed you offer security. By being able to make the kind of home where your children's friends are always welcome you are helping them in their social adjustment. By managing on what your husband earns you are teaching them to get along on what they have.

For a family, the things that money can buy, the extras that can be bought by a second pay check aren't usually half so important as the things that money can't buy, like a home with a mother in it, a mother who can always put her family first.

Social Problems

By Emily Post

"I AM giving a lunch party for a friend of mine who is soon to be married. I would like to know if I am expected to provide her with a corsage to wear on this occasion. I have had conflicting opinions on this and would like to be set straight."

An obligation such as this does not even exist. It is never necessary to give the guest of honor flowers at a lunch or dinner party.

★ ★ ★

DEAR MRS. POST: My husband and I have been invited to a late afternoon wedding—5 o'clock to be exact—and to the reception following. Would it be proper for my husband to wear a white dinner jacket and I an evening dress? If not, what would be the correct clothes for us to wear at this time of day?

Answer: No evening clothes are ever proper before 6 o'clock. Correctly, you should wear an afternoon dress and hat and your husband a business suit.

★ ★ ★

DEAR MRS. POST: Perhaps you can help me. I have always been curious to know the meaning behind throwing rice at the bride and groom on their wedding day, and also the reason for tying old shoes on the back of the bridal car. I would appreciate it if you could enlighten me on these matters.

The throwing of rice is supposed to bring them good luck in rearing a large family. The old shoes and tin cans are a vulgarity that has never been in good taste.

★ ★ ★

DEAR MRS. POST: When invited to dinner at the house of a friend who has no help, is a guest expected to help with the dishes?

It would be inconsiderate not to do so.

Hollywood Stars in London

LONDON.

JACK BENNY and Charlie Chaplin are working in the same studio at Shepperton, Jack making telefilms and Chaplin his movie, "A King in New York." They pass each other frequently, but with no conversation to date. After Jack and wife Mary Livingston make another television show in Venice, they'll continue around the world and won't return to the States until the end of the year.

Benny's surprise birthday party for his wife really was. "I'll never do it again," Jack assured me. . . . Douglas Fairbanks sauntered over to say hello; then, seeing his former stepmother, Mary Pickford, complained, "You're being very elusive. I've tried to reach you five times." . . . Mrs. Fairbanks gave Mrs. Benny a plate inscribed: "Mary 1866."

"But so many men are chasing me—Derek Goodman, who has gold mines in Africa; Aly Khan, El Carmin (son of some African president) and—" At this point, Zsa Zsa lapsed into Hungarian.

Gloria Grahame has been joined by Cy Howard in Paris, but the reconciliation isn't taking. There'll be no further announcement until after the baby is born, I'm told. Cy is a kind husband and Gloria would be smart to find a way to keep him as her mate.

ZSA ZSA GABOR . . . IT'S ALL "OVER."

Rita Hayworth was booked into the swank Connaught hotel in Mayfair, and the managing director was ready, willing and able to give up his beautiful suite for her, but Rita, starring with Robert Mitchum and Jack Lemmon in "Fire Down Below" preferred more privacy in an apartment.

The Cattalo and the Pomelo in Verse

By Adele Starbird

SO many persons wrote in response to the column on the cattalo and the pomelo that I shall have space to quote only a few, and those only in part—which I regret.

Mrs. John L. Bodine, 407 East Argonne drive, Kirkwood, called her verse "The Hybrids," and started like this:

Said the cattalo to the pomelo,
We're very fortunate, you know.
Our ancestors aren't hard to trace,
And we're each the head of a fine new race!

Mrs. D. K. Rose, 230 Linden avenue, Clayton, wrote:

I've always loved the pomelo
We ate it in Siam
So much like grapefruit you'd not know
It was any different than.

★ ★ ★

MRS. RALPH FULLGRAF MILLER, 2159 Oak drive, says that she really did have a nightmare about the cattalo:

Last night I dreamed
They were in convention
Up in a northern clime
From the highways and the byways
They all came to dine.
The occasion was quite festive
As for me, I was restive
I had to plan the food.
My table d'hote was rigolo,
My dear, I served then pomelo!

I was sad as I watched them go
Back to the land of ice and snow
But it was comforting to know
That now a cow without a hump
Can put its forelegs ahead of its rump.

AND MISS HELEN G. BARNARD, 7533 Teasdale, had this to say:

The cattle upon a thousand hills
Cattle were, and nothing more,
Till Edgar Anderson came along
And made us change the score.
And now my mind with wonder fills:
The cattalopon a thousand hills
Cattle are—and something more.

The cattalopon a thousand hills
Cattle are—and something more.
Instead of "Moo," should I say "Boo"?
I might be enticin' bison
And they'd give out a roar.
The cattalopon a thousand hills
Cattle are—and something more.

TO the skeptical reader who thought I was spoofing or goofing—this thing is catching!—I insist that I was quite serious. The crossbreeding of domestic bulls and buffalo cows started in Canada and has been entirely successful. I am told that our Department of Agriculture has been carrying on a similar experiment for a quarter of a century.

The Vandal

HE LOOKS like a nice, kindly man. No doubt he has every desire to be helpful. And here he is spending the day at home, bursting with energy and waiting for the word go.

It's hard to believe that in the few hours between the morning and the time the sun has set he will have scraped an automobile fender and gouged a door frame getting the car out of the garage;

Mistaken flowers for weeds and cut them down with a sickle, failed to look where he was walking, backed into a bed of seedlings and ground them under the heel of his heavy working shoes;

Taken the lower branches off several shrubs while mowing the lawn, to say nothing of having gouged the lawn while starting and stopping the motor mower or making sharp turns;

Come into the house dripping wet, thrown himself into a chair and, on getting up, left a stain on the chair cover that can't be gotten out;

Tracked mud in the living room and spilled sand out of the cuffs of his working trousers on the bedroom floor, taken a bath and made a black ring around the nice clean tub;

Used the cleaning fluid to take a spot off a necktie and left it open so that the fluid has evaporated, shined his shoes and rubbed particles of black shoe polish into the bathroom linoleum;

Fixed himself a cooling drink, set his glass down on the top of a mahogany table and made a ring, and raised a fly screen and failed to put it down so that the flies have poured in.

If these are samples of what a nice, friendly man with the best intentions can do in the space of a few brief hours, one wonders just what he would do if he were vicious?

Comment on Employment Situation

By Eleanor Roosevelt

HYDE PARK.

IT seems as though the Greek islands are repeatedly suffering from an earthquake or some other of nature's shocks.

Our sympathy should go out to these people, and if there is anything that we can do to help them, I hope that we will all help in any way we can, for Greece has had a very hard time in the last few years and the constant drain of aid to different areas of her population must be very difficult for her economy to meet.

★ ★ ★

IT SEEMS STRANGE that employment is reported to have hit a 66,500,000 peak while, at the same time, one hears from a number of areas that people are being laid off. There are layoffs, for instance, in the automobile business and on some railroads.

An article on this subject which I read explained that 1,300,000 of the jobs were summer jobs for young people, accounting for the employment peak at this time. Employment rose sharply on farms and in many non-farm activities, but the seasonal rise in some manufacturing areas was only half what it usually is.

The steel workers' strike, of course, will account for a large part of the unemployment if it goes on much longer, and I am sure there are a good many people, judging from my mail, who are not now in their usual employment because of loss of jobs in those particular lines.

I THINK many of us are deeply concerned over the loss of Federal aid to the public schools of our country. As a result, our Negro youngsters are going to suffer even more than our white youngsters because we can be quite sure that if there are going to be more private schools, there will be no extra room provided for Negro youngsters.

I am deeply disturbed by this whole situation and wish that there were some way for Congress to come to an agreement on how Federal aid could be given, allowing the courts to decide where and how it should be allocated.

from burning, calloused feet until one happy day she discovered Ice-Mint. The very touch of this frosty-white, medicated cream puts feet in a heaven of cool, fresh comfort that lasts and lasts. Greaseless . . . chock full of medicinal "coolers" in a rich lanolin base. Start the day right with Ice-Mint and feet keep gay and light from morning to night. At all druggists.

Some Food Hints for New Bride
By Edith M. Barber

MANY June brides are now beginning to tackle the everyday problem of planning meals and cooking for two. It is fun to use those kitchen utensils that probably were among practical shower gifts. It is exciting to set the table with the new china.

Planning ahead for several days and purchasing food supplies accordingly is not only time-saving but economical. If the young housekeeper is keeping on with her job, time will be an object, and good use of the money allowed for food is important to most young couples. Last-minute shopping for one meal at a time is often costly.

The first choice of most young men is a good thick steak. A practical suggestion that will satisfy appetites and still allow enough leftovers for a second meal is to choose a one-rib roast. This may be broiled, and what is not eaten at one meal may be sliced and served cold the next day.

Another suggestion is to choose the rib end of a pork loin roast. Chops may be cut from this to use later in the week, and then the remainder roasted.

Leftover pork cut into strips combined with vegetables and seasoned with soy sauce is delicious with rice or noodles.

Broiled Rib Roast.

Select a one-rib roast of beef, two to two and a half inches thick. Slash fat edge at one-inch intervals and broil as you would a thick steak, about five inches from heat. Allow 50 to 60 minutes for rare to medium rare, turning steak once during broiling period. Garnish with tomatoes topped with buttered crumbs and placed on the rack for the last five minutes of broiling time.

Roast Pork Loin.

Select about four-pound rib end of a pork loin. Have meat dealer cut off two to three chops for use later. Place roast fat side up in shallow baking pan. Insert meat thermometer in center of thickest part of meat and bake in slow oven (325 degrees) about two and a half hours, until meat thermometer registers 185.

Pretty Garnish

Prety garnish for individual servings of fish fillets: Criss-cross strips of pimiento and place capers between the strips.

LOS ALAMOS SCIENTIFIC LABORATORY offers employment opportunities in these fields of research . . .

Los Alamos Scientific Laboratory is operated by the University of California for the U. S. Atomic Energy Commission

CHEMISTRY
Research in chemistry is devoted largely to inorganic and physical studies, especially of materials such as uranium, plutonium, deuterium, and tritium used in nuclear energy systems. Radio-chemical techniques are applied in various investigations including the measuring of bomb parameters. Much work is now done on complex ion formation and the determination of the heats of combustion and solution of various elements and compounds. There is considerable interest in the effects of radiation on chemical reactions. Extensive analytical studies include the use of the techniques of microanalysis. Although organic chemistry is mostly limited to health research, both staff and facilities are available for support in this field.

WEAPONS PHYSICS, DESIGN AND TESTING
Still the nation's principal institution for nuclear and thermonuclear weapons research, the Laboratory takes nuclear weapons from the concept stage to proved performance as measured by field tests. Activities in weapons research and development include the mechanics and dynamics of initiating a nuclear energy release; the behavior of supercritical systems; the test firing of explosives; the testing of nuclear devices and weapons assemblies in Nevada and in the Pacific and the analysis of results; physical studies of nuclear weapon systems and their behavior during test explosions; engineering design of tests and prototypes of nuclear systems; the design and preparation of pilot models and the development of nuclear weapon components and the techniques for their manufacture.

MECHANICAL ENGINEERING
Design and development work is carried on in conjunction with field test facilities, small complex units used in weapons, reactors and propulsion programs, heating and ventilating units, controls and circuits for large presses and servo-mechanism controls. Some work is done in the design of mechanisms for remote control systems. There is some specialized work in the design of induction type furnaces and in the design and development of reactors. High explosives systems are designed and manufactured. Other types of work include liaison between architectural engineers and contractors, as well as estimating and cost analysis.

THEORETICAL PHYSICS AND MATHEMATICS
In the field of theoretical physics, the Laboratory carries on equation of state studies, analysis methods, hydrodynamics problems and various facets of applied mathematics. It is also concerned with the conceptual design of nuclear weapons, and lends theoretical support to many non-weapons activities including the nuclear reactor program. The equipment used includes the Los Alamos-developed Maniac, the Maniac II, two IBM 704's and an IBM 701.

EXPERIMENTAL NUCLEAR PHYSICS
There is much experimentation in the nuclear properties of numerous materials used in weapons systems. Fundamental studies are made of nuclear characteristics such as nuclear forces, neutron and charged particle reactions and cross sections. Experimentation in controlled thermonuclear reactions is of great importance at the present time. The Laboratory is well known for its efforts to confirm the existence of the free neutrino. Among the facilities available to physicists are three Van de Graaffs, a Cockcroft-Walton machine and a variable energy cyclotron.

NUCLEAR REACTOR RESEARCH
In a large area of the peacetime application of nuclear energy, the Laboratory is currently developing several new research reactors and advanced power reactors of unusual design. Several remotely controlled critical assembly machines known as Topsy, Godiva and Jezebel constitute neutron research tools of a unique character. Among their uses is a controlled means of assembling critical amounts of fissionable materials of different kinds, to study the effects of various shapes and sizes and the effects of extraneous materials.

ELECTRICAL ENGINEERING
Intensive research effort and study is devoted to problems of induction heating using 1 kw to 350 kw and frequencies from 60 c to 450 kc; design of induction heating systems for study of alloys at extremely high temperatures, high voltage and high frequency applications; DC power supplies at currents up to 100,000 amperes; design of servo-mechanism controls for nuclear reactors; planning, building and installing power distribution systems and their controls; and high magnetic field systems.

ELECTRONICS AND INSTRUMENTATION
The Laboratory is engaged in a great variety of design and development of instruments having resolving times in the micro-second and milli-micro-second areas. The work includes electronic instrumentation for nuclear physics research, scintillation counters, fast pulse amplifiers, multi-channel analyzers, fast oscilloscopes, radiation detection and safety instruments, electronic controls and control systems. The design and construction of digital computers is of great importance. Electronics specialists also assist in the design and development of weapons systems components, and instruments for measuring and recording nuclear and thermonuclear detonations.

NUCLEAR PROPULSION
The Laboratory is actively engaged in the application of nuclear energy to the new and challenging field of self-propelled mobile reactors. There are studies in process relative to engine design and engine controls and instrumentation.

HYDRODYNAMICS, SHOCKS AND EQUATION OF STATE
Special problems involving hydrodynamics, shocks and equation of state are studied in conjunction with nuclear detonations as well as in various non-weapons programs. Work is being done on the behavior of weapons functions and weapons systems in non-nuclear tests concerned with hydrodynamic phenomena at high pressures and high temperatures, using electronic and photographic instruments. The interaction of explosives and explosions with other materials is also observed.

CHEMICAL ENGINEERING
Chemical engineering is done by project, development, plant and quality control engineers. They work on such problems as heat transfer, fluid flow, solvent extraction, high and low pressure work relative to high and low temperatures, and controlled evaporation and distillation. Problems supporting inorganic and physical chemistry research projects are also undertaken. Other activities include the remote control handling of radioactive materials, corrosion and erosion in connection with the use of rare and noble metals, and the design, fabrication, manufacture and integration of components of a combined chemical and mechanical nature.

EXPLOSIVES RESEARCH AND DEVELOPMENT
Vitally important work in this field includes study of storage and stability problems of explosives; fabrication feasibility, physical properties and basic evaluation of explosives; chemical analysis techniques and reactions; making and evaluating novel organic chemical compounds of possible use as explosives; mechanics and dynamics of explosive phenomena; physical and chemical properties of explosive material using environmental test chamber, mass spectrometer, infra-red spectrometer and equipment for sub-microscopic analysis of small samples; mixing, melting, casting, machining and inspecting high explosives, using 2 Mev X-ray equipment and various machine tools. High explosives are employed in a variety of studies in equations of state and shock wave phenomena.

METALLURGY AND METALLURGICAL ENGINEERING
Research activity and development in this field includes the investigation of the metallurgical properties of materials used in nuclear energy systems; research in rare metals; studies of extremely refractory substances; research involving ceramics, plastics and cermets; studies of the characteristics of materials under extremely high temperatures and high pressures and heat-exchange flux rates; studies of the properties of plutonium and its alloys, and their fabricability with particular reference to their use in reactors; development of fabrication techniques for various metals and alloys, including rolling, forging, deep drawing, extrusion, casting, mold coating and powder metallurgy; production of U_{233} and U_{238} as metals and compounds; and physical research on uranium and its alloys and the high temperature properties of the refractory metals tungsten, molybdenum, columbium, etc.

The Laboratory now has staff openings for technically qualified people interested in these fields of research and development. For additional information address your inquiry to

Tasty Tricks

Quick yet delicious: Combine small balls of spicy browned bulk sausage patties with cooked dry limas in a tangy barbecue sauce. Bake an hour in a moderate oven.

Flavor Hint

New flavor note: ham steak served with a rich tomato sauce.

For Chicken Salad

Outline the inside edges of small lettuce cups with sliced radishes, scallop fashion. Fill the cups with chicken salad and sprinkle with paprika.

Rolls With Soup

Split fan rolls through section markings; spread each small section with butter and toast under the broiler or in a hot oven. Delicious with soup.

Television Notes and Gossip

THE producer of Jane Wyman's "Fireside Theater" says Miss Wyman will broaden the scope of her series when it returns to television in the fall. Instead of plays usually slanted toward women, Miss Wyman plans more suspense, comedy and action-drama plays to give her "a wider emotional range." Among her early plays in the fall will be a prizefight story, "By, By, Byline."

Variety, the show business magazine, says that Sonny Fox, master of ceremonies of "$64,000 Challenge," has been put on notice by the producers of the program that "a repeated pattern of fluffs" can't continue. Variety says there is "no ultimatum or pressures" involved but that Fox will have to do something about the situation. Meanwhile, Fox's contract has been renewed for 13 weeks.

* * *

Jackie Gleason has a special gym set up at Westchester, N.Y., in an effort to knock off 60 pounds before his new show goes on the air. Jackie also is doing some heavy road work and swimming in a private pool.

* * *

Nine-year-old Brenda Lee of the "Ozark Jubilee" cast has been signed to a five-year contract by the ABC-TV network.

* * *

American television stations put on more than 4000 feature films a week.

* * *

Big league hockey will be telecast by CBS-TV next season.

* * *

Hal March, who will sing in "The Bachelor" on KSD-TV Sunday, has been a welterweight boxer, night club and vaudeville comedian. He played "Harry Norton" in the Burns and Allen radio and TV programs and portrayed Imogene Coca's husband in her NBC-TV series. He has appeared in several movies.

* * *

On "Truth or Consequences" tomorrow night, Jack Bailey will offer $1000 to a contestant who can make a pig "oink" on cue.

* * *

Dr. Frances Horwich's "Ding Dong School" is presenting 1000 toys, books and records each week to a children's ward of a hospital in a different city.

Uncle Ray's Column

A GOOD question about the sun's heat has come from a girl whose first name is Peggy. She wrote:

"Does the sun keep all the planets warm or hot—even the ones which are farthest away?"

"No" is the proper answer to that question. Some plants in our solar system receive far too little heat from the sun. As a result, they are colder than any deep-freeze box.

The hottest planet in our solar system is Mercury. It is closest to the sun among the nine main planets. Second in warmth comes Venus, the twin sister of the earth.

Mars is a cool planet, to say the least, but Jupiter is much colder than Mars.

Saturn, the planet with rings, is still farther from the sun, and gets less heat than Jupiter. Uranus and Neptune are colder, and it has been estimated that each of them has a covering of ice more than a thousand miles thick.

* * *

Q. What would happen if a planet went outside our solar system?

A. If such a thing happened to another planet, it would make little difference to our earth. Our earth would keep the same path. Astronomers would rub their eyes when they looked where the planet ought to be, but what could they do about it? When news of the event was published, the earth's people might become frightened. Perhaps they would say, "That might happen to our planet, too!"

If our earth did spin out into space, it would lose the light and heat of our sun. Perhaps scientists (by that time) would be making fine use of atomic power, and this might be used to scoop out vast caves a mile below the surface. Light could be provided down below.
